—In the Chancery Court at Toronto yesterday the suit of Mrs. Annie Leys, widow of John Leys, for dower in the entire estate, which in his will Mr. Leys forgot to mention, came up. By that document he left to her $5,000 a year, a house free of taxes, and to his nephews and nices a property on Huntley street. These bequests, it is claimed, do not hinder the widow from claiming dower out of the whole estate. The chancellor reserved judgment.

Chief of Police Williams this morning received the appended self-explanatory letter. As yet the police have no idea of the identity of the man.

CHARLEMONT, MASS., Nov. 22, 1892.

To the Chief of Police of London, Untario-Sir: To-day we held an Inquest on the body of a dead man, found on a little eminence in a woods near therailway station in this down. This was a man apparently 60 years of age, but the remains were in an eminenee in a woodsnear therailway station in this town. This was a man apparently 60 years of age, but the remains were in an advanced stage of decay, rendering identification impossible. No letters or papers were found on or about the body disclosing its name, but he had a railread ticket stamped on the back "London, Grand Trunk Railway, Sept. 16, 1892"; on front, "Frem station samped on back to Boston, Mass." In a satchel supporting his head were found a change of underwear, comb, brush, collars, alippers and several pocket handkerchiefs, one having stamped on the corner". Johnson." An empty vial at his side, and a pint bottle of alcohol and one of whisky, half gone, in the satchel, were all the condiments found. He was well dressed in a suit of deep blue, and appearing as having rolled out of one pocket we found a silp of paper inclosing $35, United States bank bills. With the exception of a few trinkets we have enumerated all we found around or upon this unknown person, and shall thankfully receive any further information of him or his. Yours, V. M. PORTER, trial justice."
