

vourites, those who receive almost unqualified recommendation as evangelical, are certainly most dangerous guides. How dangerous, may be well seen in the proceedings of what is called the German Evangelical Church Union; at the meeting of which, in September last, such men as Kruunacher, of Berlin; Wachern and Muller, of Halle, are found advocating the importance and necessity of confession, and particularly private confession;" and the body in general, led by Dr. Hengstenberg, yielding to the reaction on the continent, appear as the apologists of Romanism and the Jesuits.

We noticed a wholesale recommendation of Hengstenberg's Exposition of the Apocalypse, in an influential Baptist paper. What will our readers say to it, when they learn that the work teaches that death is "only a preliminary punishment to the wicked, who are sent into hell at the final judgment," if they have not in the meanwhile, in the intermediate state, attained to salvation?" and vindicates the worship of the saints? It is made acceptable, also, to the opponents of millenarian views, by the assumption that "the commencement of the millennium must be coincident with the christianization of the Germanic tribes."

A commercial gentleman well known to many of our readers, writing from a large and flourishing city, says, "I am not mistaken in the fact, that few of our American preachers of any denomination, preach the simple gospel of Christ. I think the effects of this are growing more and more serious; from appearances, soon there will be little or no piety in our churches. All the while, they are sounding the trumpet of self flattery, and telling what wonderful things we are accomplishing in the world."

Our voice may probably not reach across the lines, and so far as our influence there is concerned, we might have spared the trouble and pains of gathering together these remarks. But may we not find in them an occasion of renewed examination of the state of things amongst ourselves.—Toronto Christian Observer.

DIFFERENCE BETWEEN THE HEATHEN AT HOME AND IN FOREIGN LANDS.—A missionary in Syria says, "The lowest, most ignorant of your immigrants are the nearest thing you have to our field, and they resemble it just as a block of ice cut out and put in the sun does the mass from which it was taken. We stand on the great ice-field, and try our little sun-glass to melt it; and when we see signs of one liquid drop, clasp our hands with joy and send it to the Missionary Herald."
