Made by the Liberal Leaders tary of State for Foreign Affairs, made a vigorous protest before the meeting to the statement made by Lord Salisbury in the House of Lords, in reply to a question in regard to the Cretan situation, in which he re-ferred the Earl of Kimberley to the speeches made in the French Chamber of Deputies by Premier Meline and M. of Deputies by Fremier Meilne and M. Hanotaux, Foreign Minister, setting forth the policy of the powers in the matter. France's policy, Lord Kimberley said, is, therefore, according to Lords Salisbury, that of Great Britain, and is based upon the maintenance of the Ottoman Empire.

Sir William Harcourt said to Lord Salisbury's statement that such a disgraceful, abject answer had never been given by a British Minister to a British Parliament. The nation, he said, had never been exposed to a greater humiliation than it is now. when it is chained and coerced by the penace of wars in which it has no concern, to abstain from doing what it is under the highest obligations of honor to do, and compelled to do what its-conscience condemns. Sir William nounced the integrity of the Otto-Vienna, March 18.-It is asserted in man Empire as a shame, every breach in which, he declared, was a benefit to mankind, and paid a tribute to Greece for the steps she had taken. It is by far the most lucid and intelligent talk on the tariff I can recall from him. His declaration in so many words that free trade is England's proper policy, and one she must never abandon, ought to set finally at rest the grosque notion propagated from time to me among us that the Tories are somehow going to bring in protection.

It is interesting, too, to observe that Lord Salisbury seems to thrive physically as well as in the matter of mental buoyancy. In the troubled times years ago, it must have been six or seven, I recorded a statement solemnly made to me on high medical authority that he had Bright's disease, and had been warned that he had only a little time to live. She left port on Feb. 21 and experienced strong westerly gales gradually increasing in violence until March 3, when a veritable hurricane was blowing. At 6 o'clock in the morning a terrific explosion in the forehold blew the hatch covers into the air, killed one seaman, and injured the chief mate. Dense columns of thick rellow smoke poured out of the open A BOXER, BUT NOT A FIGHTER. He due the fire, but it steadily crept furplates grew hotter and hotter. For 40 hours, or until the early morning of the 5th, the Allan Liner stood by, and then the weather moderated enough to make it possible for a lifeboat to live. As the Rialto boats were all gone, Capt. France, of the Carthaginian, ordered his own boats manned, and after great struggle the entire crew were taken off without mishap. Capt. Rippet said that when he abandoned the Rialto the plate seams were gaping, and there was fifteen feet of water in the main hold, so that her sinking was only a matter of a few hours. The rescued crew saved none of their effects. The Rialto was built in 1878, at Hull. England. She was 310 feet long, and 1,799 tons burden. She was owned by Thomas Wilson, Sons & Co., agents here were Sanderson & Son.
