Messrs. J. A. PEARCE & Co., have fitted up and decorated their immense store for Christmas, in grander style than ever before. Indeed the scene presented looks like fairy land, and is worth coming a long distance to see. Six magnificent Christmas trees, each with its own lights, and studded with electric lights, span the centre of the store. In this arched partition there are eight charmingly decorated booths, each one devoted to some particular line of goods. Here you will find, displayed with artistic skill, the choicest assortment of silks, fur goods, ladies' fancy goods, gloves, hats, belts, etc., ribbons of every conceivable variety, handkerchiefs, the choicest quality of fancy goods, and every thing that can possibly have a place in a first-class dry goods store. There are one hundred and fifty electric lights in the decorations. These have been put in by Mr. James Wright of the Charlotetown Electric Light Co. At the top of the front arch, as you enter the door, is a fine picture of Robbie Burns, smiling from a placid frame. The scene is simply indescribable, and must be seen to be fully appreciated. Crowds of people from the side walk in front of the store, to get a look at the decorations. Such Christmas decorations have scarcely been seen in any store this side of Boston, and they reflect much credit on the enterprising firm of James Pearce & Co.

Quite a sensation was caused in Vancouver, B. C., by the statement of Hon. P. D'Alton, provincial finance minister, that the Turner Ministry had left a million dollars provincial debt, whilst the provincial Ministry will have to take over the guarantee Fraser Valley dyking debentures of over $300,000.

The land owners, who are liable say they are unable to pay the debenture interest. Mr. Cotton says it will be very difficult to avoid an addition to the provincial taxes.

Quarter and Davies are being censured for accepting the hospitality of M. R. Thompson, N. Y., who got up a big junketing trip for the international commission. The latter is president of the Oxford smelting company which controls the Sudbury mine output, and is trying to hinder Canada from importing to export duty on nickel. For this purpose he and his associates have appeared before the British commissioners. Owing to the indifference of the government the efforts of Canadian capitalists are restricted. If the export duty is imposed British financiers offer twenty millions for Canadian nickel.

The following almost miraculous event took place during the heavy storm of last month. A cargo of lumber had been shipped from Bangor to a Cape Cod lumber merchant a few days ago before the gale sprung up. During the tempest she was driven high and dry on the shore, apparently a total wreck. Her owner on being informed of the disaster, forwarded a representative who, when he arrived at the scene was astonished to find the vessel gone. Further investigation showed that she had been taken out to sea again and carried directly to the yard of the man to whom the cargo was consigned. Though the frame of the schooner was a complete wreck the lumber in it was in good condition and will remain just where it is until spring.
