

ACCIDENTS WILL HAPPEN!

The finest "first aid" is Zam-Buk for many reasons. It is antiseptic—kills the poison in any wound. It ensures any wound, or skin injury, or disease against poison-germs in the air which are always ready to enter a sore place and set up poisoning and putrefactive change. Immediately they enter Zam-Buk they are instantly killed. While certain ingredients in Zam-Buk are thus protecting you against external dangers, the rich healing herbal essences in the balm penetrate the tissue, stimulate the cells, and bring about perfect healing. Nothing like it! Watch it work!

PROOF FROM THE HOMES.
Mrs. Halliday, of Worcester, Ont., says:—"I have found Zam-Buk a most reliable household remedy. I have used it for cuts, sores, and various skin diseases, and have found it an effective cure in every case. I would not be without a box of Zam-Buk in the house in case of emergency, and I recommend all mothers to keep a box handy."
Mrs. R. B. Levy, of Hackett's Cove, N.S., says:—"Eczema broke out very badly behind my baby's ears, and despite treatment got worse and worse. I was advised to try Zam-Buk. It proved effective from the first, and in a very short time it cured the eczema completely." Equally good for all skin injuries and diseases, pimples, etc. See druggists and stores everywhere or Zam-Buk Co., Toronto.

CHAPTER I.
It was to please her brother that Shirley had put aside her black serge dress and resumed her former graceful attire; and Madge did not wonder as she looked at her, that the two men—Guy Stuart and Sir Hugh Glynn—had loved her so dearly and deeply. Greatly as her beauty had been impaired by trouble, she was wonderfully lovely still, all the lovelier perhaps for the deep sadness in the hazel eyes and the pain lingering round the sweet pale lips; and, as she crouched by her side, Madge thought that she had never seen a lovelier face.

They were both silent and thoughtful as they sat in the firelight. Shirley's thoughts were with Hugh at Adinbrooke, and her heart was heavy and anxious; but Madge's had wandered back to the first time she had seen Shirley, and the intense attraction and fascination the latter had always possessed for her. She was recalling their first interview in the little ivy-grown lodge, and how, the next day, Shirley had at first refused and then accepted her offer of the situation of village schoolmistress; and she remembered that it was only after she—Madge—had told Mrs. Ford that Guy was going abroad that she had accepted it. Poor darling, Madge thought pitifully, with a closer clasp of the frail fingers, how she must have suffered!

Shirley felt the caress and smiled. It was very pleasant to her, after shut-

"MY KIDNEYS HURT ME ALL THE TIME"

Gin Pills Cured Them. Free Sample Box Leads to Cure.
Only those who have been tormented with Kidney Trouble can appreciate how Mr. Trumper suffered. Being a railroad man, he was called upon to do all kinds of heavy work. The constant strain of lifting, weakened the kidneys. I received the sample box of Gin Pills and was greatly benefited by them. My kidneys were in such bad condition I could not lift or stoop without pain. In fact, they pained me nearly all the time. I have taken three boxes of Gin Pills, working all the time at heavy work on the railroad and did not lose a day.

held out to him with such frank cordiality; "and—and—" "Has the letter done what I wished it to do?" she asked earnestly. "You must not say it was more generous than you deserved; it could not be. We can never forget how good you were, Mr. Litton, and I am grieved that your goodness should have given you any pain. You have heard from Miss Venn?" she added softly. "Yes." "And she is penitent, I hope?" Shirley said smilingly. "She is very penitent," he answered. "Then you must forgive her," she said, averting her eyes from his face with a little pang at her heart when she saw the pain there. "I have forgiven her; but—he paused and his strong fingers pulled nervously at his mustache; then he went on rapidly—"I care for her far too much to keep up a show of resentment against her; still I am not at all sure that it would not be wiser to go away and never see her again." "Why?" Shirley asked.

"Because—because I can hardly think she cares for me when she doubted me on such slight grounds, Lady Glynn." Shirley glanced at him; there was no mistaking the pain on his face; and she felt sorry that a girl who had been fortunate enough to win such a love as his should have been weak enough to doubt it, and so raise doubt in his own mind. "You must not say the grounds were slight," she said earnestly. "Most women, I think, would have been vexed and pained; and you must not think that, because she had not perfect faith, she has not perfect love. Girls are different from men, you know; they want constant assurance of the love they inspire, and you must try to forget her jealousy in love." "That is love's curse," he answered smilingly; but his face was brighter for the earnest words she had spoken; and the pain he had felt at the want of faith in him which pretty Rose Venn had shown was almost removed.

Presently the sound of wheels rapidly approaching the house made Madge start up with a quick joyful exclamation. Shirley, too, rose to her feet; but her knees trembled, and she was forced to sit down again, while she tried to appear composed and to quell the nervous agitation which seized her. Madge flew out into the hall, and Mr. Litton followed, for he feared that he might be needed in his professional capacity if Sir Hugh had returned with his friends. Soon the room door opened and Sir Frederic Oliphant entered, going over to Shirley with outstretched hands and very troubled eyes; and, as she

HELP FOR WORKING GIRLS

Two Girls Tell Story of Their Illness and How They Found Relief.

New Orleans, La.—"I take pleasure in writing these lines to express my gratitude to you. I am only 16 years old and work in a tobacco factory. I have been a very sick girl but I have improved wonderfully since taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and am now looking fine and feeling a thousand times better."
—Miss AMELIA JAQUILLARD, 613 Seventh Street, New Orleans, La.
St. Clair, Pa.—"My mother was alarmed because my periods were suppressed and I had pains in my back and side, and severe headaches. I had pimples on my face, my complexion was sallow, my sleep was disturbed, I had nervous spells, was very tired and had no ambition. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has worked a charm in my case and has regulated me. I worked in a mill among hundreds of girls and have recommended your medicine to many of them."
—Miss ESTELLA MARGUE, 110 Thwing St., Saint Clair, Pa.
There is nothing that teaches more than experience. Therefore, such letters from girls who have suffered and were restored to health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound should be a lesson to others. The same remedy is within reach of all.
If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential), Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

This Will Stop Your Cough in a Hurry
Save $2 by Making This Cough Syrup at Home.

This recipe makes 16 ounces of better cough syrup than you could buy ready made for $2.50. A few doses usually conquer the most obstinate cough—stops even whooping cough quickly. Simple as it is, no better remedy can be had at any price.
Mix two cups of granulated sugar with one cup of warm water, and stir for 5 minutes. Put 2½ ounces of Pinex (fifty cents' worth) in a 16-ounce bottle; then add the Sugar Syrup. It has a pleasant taste and lasts a family a long time. Take a teaspoonful every one, two or three hours.
You can feel this take hold of a cough in a way that means business. Has a good tonic effect, braces up the appetite, and is slightly laxative, too, which is helpful. A handy remedy for hoarseness, croup, bronchitis, asthma and all throat and lung troubles.
The effect of pine on the membranes is well known. Pinex is the most valuable concentrated compound of Norwegian white pine extract, and is rich in gaidacol and all the natural healing pine elements. Other preparations will not work in this formula.
This Pinex and Sugar Syrup recipe has attained great popularity throughout the United States and Canada. It has never been imitated, though never successfully. A guaranty of absolute satisfaction, or money promptly refunded, goes with this recipe. Your druggist has Pinex, or will get it for you. If not, send to the Pinex Co., Toronto, Ont.

looked up at him, her own were very dim. "My poor child," he said gently. "they would not accept ball! We did our best." "I am sure of that," she said gently, and turned away from him for a moment in silence. "How did he bear it?" she asked steadily then, looking at him with brave steadfast eyes. "Well and bravely," he answered warmly. "There was a sad dignity about him which disarmed even those who were inclined to be bitter against him." "I am glad to know that," she said. "Will they let me see him to-morrow?" "Yes; if you are well enough and equal to it, you may see him to-morrow." "Thank you, I shall be well enough. And Guy?" "Guy remained at Adinbrooke; he wished to be near Sir Hugh." "That is like Guy," she said softly; and during the rest of the day she was very quiet.

CHAPTER LI.

Punctually at twelve o'clock on the following day, Lady Oliphant's brougham drove through the quiet streets of the quaint old town of Adinbrooke, and turned up the hill where the old castle stood which was now used as the county jail, and drew up at its gate. The morning was fine and clear, and as Shirley Glynn and Lady Oliphant passed into the building, a ray of wintry sunshine fell on the younger woman's lovely face, touching it with a momentary brightness which faded as they entered the comparative darkness within. The governor, a stately military-looking man, with a stern yet not unkindly face and a heavy iron-gray mustache, came down to meet them. He had met Lady Oliphant before, and shook hands with her in a frank friendly fashion, bowing low to Shirley as he did so, and looking at her with interested eyes as they went on together. He had heard much of her beauty and grace, and her name had been familiar to him when she had been a queen in society and feted and sought after and followed.

His face was touched with a deep compassion as he preceded the two ladies to his own private room, where Guy was waiting, looking haggard and worn and pale, as if the night had been a long and restless one. Shirley gave him her hand in silence, and a gleam of tenderness stole into his weary eyes as they met hers, while his heart ached for her with an agony which had never ceased even for a moment. If he could have spared her any further suffering, he would gladly have done so at the cost of his own life; but this trouble nothing could lessen—pains, influence, wealth, all were alike powerless.

"I must ask you to wait a few minutes," Captain Graham said courteously. "It will not be longer, I think."
