This syrup is pleasant to the taste, and unsurpassed for relieving, healing and curing the affections of the throat and lungs, coughs, colds, croup, etc.

THE ADMIRAL'S WEDDING

Whole Affair Wrapped in the Hero's Favorite Secrecy.

Wedding Breakfast at the Residence of the Bride's Mother—Off to New York.

Washington, Nov. 10.—The arrangements for the wedding of Admiral Dewey and Mrs. Mildred M. Hazen at the rectory of St. Paul's Catholic Church yesterday were made with the same secrecy which has attended the whole affair. After procuring the license for the wedding, Lieut. Caldwell called on Father Mackin, of St. Paul's, of which Mrs. Hazen is a communicant, and arranged for the wedding.

As Dewey is not a Catholic, a special dispensation was required for the performance of the ceremony, and this was procured by Father Mackin from Bishop Curtis, vicar-general of the diocese of Baltimore, who granted it in the absence of Cardinal Gibbons. Father Mackin went to Baltimore for this purpose.

THE BRIDE'S GRAY GOWN.

At 9:45 in the morning two carriages containing the wedding party drove up before the modest red brick rectory in the rear of St. Paul's. The general party consisted of the bride, not a single spectator was present as the party alighted. Admiral Dewey and Lieut. Caldwell quickly stepped from their carriage, and the admiral, dressed in a black frock coat, and not a single spectator was present as the party alighted.

Mrs. Hazen was gowned in a pearl-gray silk, over which she wore a long stylish black wrap trimmed with silver fox and lined with lavender silk. The admiral wore a black frock coat, gray trousers and a silk hat.

On entering the rectory they were ushered into the reception room, where the admiral was presented to Father Mackin and the two clergymen who were to assist. On being presented to Father Mackin the admiral said it gave him additional happiness to know that he was to be married by a clergyman who had at one time followed the sea. Father Mackin replied he was glad to hear that, and that he had become an admiral he had determined to become a priest.

Mrs. Hazen removed her wrap, and she and the admiral immediately took their places at the altar. The ceremony was performed with the usual solemnity and grace. The bride wore a long, flowing white gown, and the admiral was in full uniform. The ceremony was witnessed by a few friends and relatives.

THE CLERGYMAN'S ADVICE.

"Before pronouncing the solemn words which will bind you forever together, may I not first suggest to you a moment the things that are around us, and to look upward. We are the children of God, and we have a right to hope in His joy and in sorrow. We need His help in both our joys and never more than now, for, although the promises you are about to make are easily made, and the work of a lifetime, their fulfillment is the work of a lifetime. We call upon you to witness and to bless this union of which he is the author, and which he made sacred. No matter how general the blessing may be to each of you, there are in every life moments of trial when we, in our weakness, need the help that comes from above, and that help can be given in its fullness in return for the faithful fulfillment of our obligation.

"The higher your position in life the more incumbent upon you is the faithful fulfillment of your obligation and the more rigorous the account you will be exacted. The neglect of these obligations will cast its shadow upon marks the beginning of a career which will make you wiser, better and more useful to your fellow-creatures in this life and the life beyond it, and when which binds you, as death alone can break it, may that last hour find the two hands as fondly clasped and the two hearts as closely joined as they are today. May the joys of this life be a foretaste of the joys that are to come."

THE WEDDING BREAKFAST.

Congratulations and felicitations followed, and the wedding party proceeded directly from the rectory to the residence of the bride's mother, Mrs. McLean, where a wedding breakfast was served. Father Mackin, who performed the ceremony, when a lad of 17, ran away from home with two other boys and went to sea. Father Mackin's sea career, however, was very brief. He said that he was a sailor, and was unfitted for the life of a sailor, and was unfitted to run a ship, and was unfitted to be a captain, and was unfitted to be a commander, and was unfitted to be a
