SUCCESSFUL HARBORD PUPILS.

Nearly Won the Prince of Wales' Scholarship Again This Year.

The following four pupils of the Harbord College Institute, figured in the scholarship list of the University of Toronto at the recent matriculation examination: Miss Gladys V. Lewis, 357 Markham street nearly repeated the performance of her fellow-Harbordite, Chas. E. Phillips, who won the Prince of Wales' Scholarship last year. She stood a close second in general proficiency to A. H. Coy of the Hamilton Collegiate Institute and if she had been a little better in mathematics she would have been first. As it was, she was first in classics and moderns, first in moderns and science, fourth in classics and mathematics, second in classics, and second in moderns. Her class-mate, Miss K. D. Condingley, who confined her efforts to moderns, beat her for first in that department, obtaining a scholarship of one year in the fifth form. Miss M. B. Kearney was ranked fifth and awarded second scholarship in mathematics and science, being mentioned also for second scholarship in mathematics.

Harold W. Johnston, son of the late Prof. G. W. Johnston, of University College, was awarded fourth scholarship in classics and moderns.

Miss Lewis will also prove the winner of the first Carter Scholarship for City of Toronto.

In addition to its examination success this year, Harbord took the lead in recruiting boys for the "Soldiers of the Soil" movement, winning the Y. M. C. A. trophy in May.

LIEUT. HOGARTH TRANSFERS.

Lieut. Gordon W. Hogarth, son of Geo. W. Hogarth, 370 Markham street, who went overseas with a draft from the C.O.T.C. of the University of Toronto, and served at the front during the German offensive in March with the Sherbrooke Royal Horse Artillery, has transferred to the Royal Air Force. He is now training at Exbridge, England, prior to enlisting. Lieut. Hogarth was a member of The Star reporter staff. He was well-known in Toronto as an oarsman.

BEAUTIFUL BABIES COMPETE IN SHOW

Over Two Hundred Children Entered in Exhibition Contest.

WINS SWEEPSTAKES

Pauline Whitworth, Earls-court, Comes First and Gets Gold Medal.

Three tons was the aggregate weight of the two hundred beautiful babies who were entered in the baby show at the Exhibition yesterday. The interest shown in the baby show was greater this year than ever before. "We started little babies here, anyway," said a returned soldier. "I don't think we ever had such a lot of lovely fat babies," said Charles Collins, who for nine years has done the weighing of the babies at the baby show. Lack of organization caused a great deal of trouble and confusion in the tent behind the dairy building where the weighing was done. Three policemen were detailed to keep the crowd in line and one of them was heard to remark: "I'd sooner go thru another riot than this." Dr. Edmund King was also helping to keep the mothers in line to get the babies weighed. "You must help this show," he called out. "It's your show, it is ours." Smiles and tears mingled freely as the dimpled darlings were placed in the fast-draped scales and tagged. Some babies slept thru the ordeal. One baby grabbed at Mr. Collins' glasses as if to save herself from drowning. "Good parents make good babies," said Dr. King as he handed over a crowing baby to a smiling mother. Some parents did not have the proper card and were sent to the back to get it.

Babies Measured. After the babies were weighed they were taken in charge by the nurses and Mrs. Allan Adams, Fred Harrison, E. C. Dixon and Bob King, and their heights and weights were taken. "Fresh air now for us!" called out Dr. King after the measurements were charted, and the mothers were sent outside to cool off. The heat in the tent was awful, and the mothers and babies were perspiring freely. Dr. King was wet thru, but he did not falter for a moment in his work. In the dairy building the last part of the judging took place. In there the mothers and babies were placed in sections according to the age of the baby. The choosing of the most standard baby was indeed a difficult task. The babies were awful, and if they were over or under weight, or any other measurements they were out of the running. Much dissatisfaction was expressed by the mothers who did not understand that their baby must be according to certain measurements in order to be a baby.

"It's a beautiful baby, madam," Dr. King reiterated. "But it does not come to the measurements necessary for a prize standard baby. You mustn't feel hurt if your baby doesn't win." Dr. Hanna, Caulfield, Kilhoran and Wright were assisting in the judging. "There were many entries in the twins. Blue eyed babies, brown eyed ones; bald headed babies and those with heavy heads of hair; curls and Dutch cuts—but not one baby for sale, altho Dr. King offered a dollar for any one of them. 'Here's one for sale cheap,' said a young man holding up a laughing specimen of babyhood. "How much?" "Oh, a thousand dollars," said the fond father smilingly, but there was something in his smile that did not encourage anyone to offer the money.

Criticism Offered. There were many criticisms of the way the baby show was staged. "There is more consideration for the cattle than for the children," said one woman. Two hundred babies rushed thru in two hours and a half! How much time is taken for the animals? "Even the cats and dogs have a special building, but the babies are crowded into a small tent in a hot back yard," said another woman. Comparisons with baby shows in other cities were made, not in favor of the Toronto one. The men did the best they could, but some women put on the committee might help things to go a bit smoother. There was no divided opinion, but that more than one day ought to be taken for the judging of the coming hope of the nation. "A sweepstakes baby ought to get a cup that he could compete for years," said one of the officials. The following is the plan followed in judging the babies:

Points Considered. Healthy appearance. Good looks. Method of feeding (breast feeding v. artificial feeding). Absence of physical defects (especially as to rickets, etc.). Cleanliness. Neatness of attire (expensive material for clothing not called for).

THE VICTORY SHIP CHRISTENING TODAY

Sailors' Week Campaign Will Be Set in Full Swing at Noon.

Spectacular and impressive ceremonies at the city hall at noon today will set "Sailors' Week" in full swing in Toronto. Lady Hearst will christen the large ship which has been erected on the lawn at the west of the building. Salt water will be used, and this ship will be accompanied by the primate of all Canada, Archbishop Matheson, will invoke a blessing upon the effort of which the boat is symbolic. He will be accompanied by the Bishop of Toronto and other church dignitaries, and many prominent citizens will take part in the ceremony. Immediately following the christening flags will be hoisted on the flagpole to the east of the hall, which has been rigged up to represent a mast of a ship of Nelson's time. A replica of Nelson's original signal will be raised.

Sun Burned Skin

You want a healthy summer tan. But sometimes you get it too quickly and then there is a few days of suffering.

The application of Dr. Chase's Ointment takes out the stinging and burning and leaves the skin delightfully soft and smooth.

Because it is equally effective in relieving stings of insects and ivy poisoning as well as chafing and skin irritations it is invaluable in the summer camp.

prominent public men will deliver addresses from the dock at noon and evening. The speakers for today are Sir William Hearst, premier of Ontario; Deputy Minister of Marine Desbarats, C.M.G.; Mayor Church, Commodore Aemilius Jarvis and Lt. Col. C. G. Williams.

It has been arranged with several of the large factories in the city to have the whistles blown loud and long at noon to announce the christening of the ship and the official launching of "Sailors' Week."

A number of naval floats have been prepared, and each boat is a real life-boat. These floats will move around the city when not being used by the speakers. At various stopping places, the following speakers will deliver addresses: Ex-Controller J. O. McCarthy; Lieut. Balfour, at Shuter and Yonge streets; G. G. E. Lindsey, K.C., Toronto street, opposite the General Postoffice; G. Wilkie, K.C., Bay and King streets; J. R. Patterson, Yonge and Melinda streets; and Sergt. Gandy, University and Queen streets.

The speakers at these points at seven o'clock in the evening will be Lieut. Balfour, Col. C. G. Williams, J. A. Patterson, K.C., Rev. Father Burke, Col. J. H. Moss, K.C., W. C. A. Moffatt and Sergt. Gandy.
