Captain Watkins, her commander, trouble began about 1 o'clock this morning, when Col. Sam Hughes proposed that the first item in the militia estimates should be do to the scene, but the Germans were the coll. Captain watkins, her commander, reported himself to blame. In his report he simply declares that he mistook the time when the Paris passed the Casquet passed and the committee rise. This did not anxious for their assistance, offering light on the French coast for the time passed and the committee rise. This did not anxious for their assistance, othering the largest tug only for towage, an offer which was promptly refused. It was on the same coast, but is eighteen miles, all the items should be declared passed ex-then decided that, the ve sel being in a position of comparative safety should re-of Casquet light. The result was to land

To this the Opposition objected, and the struggle began, continued all night and is still going on. So far four items have been sed, after very full discussion, and, as the Government is said to be determined that all the militia items must be agreed to before the committee rises, it may be very late to-night before an adjournment is

The Night Session. The night session was not marked by many special features, but was, for the most part, a dogged, determined fight on the part of the Opposition to show that by the abandoning of the tender system, the present Government was paying extravapresent Government was paying extrava-gant rates to favorites. The case of H. N. Bate & Sons of Ottawa, who supplied $34,000 worth of provisions for the Yukon mili-tary expedition, occupied the attention of Messrs. Taylor, Wa'lace, Clancy, Hender-son and others for the better part of the early morning, and in the course of his re-marks Mr. Taylor said that the reason Bate & Son were favored was because one of the firm, Mr. H. N. Bate, had presented a house to Sir Wilfrid Laurier. Mr. Taylor said this story was current in Ottawa, and probably accounted for the favor shown Bate & Son in the sale to them of binder twine and the purchase of supplies. Government Denied the Story.

The statement met with indignant denia from thes Government benches, but w passed over at the time. This afternood however, the Premier, who was not in t House during the all-night sitting, took a vantage of the slight break caused by liem being passed to rise in his place a make an emphatic denial of the story.

make an emphatic denial of the story.

What Sir Wilfrid Said.

After quoting from a proof of the official debates the exact words used by Mr. Taylor, Sir Wilfrid Laurier said: "Now, I may say at once that I do not feel called upon to contradict anything that has been said by the hon. gentleman, but, in order to show to what levity gentlemen on the other side of the House can descend, and how they can utter absolutely foundationless accusations, the House will pardon me if I ask them to follow me into my private affairs. In the spring of 1897 I bought a house in the city of Ottawa. I bought it from the Leslic estate. The price agreed upon, if I remember rightly, was $9500. I paid down $5000 cash and gave a mortgage on the balance for $4500. I bought the house in the name of my wife, because, being poor, and well knowing that if I died I would have nothing to leave to her, I thought it would be right to give her a home. The balance I myself raised upon a note, which has not yet been altogether extinguished. That is all there is all there is about it. The house has been furnished by myself, with the exception of a few gifts which were given to my wife by some of the hon, gentleman there is not a shadow of foundation. The Messrs. Bate have never furnished nor bought a house for me."

Mr. Taylor: Mr. Chairman I secret at the story is chartered at the corner of the middle with reference is the corner of the more of t

Mr. Taylor Accepts It.

Mr. Taylor Mr. Chairman, I accept the hon. gentleman's statement, but I am sure he has not lived in Ottawa without having heard, as I had heard, from friends of his own sitting on that side of the House, and from many other responsible men in Ottawa, whose word for truth and veracity I would take as soon as I would that of any gentleman in this country, that what I stated last night was the fact. The statement being common rumor. I heard it time and time again, particularly since the contract for these Yukon supplies was given to Messrs. Bate & Sons without tender, and at these extraordinary prices, and also since that firm was supplied with the binder twine belonging to the people of this country at about one third of what it was soid for. This is the statement that is prevalent in Ottawa, and I think the hon. gentleman ought to be under a compliment to me for having brought them to his attention publicly, so that he might give it a flat denial, as he has done to-day.

Some hon. gentlemen: Oh, oh!

Mr. Taylor: Hon. gentlemen may laugh, but you cannot go down street and ask any Mr. Taylor Accepts It.

What do we see to-day? And Sir Donald Smith, now Lord Strathcona, is a civil servant of this Government, repressing Canada in England, and is more closely associated with the C. P. R. than he was then, and what does he telegraph to this country? "I will head the subscription list for a present to the Prime Minister with $10,000, and, if necessary, I will make it $20,000." Will the hon, gentleman take the same stand now that he took when he charged in his House that the testimonial

Have Left $2,000,000-At the Board of Trade.

Hamilton, July 11.—(Special.)—The death of Senator Sanford was the principal topic of conversation in business circles to-day. Owing to his many financial interests and the skill he displayed in handling large business concerns, his loss is greatly depulsed by commercial men. It is said that business concerns, his loss is greatly deployed by commercial men. It is said that his estate will be worth close on $2,000,000. His city properties are worth considerably over a quarter of a million, and he had a arge ranche in Manitoba, considerable real state in Chicago, and silver mines in Mexico, besides large blocks of stock in Board of Trade Condolence. A special meeting of the Board of Trade was held this afternoon with President Barker in the chair, to take action in removed and A. T. Wood, M.P., seconded olution of condolence, which referred at length to the great worth of deceased as a citizen and business man. Mr. Brown, Mr. Wood and Mr. W. A. Robinson spoke most feelingly of the great loss that Hamilton and Canada had sustained. Mr. Brown, during his speech, said that when Miss Dowry handed the life-line to the Senator

Montreal, July 11 .- (Special.)-La Patrie as a second indiscreet article to-day, glying the whole snap away as to subsidies to claim that this province is to have the lion's share, because millions have been pent on the Crow's Nest Pass.

La Patrie intimates that, apart from the round million for the Quebec bridge, an additional subsidy will be accorded the Great Northern. The paper admits that this company has already been subsidized to the extent of $3200 a mile, but it, adds that the sections now being built are difficult of construction, and the increase is justifiable. In this connection, it may be said that the engineers and contractors have told the newspapers all along that the round is not by any means difficult.

This, however, is not all. The Government will authorize the Quebec Harbor Commissioners to guarantee—which means that the Government will guarantee—for 50 years the interest on $200,000 at 4 per cent, to enable the Great Northern to build a 1,000,000-bushel elevator at Quebec. Of course the C. P. R. have already an elevator at Quebec that is scarcely ever used, but this makes no difference.

Another subsidy is promised the Canada Atlantic to permit that "poor" corporation to extend its lines from St. Justine station to the city of Montreal. The C. P. R. will likewise be offered a subsidy to extend their road from Labelle, north of St. Jerome, onward to Lake Nominingue. Aid will also be voted to build a bridge over the River des Prairies, while subsidies will be given another road along the south shore to Point Levis and down the Baie des Chaleurs to Gaspe. round million for the Quebec bridge, an ad-

A favorite mode of treatment in vogue at the reformatory for those who disobeyed the rules was the "douche" plan, which was practiced some two years ago under decessor. It consisted of placing the refractory prisoner in a cell and then turning a hose nozzle on her, almost drowning her in ley cold water. No matter what the thermometer registered without, this punishment was inflicted the year round, until unearthed by, the officials of the State Board, when it was promptly abolished.
