The movement headed by Chamberlain in Ensland to-day may be described as a movement for reciprocity with the colonies. At the same time a strong movement for reciprocity with Canada is being carried on in the United States.
We published yesterday a circular issued by the Minnesota branch of the National Reciprocity League. Its officers are some of the most "solid men" of Minneapolis, St. Paul and Duluth. The circular says that reciprocity with Canada will be more valuable than with any other country, and that there is a large market here for farm machinery and other articles used by a farming community. But unless a reciprocity treaty is soon amangaed, Candian tariffs will be raised, especially on American manufactures.

American manufactures are,
there fore, urged to prepare for the international Joint High Commission, which will probably meet in September. The work is to be done "quietly and without parading its efforts before the public." Unnecessary publicity is to be avoided. A fund of $100,000 ought to be raised. The members of the commission "must be impressed with the

The Dominion government informs the country, thru the usual channels, that it is an harmonious organization and that all who say the contrary are afflicted with midsummer madness. Putting aside all rumor and conjecture, we know that the government's railway project is condemned by the Minister of Railways. We know that the government's he will make the present line of traffic? Such a railway pay a long time hence, but is it has a sked to smooth matters over by allowing some other minister to take the right way to meet the present level almost immediately. It is only a colony, and not very far will be of no use to them. We now have a new commissioner of the market in the person of R. J. Fleming, a man peculiarly adapted to the position. With such a man as Mr. Fleming, the market will in a short time become one of the best on the continent.

be raised. The members of the commission "must be impressed with the conviction that the commission must make a treaty," then members of Congress must be pressed to support it. "A great market is growing up north of the Great Lakes and the St. Lawrence, and we should go after it."

We do not blame our American friends for "going after" our market, but that is all the more reason why we should strive to retain it for ourselves. Our tariff is much lower than that of the United States all along the line, and we buy from them twice as much as they from us. If they really want reciprocity, they can get a very large measure of it by simply reducing their own tariff, and this is the course suggested by The New York Sun. There is no doubt that the opening of the Canadian west creates a new situation in regard to trade. Altho we have been accustomed to say that the international boundary is an imaginary line, the Great Lakes have been a real barrier to trade and communication. In the west we shall for the first time have to deal wift an imaginary line of great length, with a large population on both sides.

JUDGES AND POLITICS.

A Liberal contemporary is shocked by the following assertion in The World: "The people of this province are taking sides, "Gamey against the judges;" and the more you abuse Gamey, the more you abuse Gamey, the more you abuse Gamey, the more you wasken the authority of the judges;" and the more you abuse Gamey, the more you wasken the authority of the judges." Thereupon it accuses us of having a low opinion of the intelligence and morals of the people of this province.

Our opinion is that those people of this province who think about public affairs at all are, for the most part, either Liberals or Conservatives. Why they call themselves by those names we do not now inquire. It is largely level and the safe of an author of the biography of the self-paintal save do not now inquire. Present Measure Said to Be Compromise Between Growers and Shippers.

Ottawa, July 24.—(Speial.)—Mr. Sifton introduced a bill in the House today to amend the Manitoba Grain Act of 1900, which he explained was a ompromise between the grain growers and the shippers. Deputy Commissioners are to be ap-

The Prime Minister answered gaily that his reason for not giving a definite date was just because his expectations had been so often disappointed. The fact was that he was in the hands of the lawyers just now, and as a lawyer Mr. Borden ought to appreciate the situation.

UNIONS DISRUPT GUARD. Members Cannot Take Oath of Al legiance in Texas.

Dallas, Texas, July 24.-There is serious disagreement in this State be tween the National Guard and the labor unions. The unions have positively declined to let their members who are also members of the militia take oath of allegiance and swear to support the constitution, as provided by the Dick National Militia law, which went into effect on July 1, and more which the Texas militia is now operating. All members of unions who were members of the militia companies at Austin have been forced to resign from the guard or be dismissed from the unions. The men have left the militia, as they did not want to be thrown out of the unions.

The information is given by reliable persons that a similar order has been sent to union men all over the State, and fully 25 per cent, of the heretofore active militiamen will muster out. oath of allegiance and swear to sup-

Hanover, Pa., July 24.-Mrs. John Neely, seventy-three years old, of Philadelphia, accomplished a remarkable pedestrian feat yesterday, when she walked from Carlisle to Hanover, thirtywalked from Carlisle to Hanover, thirty-two miles, over mountainous country in one day. Mrs. Neely resided in Hanover forty-eight years ago, and this was her first visit since that time. She endured the trip well, for to-day was spent in sightseeing, and this evening she returned to Carlisle by rail, but not before arguments were presented in opposition to her returning on foot,

The phantom pictures which rise and fall with the click of a ticker fascinate fall with the click of a ticker fascinate them, and they play the game of chance with the recklessness of veteran gamblers. Hundreds of women give their orders clandestinely, and the fact that they have an interest in the stock market, that their daily examination of the market report is prompted by anything beyond a design to be informed, is not known to anyone save their brokers. These are good customers for brokers. A sign over a statement showing a balance on the wrong side, a vow "never to do so any more" or an order given "just to get even" is the usual sequence.

There is another class of women stock gamblers in which the bad loser is largely represented. This class supports bucket shops in the residence parts of the city, like the one which was raided a few days ago. When these women win they are happy, but when fortune frowns on them they are "horrid." They want their money back from the bucket-shop proprietors. They cry, scold and finally threaten to "tell on the mean things", who took their margins. In order to shield themselves the threat is not often carried into exmarginsa In order to shield themselves the threat is not often carried into execution, and the bucket-shop continues to do business at the old stand, taking money from the women who succumb to the temptations of the tape. If is refreshing to know that once in a while a woman gets so thoroly angry because of her losses tht she does her share toward breaking up the bucket-shop business. She would never do such a thing if her speculations were successful—hence all good citizens should reful-hence all good citizens should joice when she loses.
