

General Clark's command and carried them with us; Colonel Loughery proceeded on down the river, intending to overtake General Clark, until the 24th August, 1781, about 9 or 10 o'clock; we landed on the north bank of the Ohio for the purpose of cooking breakfast; we had killed a buffalo the evening before; where we landed was near the mouth of the Big Miami. As we were kindling the fires, the Indians commenced an attack upon us; there were about forty of the whites killed and the rest all taken prisoners, together with Colonel Loughery and all his officers; in about two hours after we were taken, one of the Indians tomahawked Colonel Loughery sitting on a log; I saw him after he was killed, and his scalp was taken off; deponent saith he had been intimately acquainted with Colonel Loughery for some years before the time of the campaign spoken of; knew he had a wife and some children: does not know how many. And further saith not.
