MANY shabby things are often seen that with knowledge and energy might be made to look comparatively new, if people did not mind a certain amount of personal trouble and fatigue. and fatigue.

WHEN the income of the householder is small it is wise to lay aside a small sum weekly for the purchase of linen. A new pair of sheets, a new tablecloth, or half a dozen table napkins within ever six months would not be found very costly, and would represent a large amount of comfort and luxury in the house and increase your capability of keeping all around so neat and dainty that you need never be afraid to receive a visitor.

IT may not be known to all that the boiled frosting will go much further in covering a cake than that which is not cooked, and concake than that which is not cooked, and consequently is much less expensive. A little practice in making it will insure success every time. The bonly fear of failure comes from the darger of cooking the sugar too long. Let it, boil until it "hairs" or "threads" from the spoons then take it off from the stove and still briskly in the well broken whites of eggs. The quantity must be determined by your needs.

COOKING means the knowledge of all herbs and fruits, and balms and spices, and of all that is healing and sweet in fields and groves, and savoury in meats; it means carefulness, and inventiveness, and witchfulness, and willingness, and readiness of appliance; it means the economy of your great-grad mothers, and the science of modern chemists; it means English thoroughness and French art and Arabian hospitality; and it means, in fine, that you are to be perfectly and always "ladies"—"loaf-givers" and; as you are to see, imperatively, that everybody has something pretty to put on, so you are to has something pretty to put on, so you are to see, yet more imperatively, that everybody has something good to eat.—Ruskin.

BAKED APPLE DUMPLINGS.—Let those who enjoy an occasional dessert of apple dumplings try the following, and see if they do not find them preferable to the old-fashioned steamed ones, both as to flavour and digestibility. Pare and halve medium-sized tart apples of good quality. Make a crust of butter-milk and soda, the same as for histories, only only inting the abortaning. The biscuits, only omitting the shortening. The buttermilk should be free from any bitter buttermine should be free from any bitter taster not too sour, and tolerably rich. Knead in flour till just moderately stiff. Break off a piece of the dough and wrap it around half an apple, and lay in a greased pudding dish or dripping-pan. Serve all the apples in the same way, till the bottom of the dish is covered. Put a bit of butter about the size of a hazelnut, on the top of each dumpling, pressing it down slightly into the the size of a hazelnut, on the top of each dumpling, pressing it down slightly into the crust. Scatter a cup of good sugar over the top, and turn over all a cup of water—more or less, according to the amount of dumpling. Set into a hot oven, and bake till done and the apples soft. The water should be all dried out and the top crust delicately browned. Eat with butter and sugar, cream, or whatever is preserved.
