The Brunswickan Needs Typesetters!

What is a typesetter?

A typesetter is one of those extraordinary people who types the stories and columns which appear in The Brunswickan each and every week.

Who can be a typesetter?

If you can type at least 40 words per minute, you can be a typesetter. We will teach you how to use one of our truly user friendly Macintosh computers.

Why be a typesetter?

Because:

1. You get to work for the Bruns.
2. You get to work for the Bruns and be paid for it. Unlike the editors and staffers who are overworked and NOT PAID!
3. We have flexible hours. The Bruns tends to work on a 24 hour schedule, we're always open.
4. It's a great way to get involved at UNB plus have a part-time job.
5. There are fringe benefits, but those are a secret, until you become a Brunsie.

If this sounds like a job for you, contact Jayde at the Brunswickan, 453-4983, or drop by The Brunswickan, Rm 35 in the SUB.
