

Mother's Way

Of within our little cottage, As the shadows gently fall, While the sunlight touches softly, One sweet face upon the wall, Do we gather close together, And in hushed and tender tone Ask each other's full forgiveness For the wrong that each hath done.

In Peril

Continued. Well, a scene between the friends was inevitable. One afternoon in late November, Davis was seated at his desk, musing over this strange something that possessed his friend. A knock aroused him, and Naughton entered. Davis arose with a merry welcome. The peculiar hunted expression on his friend's face checked the words of reproach that naturally sprang to Davis' lips. He knew a struggle was waging within the citadel of his friend's soul, and he desired to learn its full import. Davis' eyes searched Naughton's countenance. Finally he spoke. "You have something on your mind, Frank. What is it?" Naughton laughed in a nervous jerky manner. "Don't you know? You were always good at reading my thoughts," he said.

Aching Joints

In the fingers, toes, arms, and other parts of the body, are joints that are inflamed and swollen by rheumatism—that acid condition of the blood which affects the muscles also. Sufferers dread to move, especially after sitting or lying long, and their condition is commonly worse in wet weather. "I suffered dreadfully from rheumatism but have been completely cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla, for which I am deeply grateful," Mrs. JACQUES SMITH, Trenton, Ont. "I had an attack of the grip which left me weak and helpless and suffering from rheumatism. I began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla and this medicine has entirely cured me. I have no hesitation in saying it saved my life." M. J. McDONALD, Trenton, Ont.

Hood's Sarsaparilla Removes the cause of rheumatism—no outward application can. Take it.

Friday evening came and Naughton with a band of gay spirits went to the city bent upon pleasure. That day Davis had not attended classes, he was confined to his bed with chills and fever. Of course he was unaware of his friend's movements. The lively crowd sallied to the city and sought a quiet cafe, where they could eat and drink to their hearts' content. Frank Naughton was the liveliest of them all, and he drank with the happy abandon of a bacchanal.

In the midst of the gaiety and song some one suggested a trip to a place nearby, whose reputation cried out against it. The party assented with shouts of tipy joy. Not so Naughton. The very mention of that name froze the blood in his veins, and a thousand hideous pictures warped his imagination. His boon companions noticed his sudden change and heaped their sneering remarks upon him. He tried to struggle to his feet, but the liquor had deadened his muscles, and he sank back into the chair with a low moan. A shout of exultation went up from the others upon whom the drink had taken less effect.

"We will carry him. He can't resist, for he is a jolly good fellow, they cried." The hideousness of their dire intent slowly filtered through his brain. His head fell on the table and the world seemed to be sinking from beneath him. He had sunk low enough, but they would drag him lower. He had a faint realization of his powerless condition for he was in the clutch of drink, and almost within the fingers of passion. Three pictures flashed before his mind, his mother's face, his little sister's and the countenance of Chester Davis.

"If Chester were only near him, all would be well. In his anguish he whispered a prayer to his angel guardian, and his very soul cried out for the strong, guiding hand of his friend. A glass of liquor was pushed towards him, but he refused to touch it. His companions surrounded him, bent upon this new sport of forcing him to drink. As the afternoon drew into evening, Chester Davis grew restless and quit his bed. A variety of thoughts harassed him. Naughton's words came back to him with telling force and his friend's face constantly flashed before his eyes. He could not account for it. Unable to bear the strain any longer, he went down the hall to Frank's room and knocked. There was no response, so he pushed open the door. The place was empty.

Chester went back to his room troubled and unsatisfied. Where is Naughton? he asked himself; and something seemed to say to him; he is in trouble, and needs your help. He could not drive this from his mind, and his own name 'Davis, Davis,' rattled against his poor tired brain insistently.

Davis arose from his chair and muttered 'If this does not cease I'll go mad.' Flung up the window, he plunged his feverish face into the cool night air, as eagerly as a sun-scorched traveller dips his brow into a cooling stream. A shower of sleet drove against him, and he hastily withdrew, closing the window. His mind had formed a plan; he would seek Frank. But

WHOOPIING COUGH

Her 3 Children Had It.

This disease begins like a simple cold in the head that rapidly goes to the chest. The cough is at first short and sharp, but gradually increases in severity and occurs in sudden spasms. Often vomiting follows a severe attack of coughing, and sometimes there is no blood.

Mothers should never neglect the treatment of whooping cough as it is much more serious than most people think, as it may be followed by some grave lung trouble, such as bronchitis, pneumonia or consumption, since the sufferers power of resistance are often greatly weakened by the violent and exhausting cough.

On the first sign of a "whoop," Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup should be administered as it helps to clear the bronchial tubes of the collected mucous and phlegm. Mrs. Burton Leopold, New Ross, N.S., writes: "My three children had the whooping cough so bad last winter, I thought they would choke. I tried many different remedies, but none of them seemed to help. At last I got a bottle of Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, and I was greatly surprised to see how quickly it helped them. I shall always recommend your wonderful remedy to others."

Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup is 25c and 50c a bottle at all druggists and dealers. Put up only by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

where? And the answer came—in the gilded cafes he had learned to love.

Davis, hurried into his coat and hat, and went out into the howling wind and cutting sleet. His head pounded fiercely and his body shook with intermittent fever. He swung on a car and in ten minutes alighted at South Square. Instinctively he turned into Fay street and entered Lee's Cafe.

A scene met his eyes that will linger forever in his memory. Frank Naughton, leaning heavily against a table, was fighting off his crowd of tormentors. A faint stream of blood trickled down his face, and his left hand, held before him in defence, was cut and bleeding. In a dash Davis was beside him, scattering the revellers to right and left. He flung his arm around his friend and before the stupefied men could realize the situation, he hurried Frank into the street. They took a cab and drove into the night.

Your Heart! Does it Palpitate?

The component parts of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are indicated to be away with palpitation and other heart troubles and thus strengthen both the heart and nerves. Mrs. E. X. Gaudin, of Tisbury, Ont., writes: "During 25 years past I was greatly troubled with palpitation of the heart, and sometimes so much so that those around me thought I would die at any moment, being so much weakened by the sharpness of the palpitation which would last sometimes up to three hours. I had the doctor who kept me taking his medicine to overcome the disease, but to no effect. There was no change at all for the better. Two years ago a friend advised me to use Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills. I began to use them at once, and at the second box I began to feel some relief, so I continued to use them according to directions, and now I am perfectly well. Before using the pills, I never weighed 100 pounds, now I weigh 117, and feel as if I were young although I am over 60 years of age. FOR OUR January Carnival of Economy

The old year, took away, for ever, we hope, the old burden of war prices. For months conditions have been working toward the great climax that brought the remarkable merchandise that is here assembled for this our greatest January Carnival of Economy.

The results came in two ways: 1st. The drastic lowering of prices on our own stocks, down to the new low basis, and often far below it—to double your interest in January buying in our store. 2nd. We have combed the markets—taking utmost advantage of the opportunities created by far sighted manufacturers who were ready to co-operate with us in presenting to you now the lowest prices that will be possible, for the next six months, at least.

We can just see the delight of our Customers when they see the splendid assortment of goods, in every department of our store, and then realize that prices are away down to the bottom, where it is a pleasure to buy things.

Many Manufacturers have ACCEPTED LARGE LOSSES. We shall forego a large part of our profits on the new goods and accept large losses on our own mark downs—to inaugurate this first New Year under the New Management and

THE MOST STIRRING JANUARY PRICE-UPSET THAT THIS COMMUNITY HAS EVER KNOWN.

No matter what you need or desire, now is the best time for months to come to buy it. Some of the reasons are told on this page; but scores of others are here that can get no mention today, even in this broad space.
