FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 17, 1882.

CUTTING OUT HIS WORK.

Mr. M. C. Cameron M. P., for South Huron, is cutting out work for himself during the present session, absent the Government policy in the North West. During his trip to Ottawa, Mr. Cameron viewed some of the acquisition of affairs in that province, and we look for good work at his hands when the question of territory for sale arises. The following notices of motions made in the House have been made by Mr. Cameron:

That an Order of the House do issue for a copy of all Resolutions and Departmental Orders respecting the arrears due to the Government on the sale of land in Manitoba and the North-West Territories, and the prompt payment of such arrears, according to the terms of sale, and of all instructions to, and correspondence with, the Crown Lands Department on the subject.

That an Order of the House do issue for a copy of all Correspondence with the Government by any party or parties or companies respecting the Grazing or Pasture Lands in the North-West Territories, and applications for such lands, and applications and applications respecting the claims of squatters or parties claiming rights of any kind in and to such lands, all grants, leases, or other rights given to any one thereof, the terms and conditions thereof, showing to whom and when such grants, leases or other rights were so granted or given.

Address to His Excellency the Governor-General for a return showing the number of licenses to cut timber on the Government Lands in Manitoba and the North-West Territories, granted by the Government from the acquisition of the country until the 31st day of February, 1882, the name of the licensee, the limit or quantity of land granted, the terms on which granted, including the annual rent, the stumpage reserved, time which license was to continue, the number of licenses, if any, annual amount in arrears on such licenses, and all Orders in Council and Regulations and Rules or Departmental orders respecting the same.

Address to His Excellency the Governor-General for a return showing the quantity and location of coal, mineral and timber lands in Manitoba and the North-West Territories, sold, leased, licensed, or otherwise disposed of, since the acquisition of the country up to the 1st day of February, 1882, to whom, when, and the terms and conditions on which so sold, leased, licensed or otherwise disposed of, together with all Orders in Council and Departmental Orders and Regulations in relation thereto.

Order of the House for a copy of all Correspondence between the Canadian Pacific Railway Company, or any person connected therewith, and the Government, or any member therein, respecting all claims made by said Company for stone, timber, gravel or other material used for the construction of said road, and all claims made on the Government therefor by said Company, and all Department or other orders respecting the same, specifying the extent and location of the land over or on which such claims have been made.

Order of the House for a Return showing the quantity of land sold by the Government of Canada in Manitoba and the North-West Territories in each year, from the acquisition of the North-West up to the first day of February, 1882; the price at which the lands were sold; to whom sold, and when; the amount received on account of said sales up to the date aforesaid; the amount in arrear for principal and interest.

Order of the House for a Return showing the expenses in detail incurred by the several Members of the Government, and any other person or persons in the service of the Government, or paid by the Government, sent to England or elsewhere, on behalf of the Government, or in the service of the Government, from the 10th February, 1880, to date.

Address to His Excellency the Governor-General, praying that he will cause to be laid before this House, Copies of all Correspondence, Petitions, Papers, Reports and Orders in Council, relating to an Act of the Legislature of the Province of Ontario, intitled: "An Act for Protecting the Public Interests in Rivers, Streams and Creeks," disallowed by His Excellency in Council, and a copy of the said Act.

Mr. Geo. E. Jackson, of Eganville, is willing to be sacrificed again, George can bear any amount of "flicking." In fact, next to being elected, he prefers to be beaten, rather than not be conspicuous, for he believes, with old Samuel Butler:

If he that in the field is slain Be in the bed of better laid, He that is beaten may be said To lie in honor's truckle-bed.

Mr. Geo. E. Jackson, of Eganville, is willing to be sacrificed again, George can bear any amount of "flicking."

The nomination for the Reform candidate for the Commons for Centre Huron will be held at Seaford, we understand, about the middle of March.

A new railway committee was struck at the last meeting of the Council, and the people are anxiously waiting for the first move towards an agitation.

The prevailing opinion is that the Tory convention, on Friday last, for nominating a candidate for Centre Huron, was "rattled." Dr. Coleman must have been a singularly coated pill.

Departmental legislation is to be introduced so that derelict judges may be subjected to dismissal. When it becomes law there will be a general bracing up on the Bench all around.

Our Ottawa telegram to the daily papers says that Lord Lorne, Sir Hector Langevin, and other notables are likely to figure as witnesses in a suit for breach of promise, brought by a Miss Romaitse against an Ottawa lawyer. Who?

Charles Mackintosh, ex-Mayor of Ottawa, ex-parliamentary broker for "old Joe Whitehead," and proprietor of the Ottawa Citizen, the Tory Court Journal, was referred to in a speech in the Dominion capital on Saturday last. Charles is a representative chip of the John A. block.

That governing house of Tory sentiment, the U. P. Club, has collapsed, and the bills which are pouring in cannot be met with a solitary cent. The signed young men who faced the workmen and farmers to join the Club by the back entrance, deserved to fail. But it will be a severe strain on the party loyalty of the passers-by who furnished the eating and drinking for the evening meals at the Club.

There are thirty-three newspaper editors and reporters in the press gallery at Ottawa watching the present session. The Globe has five representatives and the Mail four. The public interests will be looked after pretty thoroughly. It is stated that the session will not last over nine weeks, and that shortly after the prorogation of the House, the country will be appealed to. The Reformers in Huron are ready, eye ready, and will give a good account of themselves.

Mr. Wm. Campbell, our genial 1st Deputy-reeve, and an Irishman of the first water, has been engaged for some time past in getting "Campbell" signatures for the Lorne memorial. Mr. William Campbell will pose well as a Highlander of Irish extraction. Of course the Marquis will not know but that our 1st deputy was born in Argyle, east haggis, drinks uisqubagh, and talks with a Doric burr; but what will Lauchie Campbell say?

There is a surplus of $5,509,591.18 in the Ontario Treasury, under our Reform Government. Tory Quebec has a debt of $19,000,000. Our Government does not squeeze its revenue out of the pockets of the farmers and consumers, as the Dominion Government does, yet it expects to increase the surplus by half a million of dollars during the ensuing year. So wise and economical an Administration as that led by Hon. O. Mowat cannot but retain the confidence of the people.

The "Speak Now" slanders received what ought to be its quietus on Tuesday. It has now got to be a question of veracity on the part of Messrs. Blakely and Mackenzie on one hand, and C. J. Rykert and Alf. Boulbe on the other. Boulbe's offences against society will not bear airing; and Mr. Rykert's acceptances of money to get his influence on the railway committee when in the Legislature, stamp him as a man unfit to pose as the defender of political morality.

The Star keeps blowing its bellows to help to kindle the fire Mr. F. W. Johnston. It doesn't like the "square talk" indulged in by the Clinton News and the Seaford Reporter about the Wardenship, any more than it did the remarks of THE SIGNAL on the same subject. Nevertheless the New Era, the Reporter and THE SIGNAL were right in their conclusions, and the editor of the Star cannot but acknowledge the truth of their statements in his heart of hearts, although constrained to buffet them from party motives.

The Tory candidate for East Huron has not yet been chosen, but evidences point to Mr. Thos. Hays, as the coming nominee. Mr. Hays is very popular in McKillop, and will possibly poll a good vote in Howick, but outside of these municipalities we fail to see where he will get a majority in East Huron. And when we speak of East Huron, we speak of a constituency that we know something about. Dr. W. J. R. Holmes, of Brussels, who, with all his failings, is the outest, shrewdest and cleverest Tory in Huron, failed to carry the East Riding in 1879, and what he failed to do at the last election cannot be done by an inferior man under existing circumstances.

Mr. Geo. E. Jackson, of Eganville, is willing to be sacrificed again, George can bear any amount of "flicking."

Mr. Fred. W. Johnston last week was selected County Master of Orangeville for South Huron for the current year. Wonder if Mr. Johnston will soon be wearing the scarlet and blue of the old Orangeville team?

A terrible disaster. The particulars of the burning of the family of Joan Morland—the fatal results of a kerosene explosion.

Madoc, Feb. 11.—The particulars of the fire at Huntington show it to have been probably the most frightful calamity that ever befall any family in this part of Ontario. Joan Morland is a sober, hard working farmer, living about ten or twelve miles south-west of the village of Madoc, and in the township of Huntington. On Thursday morning he and his wife and Peter Vanallan, jr., drove down to Belleville together to make some purchases. It seems that Vanallan, who is getting out logs in the neighborhood, was boarding at Morland's along with two young men in Vanallan's employ. These were Simon Rameau, of Nanjance, and Minor Hough, whose home is near Belleville. There were besides them in the household, Morland's six children, as follows:—John, aged twelve years; Henry, aged ten; Lizzie, aged eight; Sarah, aged six; Charles, aged two; and a baby boy, some six or seven months old. Mrs. Morland's sister, Miss Susan Douglas, having come over to take care of the children in the mother's absence, was also, unfortunately, in the house at the time of the disaster. It seems that about midnight, Vanallan and the Morlands came home and found Miss Douglas and the two young men, Hough and Rameau, still out of bed awaiting their arrival. The young men assisted to put in the horses and carry in the things out of the sleigh, and then they hurried off to bed.

Mr. and Mrs. Morland, Mr. Vanallan and Miss Douglas remained up, however, and waked up two of the children, Sarah and Charles, to let them try on new boots that had been purchased for them. Among the things which they had brought from Belleville was a five-gallon glass demijohn filled with kerosene oil, and covered with the usual wicker or basket work. Charlie was walking up and down the room to try his new boots, and just as he was close to the demijohn it exploded with a report similar to that of a revolver, and immediately the oil, which had been expanded by the heat of the warm room, and the gas or vapour generated by the rapid rise in temperature, began pouring through the small openings in the wicker work with a sharp, hissing sound, similar to that made by escaping steam. Two ordinary pots were brought, and in a few minutes about three out of the five gallons were secured in them, and set aside at the back of the room, which was the full size of the house, eighteen by twenty feet. As the cracks in the floor of the room were very wide, and comparatively open, the greater part of the other two gallons of the oil quickly disappeared. With a view to getting rid of the last of it, however, Vanallan lit a match and ignited it. He allowed a small space to burn off, and then extinguished it with his foot, after which he lighted another spot, which was subsequently smothered, and these very dangerous operations appear to have been repeated several times. At length Morland lighted a piece of paper from the little fire which Vanallan was watching, and with it ignited several spots on the floor in rapid succession. Almost immediately after this had been done, the flames began to mount higher from the floor, and waver and tremble as though they were not confined to the oil on the floor. Miss Douglas seized a pail of water to throw upon the floor, but Morland stopped her, and attempted to beat down the flames with the broom. At the first stroke more than half the broom itself became wrapped in flame, and an instant later a loud, fiery column shot up to the ceiling and swept swiftly along overhead. Then all was confusion, and the survivors were not clear as to what happened. Miss Douglas opened the door, but for some reason closed it again without making her escape. Perhaps with true womanly instinct she turned to save the helpless little ones. Vanallan seized a folded cloth or coat still before he smothered the conflagration, but before he knew what he was doing the room was literally full of blazing gas, and he was just able to stagger to the door, fainting and half suffocated.

All this time not a sound came from the doomed ones inside the house, and Vanallan says he only heard the wailings of Morland as he staggered out of the house with beard and clothing both on fire after a vain attempt to save his wife and little ones by groping about in the mass of seething flames in doors. A door at the back of the house was literally full of blazing gas, and it was impossible to enter. In the meantime the three boys—Johnny, Henry, and little Charlie—had managed in some way to escape, but Mrs. Morland and Miss Douglas, and Lizzie, Sarah and baby Merland were never seen again. Meantime the young men Hough and Rameau had not been alarmed as early as those down-stairs, though they were not asleep; they were not up, and from the bed, and threw himself head first down the stairs. Both were still alive this afternoon when I visited the scene of the disaster, and hopes are entertained of Hough's ultimate recovery, but poor Rameau has no chance whatever. He is frightfully burned all over. Some parts of his person are entirely burned away, his ears being so charred that they crumble to pieces when touched. He is perfectly conscious and rational, however. Hough is blackened and disfigured past recognition, but Dr. Hudson, who is attending him, thinks he will recover. How Rameau escaped after falling headlong down stairs he himself does not know, but from the frightful manner in which he has been burned almost to a cinder it is probable that he dragged himself out of the burning building on his hands and knees. It is altogether a most horrible case, but they found him lying in a bed of blood-snow outside the house.

As soon as the survivors saw that the doomed ones were utterly beyond hope, the necessity of immediate action on behalf of some of their own number was forced upon their dazed and bewildered senses. Vanallan was clothed and unburnt, and Morland was not badly burned, and was dressed at the time of the disaster, but the three little boys had only their shirts on, Charlie having his boots on, of course, while Hough and Rameau had only the charred remains of their shirts clinging to them. Morland tore off his coat, vest, trousers, socks, and boots, and used them to shield his three little frightened, shivering, motherless boys from the bitter north wind, while Vanallan divided a blanket with Rameau and Hough, and hastily harnessing the horses they fled less than an hour before, poor Morland, barefooted, blackened, and clawed only in his underwear and drawers, leaped into the sleigh, and was driven to him of what was an hour before a happy and lawful family, and drove a mile and a half to the "nearest" neighbor's house, where the little ones and the young men were sheltered for the time being.

SIXTEEN years ago Mr. McLelan called Dr. Tupper "the great high priest of jobbery and corruption," and also labelled him to a "miserable lying false fabricator before him that his rear hands might 'get deep to the annals pits in the public chest.' That, as a matter of fact, the Minister of Railways has never been accepted as a correct one. Last week, however, Sir Chas. Tupper swayed over to the House and narrated with his old-time fluency, the history of the failure of the Reformers, and the narrators of the scene do not say whether the knight of doubtful veracity extended a bogus arm or a real limb.

Mr. South Bruce's Reformers are beginning to beat themselves in election matters. We learn that there is likely to be a change in the representation as at present existing. The intention is to promote Mr. R. M. Wells to the Commons, and Sir Shaw will be forced to resign at the next election. Should this event take place, and it is on the cards, either Mr. H. P. O'Connor, of Walkerton, or Mr. D. B. Cameron, of Lockwood, will be the Reform candidate for the seat for South Bruce in the next Ontario Legislature. Either of these gentlemen would make a capital local member.

The editor of the Clinton Record made fault with Mr. D. McGillivuddy for moving a resolution at the North Huron convention a week or two since. Well, we can't help the captious youth's opinion, further than to state that in the month of January, just past, Mr. McGillivuddy paid taxes on real estate into a municipal treasury in North Huron to an amount far in excess of the aggregated taxes of the Clinton scribe from the day of his majority to the present time; and the Clinton youth doesn't bury his head in the sand, so far as politics are concerned in any of the Hurons, or anywhere else—despite his innocence of public matters.

OUR townsman, Mr. S. Platt, who contested Centre Huron twice in 1878, referred the cold shoulder at the Tory convention at Seaford on Friday last. Dr. Coleman has been selected to contest the Riding in the room of Mr. Platt. We congratulate our townsman upon his escape from the trials and turmoils of another political campaign, but cannot but admit, from a personal knowledge of the two men, that he would have made the stronger candidate. However, the result is "none of our funeral," and the Tories can nominate whom they please. We expect, nevertheless, a pleasant time listening to the silver tones of the redoubtable Doctor giving his version of the sugar monopoly question. If he is anything at all in politics, he is the "glucose candidate."

MUNICIPAL HONORS.—Our residents have not been forgotten for our township fathers in the distribution of honors. Mr. H. Zoelner gets the lucrative office of pound-keeper, the important position of fence-viewer is Mr. John Shaw's, and the arduous functions of pathmaster fall to E. Shaw and D. Stirling. The latter gentleman has Butternut Row in his division, and will see that the "youths" over 21 will toe the scratch and perform their statute labor.

THE following is a correct statement of the standing of the pupils of S. S. No. 3, Colborne, for the month of January, 1882:—Fifth class.—J. G. Young, 155; C. G. Young, 138; B. A. Young, 130; A. B. Young, 44. Fourth class.—J. T. Towley, 165; 2 A. Linklater, 124; 3 M. Towley, 118; 4 R. Rutledge, 115. Third class.—1 A. Straughan, 136; 2 H. Tawley, 127; 3 J. Hamilton, 125; 4 J. Medd, 124.

WE are glad to learn that John Edward, son of Mr. John Edward, of the 7th con. of Colborne, is recovering from a severe attack of inflammation of the lungs.

THE Rev. Mr. McQuarrie, of Wingham, will occupy the pulpit of Smith Hill Presbyterian church next Sabbath, at the usual hour, 2.30 p. m.

VISITING.—Rev. J. Turnbull, B. A., has been visiting the members of his congregation during the week.

COMMERCIAL.—Our enterprising townsman, Mr. Archibald Hodge, has formed a partnership with Mr. R. T. Haynes in the Sheppardton mills. There will be a boom at the mills, despite the N. P. and scarcity of snow.

ICE.—Mine host of the "Exchange" had on three teams on Friday last drawing the annual supply office. Our friend Andy acted as first deputy on the occasion, and a jolly time was spent.
