HIS RECORD. "What's been coming off. Gap?" asked an acquaintance, as Mr. Gap Johnson of Rumpus Ridge, limped into the crossroads store, and with a groan sank down on a nail keg. "Well, I'll just tell you, Lafe," was the reply, "I swapped for a mule yesterday, put a bridle on him and hopped onto his back. He jumped and throwed me off, and kicked me before I hit the ground." I hit the ground.' "Huh! Every time one of my mules, throws me off he kicks me twice before I strike the ground."

Without the Family. Dudley—"I think you were foolish, old man, to cut your vacation short and hurry back to the hot city."

Byron—"Perhaps I was; but needed a rest."

Ballade of Maidenly Popularity. She's such a demure little wren.
You don't notice the twink in her eye:

But when she's around with the man.
There's no one who passes her by.
The reason it's plain to decry:
If you ever come under her fist. You'll notice-as frequently as I-She closes her eyes when she's kissed.

You ask how this comes to my ken?
Observation amends my reply; For when men are together, and when

She lightsomely trips her way by. Her glance at the party is sly.

And before you can bid them desist.
In chorus the fellows all cry: "She closes her eyes when she's kissed!"

L'Envoi. Though she's most undeniably shy.
In view of this damaging list. Don't you think there's a good reason

She closes her eyes when she's

Dizzy Walking. Blake—"Hear about Jennings' accident? No? Well, he broke a leg," Drake—"How did it happen?"
Blake—"Well, you know that he walks in his sleep? Well, he had to make a trip last week, and he tookan upper berth."

Slight Changes.
Teacher—"Willie, what were the chief changes of the animals of the Jurrasaic and Triassic periods?"
Willie—"Their tails were different." Teacher-"Wrong." Willie—"But, teacher, the other day you said that the changes were most.
