Time and Hardest Work Can't Bring It Back!

Lisbon, Ohio, Oct. 4, 1910. —I want to say there is no use of anyone driving a lame horse if they will just try "Save-The-Horse." I had one so lame I could not use him. After using one bottle of "Save-The-Horse" he has never taken a lame step, and I drive him every day in my business, which is serving people over the hilly country in the state. You can use this with pleasure, as this is absolutely a voluntary testimonial.

W. C. DAVISON, Sheriff of Col. Co.

E. C. MESSIER,
Civil Engineer. Real Estate and Insurance,
1008 Elm Street, Manchester, N. H., Oct. 22, 1910.

I sent $5 for "Save-The-Horse" to cure a Bone Spavin. At the time he was not worth $1; before he had the Spavin I was offered $500. Four veterinarians told me he was incurable, so I felt blue, as you might believe. Since one month after treating him with "Save-The-Horse" he has not taken a lame step and I have driven him every day, and even thirty miles the same day. "Save-The-Horse" has done more than four doctors in a year. Now it seems exaggerated, but anyone in doubt can call at the neighbors to prove what I say, and furthermore, the horse can give them a ride, and probably one of the best in their lifetime. I cannot say enough to praise your remedy. E. C. MESSIER.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS. Veterinary.

CATARRH AND ECZEMA.

Cat commenced to sneeze a year ago, and got worse, until he discharged matter from the nostrils. This winter his fur began to drop out and I destroyed him. I have two other cats showing similar symptoms.

R. B.

Ans.—Give the cat $\frac{1}{4}$ grain quinine and 1 grain sulphate of copper, three times daily. Give a bath in a warm three-per-cent. solution of creolin once weekly. V.

LAME HORSE.

Occasionally, for a year, my horse has gone lame on hind leg when trotting, but he walks sound. For the last six months he has always trotted lame. When standing, he rests the foot on the toe.

J. F. W.

Ans.—The symptoms indicate what is called "an occult spavin." The lameness, in many cases, cannot be cured. The best treatment is firing and blistering the hock.

FOUNDER.

Mare aborted on February 1st. Next morning she was foundered. I have poulticed and blistered her, but she is no better.

P. G. McI.

Ans.—This is called parturient laminitis, and your treatment was correct, if you attended properly to details. Give her a purgative of 8 drams aloes and 2 drams ginger. Remove her shoes (if she have any on), pare the heels well down, and apply a poultice of hot mashed turnips. Keep hot by occasionally pouring hot water on. Change the poultice about every 8 hours. Attend well to this until the acute lameness disappears. It may take four or five days. Then, if any tenderness remains, blister the coronet once monthly until it disappears. V.

NASAL DISCHARGE. WORMS.

1. Have a bunch of yearling calves that are growing well and eat well, but, when drinking, from their nostrils discharge a thick, white substance, that sinks in the water.

2. Have a herd of hogs that are not doing well. I killed one, and a post-mortem revealed long, white worms in the intestines.

C. A. B.

Ans.—1. This is due to inflammation of the lining of the sinuses of the head. Keep comfortable, and give each 20 grains powdered sulphate of copper, three times daily.

2. They will not thrive until rid of the worms. Make a mixture of 1 part oil of turpentine to 7 parts raw linseed oil. Fast the pigs for 12 to 14 hours, and then give from 1 to 4 ounces of the mixture, according to size of pig. Repeat treatment in a week. V.

Miscellaneous.

CLAIMING CHATTELS.

A is a working man. He has four sons, all men, working out for farmers. They live together in a house on ten acres of land, which they own. Also, they have a horse, cow, buggy and cutter among them. The father contracted a debt, and he cannot be got to pay or work it out.

1. If the farmer should sue the father, can he claim to own nothing?
2. Could a bailiff, in the usual way, attach anything, or all he can find on the lot, and compel the sons to prove that the article is theirs, and not the father's—or will the farmer be required to prove ownership of the articles attached?

FARMER.

Ans.—1. It is open to him to do so.
2. The bailiff—assuming that judgment has been obtained in the Division Court, and Execution issued—could make such seizure, subject, of course, to the regular exemptions. The sons would then have to assert their claim, if any. Upon their doing so, the next step would be interpleader at the instance of the bailiff. In the trial of the interpleader issue between the Execution creditor and the claimants, under the circumstances, the claimants should be plaintiffs, and take on the burden of proof.

Scotland, winners at New York, and winners at Guelph and Ottawa. They are the best types of the breed, with size, character, quality, action and breeding, and we sell them as reasonably as inferior ones can be bought, and give terms to suit. Clydesdale stallions and fillies and Hackney stallions.
