Revival of the Lord Mayor's Show -- A Snub for Great Britain -- The Sultan's Deposition Suggested.

Dilemma of the Honorable Dudley Marjoribanks -Southampton's Shipping Interests Threatened.

THE TURKISH CRISIS. points to the fact that the affairs of Turkey are approaching a crisis, and it gelical pastor, who warned the recruits ts significant that only two solutions of the difficulty are discussed by the European press—the entire dismember—went of Turkey or the deposition of the ment of Turkey or the deposition of the Sultan. The powers are now showing ed that the Russian embassy has rethat they will no longer be hoodwinked ported the matter to St. Petersburg. by the Sultan's promises, which are never intended to be kept. The final stage of the diplomatic pressure was the Sultan. The next step will un-doubtedly be a conference of the representatives of the great powers, which will discuss not merely the administration of Armenia, but the fate of the Turkish Empire. The powers are in complete unison, and this fact is greeted everywhere, except at the Yildiz Klosk; for the Sultan, in appointing the Halil Rifat Cabinet, composed of puppets and reactionists, is simply courting ruin.

SNUB TO GREAT BRITAIN. It is learned from Constantinople from his official position in pursuance Mayor's Day. The formal parade from of the representations of the British Mansion House to the law courts where significant. It is not only an open and ticularly, as in addition to the decoration bestowed upon Bahri Pasha, the Official Gazette publishes a long list of the names of Turkish officials in Armenia who have been decorated by the Sultan for their "good services." fact, it almost seems as if the Sultan is openly defying the powers.

KIAMIL PASHA'S DISMISSAL. It has transpired that the dismissal of Kiamil Pasha from the post of Grand Vizier was due to the Sultan towards Armenia. Kiamil Pasha left sumed by Hall Rifat. Upon arriving at his home Kiamil Pasha was taken ill, but on the following day, Thursday, claring that the was too sick to travel.

A GREAT STRIKE. There is still the great shipbuilding livery. strike at Belfast and on the Clyde to trouble the British mind. This struggle between capital and labor is now fairly under way. On the Clyde 4,000 engineers are idle and 1,500 are out of work at Belfast. The engineers' society reded by their band; boys from the Gordplied by calling out, on Thursday, all the engineers on the Clyde who were ing of the little Highland pipers of that towards increased exports of English work in the yards, sympathizing with the Belfast masters. The result is that nine big yards on the Clyde are idle, including the Barclays, Inglis, Mayor, is immensly popular and the idle, including the Barclays, Inglis, Hendersons, J. & G. Thompson and the Fairfield company. There is little sign today on the men's side of yielding. tion in They claim that they can hold out for casion. ten years if necessary, as the society has $1,000,000 in funds, and by a levy of sixpence (12 cents) weekly on each member, the officers of the society can anger is felt towards the Sultan, due 15, when Prince Karl of Denmark, as the strike lasts.

One important feature of the struggle, however, is the fact that two yards —the Thompsons and the Fairfields—which closed in sympathy with the Belfast employes, have Government work, which they wished to expedite. This work is now at a standstill, and many of the newspapers strongly denounce the agreement which so interferes with the naval work.

The St. James' Gazette vigorously protests against this stoppage of work, and says that the action of the firms in so doing out of smypathy, when they urgent national work on hand, would in certain circumstances amount to high treason, adding that the Government would do well to prohibit such agreements. The important announcement is now made that three of the Clyde firms have decided to withdraw from the combination and open their yards, and it is rumored that others will follow their example. It is also stated in Belfast that the masters there have received a forcible intimation from the Government that it is extremely desirable that their dispute with their employes should be mediated as soon as possible in order to avert a prolonged struggle. A GHASTLY OBJECT.

The mystery of Cromwell's head supposed to have been found, transfixed by a pike-head and discolored by smoke, after having been preserved in spirits, was hidden up a chimney and exhibited in a show, is still attracting much attention, and it is probable that a committee will be appointed to investigate and report upon the authenticity of the remains of the great Protector. The Chronicle yesterday published a page history of the travels of the relic, with a careful drawing of the head, as it now appears—a ghastly object, with the dry skin still clinging to the chestnut hair of the scalp, and with a sprinkling of the same colored hair on the chin and under lip, which is regarded as additional proof of the authenticity of the head, as Cromwell refused to shave for some weeks be-fore his death. The halberd end, or pike-head, pierces the head right from the neck to the top of the skull, and close to the bridge of the nose there is a mark resembling Cromwell's historic

GUARDING THE SULTAN.

A Constantinople dispatch says: Great give the strikers £1 ($5) weekly as long to his choice of Ministers. It was thought that possibly an attempt might be made on the life of his Majesty as he went from the palace to the mosque to take part in the ceremony known as the selamik The large number of guards who keep the route when the Sultan goes to the mosque to offer his prayers, was greatly increased and a close watch was kept on every side for suspicious characters by the police and gendarmes. There is no doubt that the empire is passing through one of most critical periods that has threatened it for years. The heir to the throne has no better policy than the Sultan, so no advantage would be gained by deposing the latter in favor of the former. The Young Turkey party aim at the removal of both, and the substitution in the place of Reshad Effendi, the heir to the throne-a healthy-minded agriculturist who dislikes intrigues.

Advices from the interior show that great destitution is prevailing, and that the suffering from this cause surpasses that resulting from the massacres. A GERMAN VIEW. The correspondent of the Tageblatt in Constantinople telegraphs to his paper that he is in a position to affirm that no warlike complications are likely to arise from the Armenian Friedrichsruhe say that Prince Behind the soothing semiofficial assertions remains a combination of unexplained facts suggesting that it is the intention of Germany to play the part of the honest broker in the matter The principal one of these facts is the action of Count Goluchowski, the Austrian Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, in first making overtures to Lord Salisbury, calling attention to the fact that it would greatly strengthen the position of England if the Triple Alliance should be taken into the alliance of powers on the Turkish question, on condition that Austria would institute operations, if required, to protect the Macedonian population, Austria's geographical position enabling her to do so at a moment's notice. sent of the English Premier to this virtual proposal was obtained under Lord Salisbury's conviction that England would require a strong backing against the coalition of Russia and SOUTHAMPTON ALARMED. The announcement that the Hamburg-American steamers propose to call at Plymouth has caused a great agitation in Southampton. The people have been so busily occupied with efforts directed to the knocking out of Liverpool that they never gave a thought to the possibility of having a rival on the southern coast. The local press is relieving its feelings by comically violent abuse of Plymouth's natural inferiority, and setting forth Southampton's manifold advantages. Meanwhile the Plymouth people appear to be awakening to the fact that they have not made near enough of their position and merits as a port, and it looks as though they would soon set at work and make a bold bid for the North German Lloyds and even the American liners. They will have to fight the Southwestern Railroad, which, having spent millions on Southamp-ton, naturally do not desire a rival further south; but the Great Western also runs to Plymouth, and ought to be glad to compete with its energetic rival.

EXPENSIVE AMERICAN SHIPS. The English newspapers are circulating the report that it cost 20 per cent, or $1,000,000 more, to build the steamers St. Louis and St. Paul in America than the price of the New York and Paris, built in this country. Probably the Messrs. Camp will be able to rebut this statement.

DUDLEY'S DILEMMA.

Polite society in London in general and all the gilded youths who haunt against the Hon. Dudley Majoribanks, ance of his stern parents on the scene heartbreak. She is now suing for damages for her blighted prospects and depreciated value in the matrimonial market. The figure at which these things are appraised is said to be $50,-000. For a time a compromise seemed probable, but the lady held out for a sum which Lord Tweedmouth regarded as exorbitant and indignantly refused to pay, although he is an enormously wealthy man.

The youthful defendant does not deny a flirtation more or less mild. Indeed, he could not well do so, seeing that for months, while the fever lasted, he pretty well lived at the Gaiety Theater, and six nights a week escort ed Birdie home to her parental nest; but he denies most emphatically that he ever promised marriage, and his lawyers, by way of additional precaution, have put in the plea that if marriage was promised it was value-less in law because made when the defendant was a minor. The case will come into court in about a fortnight.

> MOVEMENTS OF ROYALTY. The court will remove from Balmoral to Windsor Castle on Nov. whose betrothal to Princess Maud, youngest daughter of the Prince of Wales, was recently announced, will visit the Queen. The Prince and Princess of Wales, Princess Maud and other members of the Prince's family will be present. The Queen will then give her royal assent to the marriage of Prince Karl and Princess Maud. Her Majesty's entourage urge the necessity of another physician-in-ordinary being attached to the court while it is at Windsor. The duties of Dr. Reid, the physician-in-ordinary at present in attendance on the Queen, are irksome. He is unable to move beyond immediate call, night or day, and it is therefore desired that Dr. Ellison, of fore desired that Dr. Ellison, of Windsor, be appointed to assist him. The Queen, moreover, maintains her health, and there is no need of a second doctor being in attendance.

CABLE NOTES. The Prince of Wales' birthday was celebrated Saturday in London, at Windsor, and at Sandringham, with the usual honors. The Prince was born Nov. 9, 1841.

A supplementary treaty between China and Japan regarding the evacu-ation by the latter of the Liao Tung Peninsula was signed on Friday last.
