The World's Potato Crop.

According to the report issued by The American Agriculturist there has been a general shortage in the potato crop the world over. In the United States alone there is a falling off of 30 per cent. in the yield. The shortage in the world's crop has been placed as high as one thousand million bushels. This is no doubt exaggerated, as growers never report their full yield. Nevertheless there is a serious shortage. A full world's production of potatoes is about four thousand million bushels, of wheat two thousand five hundred, of corn two thousand five hundred, of corn two thousand million bushels. It will be thus seen that the potato crop is the principal food product of the modern nations.

The feature of Canadian immigration for October was the number of arrivals from the United States. Both settlers and those on prospecting tours south of the international boundary line are looking towards the Canadian North-West, and there are good prospects of a large movement in this direction next spring.

Wedding Bells.

The wedding of Miss Helen Eliza, eldest daughter of J. A. Burns of the St. James hotel, to Captain Cornelius. Ryder of the barkentine Fredericka, at six o'clock yesterday morning, attracted many of the friends of the happy couple to St. James church, where the event was solemnized by the Rev. Mr. Dewdney, rector of that church. The bride was attended by her friend, Miss Zebie Murray, while Andrew Burns, brother of the bride, supported the groom. The bride, who it a general favourite and has many friends, was, the recipient of many beautiful and costly presents. Mr. and Mrs. Ryder left by the C. P. R. for a bridal tour to Boston and New York. After their return they will reside in Granville, Nova Scotia—St. John Sun, Nov. 5th.

On the Canadian Pachic.

We are called to the dining car. Here we have a sumptious dinner, served in every way to my satisfaction. We think of the meals we used to get at Vanceboro. We will not need any there this time.

A gruff young man goes through the farce of examining luggage. Passengers protest against this invasion of rights, but the efficer of Uncle Sam's customs orders the little bags opened, but never looks at anything, scribbles his chalk upon the dear little bags, and passes. We have to travel quite a distance in the state of Maine.

At Vanceboro our cars are well thinned out; the majority taking train for Boston by the Maine Central line. We are left with few but whom are thoroughly Canadian.

England. Mount Royal rises up in the distance, and lying beside its base is the noble city, from which tower the lofty spires and many chimneys from its numerous manufactories. We seem to be passing it. We really have to pass about five miles to get upon the Canadian Pacific Bridge, our way over the St. Lawrence. Crossing the St. Lawrence by this bridge we get a splendid view of the mighty river.

We are not long in Montreal before we are upon the top of Mount Royal. What a splendid view it is. We have been here many times before but never did this view appear so grand, and never before were we more impressed with the grandeur of the noble city before us. The winter port of Canada is fortunate in being the nearest of any of the maritime ports to this grand city. The exports from Montreal increase by leaps and bounds. Its grain exports this year will exceed by ten millions of bushels that of last year. The only article that shows a falling off is that of apples, but this is little by comparison with its increase of grain exports.

It is economy to get Hood's Sarsaparilla be-cause there is more medicinal value in Hood's cause there is more medicinal value in Hood's Sarsaparilla than in any other. Every bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla contains 100 doses and will average, taken according to directions, to last a month, while others last but a fortnight.
