

and effectually to all intents and purposes as if the persons so employed had been specially mentioned and referred to in the said Act.

39. All the provisions of Part IV. of the Mines Act, R.S.O., 1897, being the Part under the heading of Mining Regulations, shall apply in every particular to all mines and other openings from which ore or mineral of any kind or class is raised or taken, and to all works for smelting, milling or otherwise treating ores or mineral for any economic objects, which are situated within the limits of a Mining Division.

---