A Car of Pleasing Design

The design of the new Willys-Overland Light Four is notably pleasing and satisfying in lines and proportions.

Crowned fenders, sweeping in their curves, and unobstructed running boards, emphasize the long, low appearance.

This car is a beautiful example of the modern tendency toward straight, flowing lines.

The attractive finish—in keeping with the other distinctive qualities of this Willys-Overland car—completes its thoroughly stylish appearance.

And the tremendous volume of the Willys-Overland factories makes it possible to offer this efficient, stylish and comfortable car at a reasonable price.

"IT PAYS TO ADVERTISE"

Successful merchants never sit down and wait for business to come to them. They get out and work for it. "Printer's ink," rightly used, is recognized as the best magnet for working up trade and drawing it to the store of the judicious advertiser.

IN WILD DOBRUDJA.

A Lonely Land That Has Never Been Civilized.

Now we are in the Dobrudja, (which means "good pasture"), the name given to the wild, rolling, God-forsaken plain which lies on the right of the river opposite the equally lonely and deserted Baragan steppe. Between these two vast stretches of open country the Danube winds and curves, sometimes shallow, sometimes deep, around sprawling, marshy islands, the two largest of which measure respectively fifty and forty miles in length and about ten miles in breadth.

It is difficult to describe utter emptiness, utter loneliness. All the objects and scenes of life with which one has become familiar on the voyage now vanish. The floating mills, the white villages, the bright costumes, the sounds and sights of human activity are no more to be seen or heard. The East and the atmosphere of the East holds this land in thrall. The political and military power of Islam may have retreated, but its ideals and doctrines remain, and the very air of the Dobrudja brings supineness, fatalism, a belief in the uselessness of combating anything, especially the silent, irresistible forces of Nature, the will of a passionless, remorseless Deity.

Along the muddy, sunken river banks, the rushes and stunted willows are a brilliant green, and on the islands, glowing in great vivid patches behind the rushes, low scrub and tamarisk, there are wonderful flowers—mellilot, the sweet-scented clover, convolvulus, wild roses, blue veronica, chicory, snap-dragon. Up and down stream go tow-boats and lighters and sailing vessels, manned by brightly-clad Turks, Romanians, or Greeks. Here and there one of these ships may be seen stuck high and dry on a muddy reef, a derelict, driven to destruction by one of the sudden violent squalls so common on the lower Danube. But it is not the things near at hand which attract and rivet the attention; it is the vast, limitless solitudes beyond which seem to cast a spell upon the traveler. Look there to the left across the rising grassy desert of the Baragan. Farched under the burning summer sun the steppe drifts and rolls away, away far as eye can reach. The soil is yellow, and the whole landscape is touched by the same dead, dull hue. Out there is a desert, a desert whose monotony is broken only by a few yellow roads, or tracks, where the saffron dust lies a foot deep, to rise in blinding, choking clouds with the passing of every wandering bullock caravan, or sleep and swine-herd. Sometimes the grass gives place to maize, but the grass and maize are yellow—yellow grass covering a boundless, undulating, melancholy desert. Here and there, at rare intervals, are villages, or rather clusters of rude, clay, wattle-roofed huts surrounded by tall, decrepit, wattle fences. Summer may be terrible here, but winter is still more awful when the snow covers the face of the earth, when the fierce Russian wind sweeps by with hurricane force, leaving men and beasts frozen stark in death; when the wolves muster to satisfy their hunger and the ravens croak over the icy fields. Civilization cannot tame the Dobrudja; civilization may bring railways and bridges, but the homes and thoughts and customs of the inhabitants are not more civilized to-day than they were in the days of the Roman conquest.

England's Awakening.

"This war has awakened England. It has made the working-man work at full-tilt for the first time in his life. He has been willing to do it, because the product served a national purpose instead of the profit of another person. He has been physically able to do it, because an increased wage gave him better food. He has discovered how to do it, because the pressure of necessity has unlocked brain cells which in ordinary times would have required a term of education to co-ordinate. The war has turned the middle-class home inside out, and freed the respectable unemployed into usefulness. It has given new and more active forms of employment to women caught in domestic service and the parasitic trades of 'refined' dressmaking, millinery, and candy manufacture. Finally, the war has given a career to upper-class Englishmen. For the first time in their lives they feel they have found something active to do through noble sacrifice. The sigh of relief that went up at the discovery that life was at last worth living, if only because of its brevity, was echoed in the poetry of officers as it drifted back from the trenches."—Arthur Gleason, in the February Century.

PERFECT HEALTH IS EVERY WOMAN'S BIRTHRIGHT.

A Prescription That From Girlhood to Old Age Has Been a Blessing to Womanhood.

When a girl becomes a woman, when a woman becomes a mother, when a woman passes through middle life, are the three periods of life when health and strength are most needed to withstand the pain and distress often caused by severe organic disturbances.

At these critical times women are best fortified by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, an old remedy of proved worth that keeps the entire womanly system in excellent condition.

Mothers, if your daughters are weak, lack ambition, are troubled with headaches, lassitude and are pale and sickly, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is just what they need to surely bring the bloom of health to their cheeks and make them strong and healthy.

For all ailing women Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is just the right medicine. During the last fifty years it has banished from the lives of tens of thousands of women pain, misery and distress. It makes weak women strong, sick women well.

If you are a sufferer, if your daughter, mother, sister, need help, get Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription in liquid or tablet form from any medicine dealer to-day. Then address Dr. Pierce, Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y., and get confidential medical advice entirely free.

Every woman should be careful that the liver is active and the poisons are not allowed to clog the system—get rid of these poisons by taking Dr. Pierce's Pellets, which regulate and invigorate stomach, liver and bowels. Keep the body clean inside as well as outside!

How to preserve health and beauty is told in Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser. It is free. Send Doctor Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., fifty cents or stamps to cover wrapping and mailing only.
