

	PAGE
Special damage involves definite temporal loss	247
Imputation of criminal offence	248
Charges of mere immorality not actionable	249
Slander of Women Act	250
Imputation of contagious disease	250
Evil-speaking of a man in the way of his business	251
Words indirectly causing damage to a man in his business	253

2. Defamation in General.

Defamation	254
"Implied Malice"	254
What is publication	255
Vicarious publication	257
Construction of words: Innuendo	258
Libellous tendency, not intention, the test: proof of tendency	259
Repetition and reports may be libellous	260

3. Exceptions.

Exceptions: fair comment	262
What is open to comment, matter of law	265
Whether comment is fair, matter of fact	266
Justification on ground of truth	267
Must be substantially complete	268
Mixed defence of justification and fair comment	268
Defendant's belief immaterial	271
Parliamentary and judicial immunity	271
Other persons in judicial proceedings	272
Reports of officers, &c.	273
Qualified immunity of "privileged communications"	274
Conditions of the privilege	275
"Express malice"	275
What are privileged occasions	276
Moral or social duty	277
Self-protection	278
Information for public good	278
Fair reports	279
Parliamentary papers	279
Parliamentary debates and judicial proceedings	280
Volunteered reports	282
Excess of privilege	283
Honest belief is not necessarily reasonable belief	284
Power of jury in assessing damages	285
Statutory defences	285
Limits of interrogatories in action for libel	286
Bad reputation of plaintiff	286
Injunctions	286