For Women's Ailments

Dr. Martel's Female Pills have been ordered by physicians and sold by reliable Druggists everywhere for over a quarter of a century, don't accept a substitute.

Shell Shock

The way in which shell shock manifests itself varies greatly in different individuals; so that it is not possible to give a description which covers every case. Sometimes these symptoms are chiefly mental. The man suddenly loses his courage, breaks into a cold sweat, and cannot think or act. He becomes dazed, does not obey orders, is restless, and then in a semi-conscious condition wanders off, not knowing where he is. If questioned he can give no account of himself, does not know his name or his regiment, has no memory of the past; and when taken back to a hospital does not remember any of the past events of his life. Shown pictures of his family or letters from his wife, he does not recognize them, and thus for weeks he may remain in this state of double consciousness—as it is called—or amnesia; incapable of any mental or physical activity. Such cases—not unknown in civil life, but exceedingly rare—are the common form of shell-shock patients, and may last for months after they have been sent home.

Sometimes the mental state is not one of obscured consciousness but rather of excitement. The mind is continually on the qui vive for sights and sounds. The man starts and runs automatically at any noise, jumps or twitches like one with St. Vitus' dance, or trembles like one with shivering rags. Such a man cannot sleep, or if he does, wakes suddenly with dreams or visions of horrid sights and sounds—starts up in a tremble, with every sign of intense alarm, and in a semi-conscious state fights all who try to calm or restrain him. He may have vivid hallucinations, seeing the sights of trench or battle just as if they were going on about him, and manifesting all the emotional effects which these sights would ordinarily awaken. A Canadian who had suffered thus, and had apparently recovered, was standing on the City Hall steps at a recent parade when an automobile tire suddenly burst with a sound like a gun. He immediately lost all control of himself—ran shouting through the crowd—fought the police who tried to restrain him—was in a state of intense excitement which could not be quieted, trembled like a leaf, and panted as if exhausted, and not for four hours did he come back to his normal state of mind—and then he had no memory of what had occurred.—Scribner.

Old-Fashioned Business

Appropos of the Old Lady of Shoe Lane, as the now defunct Standard of London was called, being the first English newspaper to print a serial story, a well-known editor used to tell a story of when Anthony Trollope came to him to arrange for the appearance, serially, of "Doctor Thorne." The editor offered £2,000, but Trollope wanted £3,000, and when the editor objected, the author offered to toss him for the other thousand. The editor, however, was obstinate. "But I felt unsettled," he went on to say. "I felt mean, I had refused a challenge. To relieve my mind I said: 'Now that is settled, come over to my club, where we can have a quiet room to ourselves, and I will toss you for that thousand with pleasure.' But Trollope wouldn't."
