Young Farmer—“Are you fond of beasts, Miss Gusherton?” Miss Gusherton—“Oh, really, Mr. Pawker, if you mean that as a declaration, you must speak to mamma.”

No man knows what he may come to yet. We have seen a candidate for United States senator walking in the mud with a political torchlight procession, while his hired man paid fifty cents for a window to see the show.

A Milesian having returned to his native land, was asked to give an illustration of American enterprise, made answer: “If a Yankee was shipwrecked on an uninhabited island, the following morning he would be selling newspapers to all the inhabitants.”

In the north of Scotland a minister was taking to task one of his flock who was a frequent absentee, and the accused defended himself on a plea of a dislike to long sermons. “Deed, man,” said his reverend monitor, a little nettled at the insinuation, “if ye diana mend, ye may land yerseel where v’e’ll no’ be troubled wi’ many sermons, either long or short.”

“Weel, ablin’s sae,” retorted John, “but it may be nae for want of ministers.”

“Well, my son,” said a good-natured father to an eight-year-old son the other night, “what have you done to-day that may be set down as a good deed?”

“Gave a poor boy five cents,” replied the hopeful. “Ah! ah! that was charity, and charity is always right. He was an orphan boy, was he?” “I didn’t stop to ask,” replied the boy. “I gave him the money for licking a boy who upset my lunch-basket.”

Ah! observed Mr. Skinner, girls ain’t what they used to be when I was young and the fellows are worse still. When I was counting, for instance, I never thought of staying after 10 o’clock, and only went twice a week. Now they go seven nights in the week, and cry because there ain’t eight. Then they write touching notes to each other during the day:

“Dear George, do you love me as much now as you did at a quarter past 10 last night? I say you do, dearest, and it will give me courage to go down to dinner and tackle them cold beans left over from yesterday.”

A MISSION AT SEA.

HOW TWO WESTERN JESUITS UTILIZED A VOYAGE TO EUROPE—MASS, ROSARY, AND SERMONS IN THE STEREA—A DEVOUT BUT TOO ENTERPRISING MOTHER.

[Correspondence of the Catholic Telegraph.]

Liverpool, July 17, 1880.—There is nothing so pleasant on a long journey as to have agreeable companions. In this regard I was very fortunate during the voyage from New York to Liverpool on the steamer Egypt, which sailed from New York July 3. Just as the vessel was leaving port I met two Jesuit Fathers whom I knew very well when they were stationed a few years ago at St. Xavier’s Church, Cincinnati. They recognized me at once, and, of course, warm congratulations were showered upon them. Father Van Der Eiden, is now rector of St. Mary’s Mission, Kansas. The other, Father Broesgeest, at one time had charge of St. Ann’s Parish (colored) in our city, but is now.

PASTOR OF THE JESUIT CHURCH IN CHICAGO. Father Hayden, of St. Mary’s, Kansas, were making to their native land, Holland, on a three month’s vacation. We had it arranged so that the three clergymen and myself occupied the one apartment, and they having all the articles necessary for the celebration of the Holy Sacraments, I had the inestimable privilege of hearing three Masses every morning during the voyage celebrated in the little cabin. We were two Sundays at sea, and Captain Grogan, commander of the vessel, kindly tendered the use of the saloon cabin for Mass. The Fathers, however, thought the STEERAGE THE MOST CONVENIENT PLACE.

there being a number of Catholics there who would not attend in the saloon, and it was so arranged. Accordingly, that part of the ship was thoroughly cleaned up and a rude altar erected immediately under one of the hatches, where there was an abundance of light and air. It rejoices the heart of a true Catholic at any time when unable to be present at the offering up of the Adorable Sacrifice, but the great and singular blessing of hearing Mass at sea is not vouchsafed to many, and those who on this occasion were so privileged will not soon forget it. Father Hayden said Mass, the other two priests officiating as servers. At the Offertory Father Broesgeest, who is gifted with a sweet and lovely hymn which the Church uses in honoring the Blessed Sacrament. Forty or fifty persons heard Mass, and high above on the upper decks the sailors gathered in a group to witness the singular spectacle. It was not a difficult task, however, to distinguish those among the crew who were Catholics. They kept their heads uncovered, and reverently bowed during the entire time. Poor fellows! The faith implanted in their hearts by good Catholic mothers was not extinct by any means, and only needed this occasion to revive it. At the end of Mass, Father Broesgeest read the Gospel of the day and spoke a few words in explanation of it. He reminded all present of the duties they owed to God, of man’s utter helplessness and entire dependence on the Almighty. He announced that the beads would be said in the afternoon at three o’clock, and a sermon by Father Van Der Eiden. No did the Father Van Der Eiden read here. Another ceremony of the Holy Church was called into requisition by a child being brought forward to receive the Sacrament of Baptism. The mother was taking it over to Ireland to have it christened there, very wisely concluding that it would be unsafe to miss the opportunity which was very almost miraculously presented. So the YOUNGEST WAS CHRISTENED AT SEA.

accidentally, in the afternoon, as announced, in the same place we had the beads and a sermon from Father Van Der Eiden. He took his text the words of Paul, “What doth it profit a man to gain the whole world if he loses his own soul.” He is a zealous, powerful, and eloquent preacher, and on this occasion he created a profound impression. Very many who had heard of the morning service came in the afternoon actuated by motives of curiosity, perhaps, however,

“The came to see.” But remained to pray.

For, unless their hearts were formed of adamant, the burning words of the preacher must have found entrance somewhere, and who knows but that the seed sown here, right on the ocean, some time bring forth fruit. The second Sunday’s devotions were much more largely attended and there were several communions, and among those who received might be noticed the weather-beaten countenance and rough sea-jacket of the poor sailor who after many years, perhaps, had returned to his Creator. As if the Almighty smiled approvingly on the good work accomplished by his devoted servants, we had one of the calmest voyages ever known on the Atlantic.

The Great Shoonooness Remedy.

Is an Indian vegetable compound, composed of the juices of a variety of remarkable medicinal plants and herbs; the various properties of these different ingredients, when combined, is so constituted as to act simultaneously upon the Blood, Lungs, Liver, Kidneys, Digestive Organs, Nervous System, &c., restoring their functions to healthy action, and being purely vegetable, is as harmless as nature’s own beverage. This medicine is a decided benefit in all, and a permanent cure in a large majority of diseases of the blood, such as Scrofula, Erysipelas, Salt Rheum, Cancer, Pimples, &c. In prescribing this medicine we do not claim that it always performs cures; but this we do say, it purifies and enriches the blood, permanently curing a large majority of diseases arising from its impurities. It stands far ahead and unequalled among the hundreds of competing medicines of the day. It has stood the test for ten years, and is today more popular than ever. As a summer restorative it stands unrivaled; it guards the system against the constant draw to which it is subjected by a high temperature. Persons who are subject to bilious Colic, Dysentery, Indigestion, &c., should take the Shoonooness Remedy. Price of the Remedy in pint bottles, $1; in six 25 cts. a box. Sold by all medicine dealers.

No man ever smoked “Myrtle Navy” tobacco for a fortnight and then took to any other brand in preference to it. It bears its own testimony of its qualities, and it is testimony which is always convincing. The smoker which uses it is never annoyed by getting it sometimes of good quality and sometimes of bad. The arrangements of the manufacturers for keeping its quality equal are very elaborate and complete, and are the results of many years of experience and close observation.
