The contestants were crews from the Laureate Boas Club, Troy; Nautilus Row-ing Club, Hamilton, Ont; Fairmount Rowing Association, Philadelphia, and the Argonaut Rowing Olub, Toronto. Before the first quarter had been passod it was evident that the race was between the Fairmounts and Nautilus. The Toronto crew struggled hard but persistently fell behind and a parrow escape from being capsized seemed to complete their discomfiture and throw them permanently in the rear. The Laureates, who rowed close to the western shore, could do nothing better than keep third place. The Fairmount and Nautilus kept close together, and several times it seemed that their oars would lock and the race end in a foul.
