Lambton County Corn Show a Big Success

The county corn show held in Petrolia last week was an unqualified success in every way. The showing in every class was exceptionally fine and the attendance of agriculturists from the surrounding districts was all that could be desired. The address on hydro-electric power and hydro-electric radials were the interesting topics discussed at the Wednesday evening meeting by Mr. J. W. Lyon, of Guelph, president of the Hydro-Electric Railway Commission of Western Ontario. The members of the county council attended this session to seek information as to the local situation. In reviewing the history of Niagara power in the province since 1906, Mr. Lyons made many claims for the merits of Government ownership; there are certain monopolies, certain franchises which should belong to the people, and Niagara Falls is one of them, he said. He explained the basis on which power is charged for and also the steps necessary to secure survey for a radial line. The advantages of hydro on the farm were also dilated upon to a considerable extent. A number of questions were asked the speaker by the audience relative to power questions. In reply to a question as to what the Government would do to a municipality refusing to take power, Mr. Lyons said that there were several ways of dealing with such a case, but he did not know which one the Government would adopt.

THIS STOMACH REMEDY HELPS YOUR FRIENDS

Almost every day some grateful person comes into our store and tells us of benefits derived from the use of Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets. Knowing how much good they have done others and knowing what they are made of, we feel sure they will help you. So great is our faith in them that we urge you to try them entirely at our risk, with our personal promise that if they don't do all you expect them to do and make your stomach comfortable and healthy and your digestion easy, we'll hand back your money.

We couldn't endorse anything any more strongly than we do Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets. Containing Pepsin and Bismuth, two of the greatest digestive aids known to medical science, they soothe the stomach, check heartburn and distress, promote a natural flow of the gastric juice, and help regulate the bowels. Remember, if they don't make your digestion so easy and comfortable that you can eat whatever you like whenever you like, we want you to come back and tell us and get your money. Sold only at the more than 7,000 Rexall Stores, and in this town only at our store. Three sizes, 25c., 50c. and $1.00. J. W. McLAREN, Watford.

At the first meeting of the Wyoming Council for 1914, Wilmer Smith was appointed treasurer; H. G. Taylor, clerk; John McAuslan and Edward Fenwick, pound keepers; Wm. Grainger, John Maw, G. P., and John Page, fence viewers; Henry McAuslan and John Richardson, auditors.

An enterprising chicken raiser, who has gone into the business in Alaska, writes to the Department of Agriculture that he is clearing $1.00 per year on each hen he owns.

It is estimated that there are about 7,000,000 farmers' families in the United States today, taking the word farmer in its broadest sense and including all those who live in the open country.

In Syria, recently, olive trees 499 years old are still bearing fruit of fine quality and in great abundance. Their age is proved by the original trust deeds of the land on which they grow.

It is not a very good plan to have ducks shipped from a distance, because they cannot endure close confinement without suffering. A duck loses weight very rapidly while being shipped.

Could Hardly Live for Asthma. Writes one man who after years of suffering has found complete relief through Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Asthma Remedy. Now he knows how needless has been his suffering. This matchless remedy gives sure help to all afflicted with asthma. Inhaled as smoke or vapor it brings the help so long needed. Every dealer has it or can get it for you from his wholesaler.

Paying Our Debts

Any man who makes a pretense at being honest will try to pay for what he gets. But having admitted the justness of the claim that he do so, he may be surprised at the wideness of the application of the principle that lies back of it. The earth pays for what it gets—the rain and the sunshine, and the breezes of heaven—with fruitfulness, waving grain, buds and blossoms and fruits, and the smiling green of fields. It isn't a mere sponge, receiving always and never responding to the giver. It gives back everything with an added something of its own. The earth is honest, generously honest. And a man ought not to be any less so. He is getting every day and hour and moment of his life, getting from all sides and in all possible ways. From the God who rules his life, down to the little child who meets him on the street, everyone gives him something. If he is going to be as honest as the earth is, he will have to be busy all the time paying his debts, giving back what he gets so freely and generously to every one he can, and in all ways that he can. If he doesn't, he is something of a sponge, instead of a man. This thing of paying one's debt is indeed no small or easy matter, is it?—Christian Guardian.

Irreverence in Public Worship

The following editorial from The Kingsville Reporter is very timely and to the point:

We are advancing these days on all lines; but in none perhaps more rapidly than church affairs. Advancement, however, does not mean improvement. We have known men, customs and measures to advance with retrograde movement. This perhaps is not so apparent to younger people as to those of more mature years. Those of us who look back thirty, forty or fifty years, will remember that when we went to church, it was always with father and mother and we sat in the same pew with them, sang out of the same hymn book, and at prayer we knelt, and at the close of the service the congregation shook hands all around and did not disperse for perhaps fifteen minutes.

But what a change! Father and mother take their accustomed places, but the boys have dropped into the back seats; they seldom attempt to sing, leaving that onerous duty to the choir. Our dads are too fine or the floor too dirty to reverently kneel during prayer and we sit down, some with head bowed and eyes closed, but the greater majority bolt upright, looking from side to side over the church, and in other ways displaying bad taste. When the service is over we bolt for the door as if we were in a hurry to catch a car—no time for friendly greeting or enquiry after the shut-ins, nor to even look at strangers, much less to speak to them, and then we wonder why more people do not attend church. The social side of our natures is crushed out in the everlasting hustle, and reverence in worship has nearly lost its meaning.

Denmark sells to Great Britain about $5,000,000 worth of butter every year.

A new vegetable growth, poisonous to cattle and sheep, has been found in western Colorado growing in large quantities along irrigation canals. It has caused the death of a large number of stock and the department of agriculture is working to eradicate the plant.

A fruit called durian, grown in the Philippines, on a tree resembling the elm, is as large as a coconut, has a shiny shell and contains a creamy pulp which combines some of the flavors of a delicious custard with those of a fine cheese. American soldiers have dubbed the fruit vegetable limburger cheese.

Scientific efficiency receives a new application. The French army no longer sets the long bodied and broad-shouldered soldier on a horse and makes a cavalry swordsman of him. It puts him on the ground, because his length of limb makes him a good marcher and places the short-legged man on horseback, where his lower center of gravity makes him sit on his horse better.

It is estimated that every year 50,000,000 tons of potash are carried into the oceans by the streams which enter into them.
