BRITISH DOMINION WINE.

Manufactured from the Best Canada Grapes without the use of either artificial coloring or distilled spirits in any form.

After repeated chemical analyses of the Wines made by Robert Bradford of No. 535 Parliament St., Toronto, I do not hesitate to pronounce them to be unsurpassed by any of the native Wines that have come under my observation.

Analyses show them to contain liberal amounts of the essential and saline elements, sugar and tannic acid etc. characteristic of true Wine and which modify materially the effects which would be produced by alcohol alone.

Retaining to a high degree the natural flavor of the grape, they serve the purpose of a pleasant table Wine as well as that of a most valuable medicinal Wine.

HEALTH AND HOUSEHOLD HINTS.

Rub a creaking hinge with a very soft lead pencil.

In packing gowns they will be found to crease very little if paper is placed between the folds.

Keep the piano closed at night and in damp weather; open on bright days and let the sun shine on the keys, as the light will keep them from turning yellow.

Lemon will do for the yellow white sailor what shoe polish does for the worn black one. Remove the ribbon band and with a slice of lemon clean the straw thoroughly.

A good broom holder may be made by putting two large screws—nails will answer—into the walls about two inches apart. Drop the broom between them, handle downward.

No matter how large the spot of oil, any carpet or woollen stuff can be cleaned by applying buckwheat plentifully, brushing it into a dustpan after a short time, and putting on fresh until the oil has disappeared.

To Clean Kid Gloves.—The following dry process of cleaning kid gloves has been found satisfactory: Prepare a generous quantity of cracker crumbs; button the gloves upon the hands and rub thoroughly with the crumbs. This process is especially efficacious in cleansing those of light undressed kid.

New Conveniences.—A coffee pot with a strainer of aluminum that will not rust nor corrode, a bread knife with the cutting edge in reflex curves that is warranted not to crumble or crush warm or very light bread, and liquid chocolate in pound cans ready for use in layer cake, are some of the new conveniences offered by the shops.

Important adjuncts to beauty are good teeth, red lips and a clear complexion. Strict cleanliness and frequent visits to dentists will secure the first. Parents cannot take too good care of their children's teeth. Instead of having them crooked and deformed, by a little forethought and slight expense they could have them made straight and well proportioned.

Broiled Shad.—Wash the fish and wipe it carefully. Split it down the back, season with pepper and salt, and lay flesh-side down on a buttered grid iron or boiler. When brown on this side turn it and cook it on the other. A medium sized fish will require about twenty minutes' cooking. Serve on a warm dish with bits of butter sprinkled over it. Garnish with slices of lemon.

When preparing onions for cooking hold them below the surface of the water in a deep pan and your eyes will not be affected, though you should pare and slice a large quantity. This method is used in pickling establishments, where bushels of them are put up daily; but remember the hands, knife and onions must be kept under the water. It is a good plan to have two pans of water when the onions are to be sliced, so that they may be pared in one pan and then thrown into the other one for slicing. Drain through a colander before cooking.

A number of little things in the care of one's brushes determines the length of their service and the condition in which they last. For one thing a hair brush should be washed often enough to keep it thoroughly cleansed. For this soda water or ammonia water must be used, and then the wet bristles set downward—do not turn it on its back—and left in the sun to dry. A nail or tooth brush should never be left in the holder with the bristles uppermost. It stands to reason that water will soak into them in time with such treatment, and that discoloration and general demoralization will follow.

Mutton Broth.—Mutton is less nutritious than beef but it is more easily digested, and can often be given when the latter should not be introduced into the system. The sticking-piece is the best part to use. Take one and one-half pounds of meat and one and one-half pints of water, and two tablespoonfuls of previously washed rice (if necessary the rice may be omitted), put on a slow fire and allow to come to the boiling point; then remove any fat that may come to the surface, and allow to simmer for three hours. Keep the pan covered so as to prevent the evaporation of the water; strain and rewarm as needed. Celery salt can often be added, and this imparts a nice flavor. The milky color is due to the rice.

The Supply of Towels.—Have plenty of towels. Comfort and cleanliness depend upon it. You can better go without some of your household decorations than to "get along" with a scant supply of towels. Have them of good size. They are more satisfactory and wear longer than the curtailed sort. Shall the towel be fringed? That is a matter of taste. Shall our towels be damask or huckaback? That is also a matter of taste. And it is a matter of complexion. Huckaback and Turkish are desirable for bath use. But for the face use the damask. With that you may rub the skin without producing a battered-up feeling which is certainly not advisable for the complexion. It is well to persistently rub the face, but it is never improved by scouring.
