SAML. R. BROWN, Grand Recorder. THE FRENCH OBLATES IN DUBLIN.

On Sunday, the first band of the Oblate lately driven out of their house, at Autun, arrived at the North Wall by the London arrived at the North Wall by the London and North Western Express steamer. It numbered twenty in all, two priests, eigh-teen "scholasties" and two lay brothers. These forty confessors of the faith are to receive a home and hospitality at the distinguished house of their order at Inchicore, where, it is needless to say, they are sure to meet with a genuinely Irish and fra-ternal welcome. The second band of the to meet with a genuinely Irish and fra-ternal welcome. The second band of the Oblates expelled from Autun, France, reached Dublin late on Tuesday. They were met at the steamer by the Rev. Fr. Shinnors and Rev. Fr. Ring, and by a large number of lay gentlemen, who loudly and repeatedly cheered the exiles, and then the repeatedly the ready the good father? knelt reverently to receive the good fathers' blessing. A procession of some twenty cars and carriages accompanied the fathers through the city to Inchicore. Near Kingsbridge Station the procession was unexpectedly met by a crowd numbering not less than 4,000 men and women. The fathers were greeted with the most intense enthusiasm, and peal after peal of loud cheering showed the strength of the people's sympathy and enthusiasm.

After a short delay the procession wendcheering continuing with unabated vigor, hundreds of men waving lighted torches, and the effect of this stirring scene was heightened by the music of the excellent brass band of the Immaculate Conception. brass band of the Immaeulate Conception.
The crowd around the House of Retreat was enormous, and at their repeated calls, the Rev. Father Tatin, late Superior of Autur, appeared, and expressed, in a few touching words, how keenly he and his brethren appreciated this magnificent demonstration of Irish faith and Irish hospitality. The Rev. Father Shinnors, in the name of his community thoused the the name of his community, thanked the people for their generous sympathy, and assured them that the heart of Catholic France, new so saddened, would thrill with delight at this defiant answer to the misdelight at this defiant answer to the miserable men who now rule the destinies of the French Republic. The names of Gambetta and Constans, referred to by the Rev. Father, were received with groaning and hissing which lasted fully three minutes, and though the pronunciation might not have been always perfect, the cries were deep and earnest of "Vivent nos peres!" "A bas Gambetta!" "A bas la Republique." Before dispersing, which they did not do until close upon midnight, the vast multitude knelt down to receive a blessing from the Superior of the exiles.
The demonstration throughout, though got up on a couple of hours notice, was remarkable for its good order, its earnestness, and its genuine spontaneous enthusiasm.—

Murray has a magnificent display of watches, clocks, jewellery and plated ware, and all articles suitable for making presents during the holiday season. It is, without doubt, one of the most complete holders we have displays we have seen, surpassing many of the Louses in larger cities. No fancy prices charged, everything put down at the lowest figures.

We hope our Seaforth friends will not forget the concert to be held in that place on the 15th instant. Independent of the praiseworthy object of the concert it will be seen by correspondence in another that it is a first-class one.
