

Speaking Likeness of Great Men

Sidney Landon Interprets Hugo, Kipling, Nye and Riley

Sidney Landon scored a triumph at the Star Course in the Y.M.C.A. last evening when he gave a number of speaking likenesses of great men in the literary world. Mr. Landon makes up on the platform in the presence of the spectators. In his interpretations he worked out his own conceptions of the human element in the greatest literature. His first speaking likeness was that of Victor Hugo, the great Frenchman of letters. His likeness to the departed Gallic genius was most striking. His audience felt they were in the very presence of the octogenarian poet and romanticist, making his address of farewell. The makeup was perfect, the touch of the mellow old age was there and the peculiarities of Frenchman and of the French type were cleverly caught by Mr. Landon.

Quite a different study was one of the eccentric Edward Wilson Nye, (Bill Nye), newspaperman and philosopher, reading, "Our Boy." The sly humor of the character and his message found an apt interpreter in Mr. Landon.

Very striking was the likeness of Rudyard Kipling, whom he interpreted as the idealist and modest man, "L'Envoi" was read by Mr. Landon. In deportment and gesture and in word, the interpreter worked the quiet idealist.

One of nature's real pieces of work was the old friend of Green's Class, from James Whitcomb Riley. This study was so realistic and was drawn from such a depth of human nature that Mr. Landon had no difficulty in holding his audience for half an hour with this rugged type of the green fields and running brooks.

The attendance was very large, the popularity of the course having demonstrated itself very clearly. Mr. Landon told a number of stories, one about the three great liars the war produced—an Englishman, an Irishman and a Yankee. The Englishman was an artist and said, "I flew as a bird, I heard the angels sing." The Irishman who was in the submarine service, said, "We went down so far that we could hear them shovelling coal." The Yankee declared, "We were first class. His entertainment was enriched by wit and oratory and flashes of wit and humor.

Holloway Street Church Bazaar

Yesterday afternoon one of the most delightful teas and sales of the season was held in the Sunday School rooms of Holloway Street church. The rooms were very tastefully decorated for the occasion and the booths and tables were well filled with various dainties for sale, and a large number who attended the sale had ample opportunity of choosing what they desired.

Mrs. Denney and Mrs. Horton had charge of the candy booth, which displayed all varieties of sweet things. Mrs. Pearce and Mrs. Anderson were in charge of the apron booth which was very prettily decorated. Mrs. D. Cook, Mrs. Fairman and Mrs. Palmer were in charge of the home-cooking table, which testified that the ladies of Holloway St. Church are all good cooks. Mrs. E. Anderson, who is president of the "Aunt" S. S. class of that church, Mrs. Ellis and Mrs. Hinds were in charge of "the remembrance" booth, which was very pleasing to note. The handkerchief table, which seemed to be well patronized was in the hands of Mrs. Sills. The fancy work table had some very beautiful embroidered articles. Mrs. Vance, Mrs. Yerex and Mrs. Denney were in charge of the miscellaneous fancy article booth in the hands of Mrs. Shoener, Mrs. Jones and Mrs. Latchford. The tea room was very appropriately decorated and was patronized by all present. Mrs. Mastin, Mrs. Gorham and Mrs. Vandewater served the tea and dainties.

Editor Ontario:
Regarding the campaign now in progress for a larger and more active Board of Trade, I would like to say that I took some trouble to write to a number of my business friends in places where this campaign had operated, so that I might know definitely what benefits these places had derived. I am pleased to be able to state that every reply I received was of a very satisfactory nature, each one expressing their satisfaction with the benefits derived from the campaign that had been put on. In order to illustrate the following paragraph is from a letter received today from a prominent business man in Guelph: "The Canadian City Bureau certainly did things for us that we feel we could not have done for ourselves. Not because we are short of good men, but because it seems difficult to enthusiastically campaign a subject of this kind, using your own men. The above company sent three or four representatives to organize our Guelph Chamber of Commerce and campaigned it to a point where we enrolled 387 members at $25. per year for three years. We organized committees, making a number of men responsible rather than a few, and we feel we have a

Hydro-Electric Prices Lower at Belleville

The Ontario is informed that the quotations for hydro-electric power as given by Ald. Woodley, Monday night's council meeting and published in last night's paper were altogether erroneous.

Mr. O. H. Scott, local manager of the Hydro-Electric Power Company showed us the actual list of charges at the various centres mentioned.

According to Ald. Woodley, Peterborough was selling power at $11.50, Lindsay, $17.50, Port Hope, $18, while Belleville had to pay $24.

As a matter of fact the charges both at Lindsay and Port Hope are considerably higher than at Belleville. At Port Hope it is very much higher.

Power has been sold at Peterborough at about the price mentioned when taken in large blocks. But it was for power developed right at their own plant. That power has now all been taken up and if any further power is used it must come from Healey Falls. That is what is being arranged for now.

Mr. Healey Falls cannot be sold as cheaply as Peterborough as power from the lower rapids of the Trent can be delivered at Belleville.

Our Debt to 80th Battalion

Musical Treat in Store When 80th Band Plays.

Editor Ontario:
In connection with the reunion of the 80th Battalion, the 80th band, 60 in number, are giving a concert in Griffin's opera house on Friday night, Dec. 5th, and as one of the women selling tickets for this concert, I would be much indebted if you would publish this letter. When the men of this battalion left, we all promised them a great reception on their return. Many of them have given their lives for us in the Great War, and many have returned maimed for life. This is the first reunion of any overseas unit in Belleville. Col. Ketcheson has heard from a large number of the men who are eagerly looking forward to coming back to Belleville on Friday. Are we going to redeem our promise of a great welcome? A rare musical treat is in store for those who have not heard "L. Stars" band, but apart from that we owe it to these men, who remember Belleville with pride and affection, to turn out in great numbers to greet them. Mary Baldwin Falkner, 62 West Bridge Street.

Cheese Factory Lost Action

His Honor Judge Willis yesterday heard the case of John Johnson vs. the Stoco Cheese Factory Co. It appears there was $251.50 due the plaintiff by the defendants for milk. A cheque for $249.50 had been put in but Mr. Johnson claimed the full amount. The defendants had deducted $2 for a load of wood which he did not bring to the factory as done by the other patrons. Judgment was given for the $251.50 and costs. E. J. Butler for plaintiff. A. Cochrane for defendants.
