Nationalists and Anti-Redmondites Regard Plan as Worst

Yet Put Forward—Proposed Convention Not

Acceptable to Carson's Followers.

"Peace Without Annexation"

Dublin, May 17.—Via London—The government plan for the settlement of the Irish question has received no good word from anybody in Ireland. Nationalists, whether supporters or opponents of John Redmond, agree in condemning the proposals. They are regarded as the worst yet put forward and as putting the clock back behind the position Sir Edward Carson, the Ulster leader, assumed at the Buckingham Palace conference in 1914. It is pointed out that they exclude six counties en bloc without giving them a chance of voting their views.

Many of the Nationalists express the opinion that the partition policy was a default was a textical w

Many of the Nationalists express the opinion that the partition policy was adopted as a tactical move to defeat home rule and that once home rule was recognized as inevitable, even the Unionist counties would vote themselves in, especially the Episcopalian Protestants, whose church is bound by many ties to all Ireland.

Mr. Lloyd George, and his influence may have an effect on the Unionist decision. The view in some quarters is that the convention would need to be representative not only of the two parliamentary parties, but also of the Sinn Fein and various religious bodies in Ireland, as well as the business and industrial communities.

The home ruis finance was based on the fact that Ireland cost £2,000,000 more yearly than she paid; ahe is now paying £25,000,000 instead of £11,000,000, and the premier's reference to the financial side of the question, it is contended, means that a portion of her own money will be given to Ireland. The suggested convention of all representative Irishmen, however, is cordially welcomed by all y sections of the Nationalists, who regard it as based on a full concession; of the home rule principle. It is all thought possible, however, that the Unionists may not wish to join in, the convention.

Discussing with the temporary go ernment the serious condition of af-fairs at the front, the commanders declared that the unfortunate phrase, "peace without annexations," had found its way to the army, and was there translated into an argument against offensive warfare. This and other harmful doctrines pervading the army, and the inability of the officers satisfactorily to explain them, had ruined discipline and destroyed the authority and prestige of the officers. The discord in Petrograd had naturally found an echo everywhere at the front, but the spirit of the soldiers was slowly recovering, and the power of the Russian army was by no means

GERMANS TO RESUME RETREAT FROM FRANCE

Foe Sets Fire to Villages Behind His Front North and South of St. Quentin, Preparing to Quit.

Paris, May 17.—The desperate German counter-offensive that has been going on since the day before yesterday in the region of Laffaux is considered in competent quarters here as intended to mask a further retirement of the German first line on other parts of the front.

During the last few days the number of fires in villages behind the German front, both north and south of St. Quentin, has greatly increased.

The Town of it. Quentin itself, which has been gradually burning for the last rew weeks, is now overhung with heavy smoke clouds. These facts are considered indications of a retreat, being similar to those which preceded the last retreat in which the Germans left a vast area of devastation.

KING ALBERT AT FRONT.

British headquarters in France, May 17, via London.—After a four days' visit to the British front, King Albert of the Belgianz returned to his headquarters today. He distributed numerous decorations while here. The king seemed greatly impressed by the tremendous strengthening of the British forces since his previous visit.

Field Marshal Sir Douglas Haig greeted King Albert on his arrival Monday. Tuesday and Wednesday were spent in visiting the scenes of the British victories on the Somme, including Pozieres, Thiepval and Combles. The party penetrated as far as Peronne and vicinity, where great interest was displayed in the destruction wrought by the Germans before their retirement. A visit was also paid to Vimy Ridge.

CONGRESS IS IN VERY UGLY MOOD

Row Between Advisory Commission of Council of National Defence and Navy.

Special to The Toronto World. Washington, May 17.—A bitter row beween the advisory commission of the ouncil of national defence, on the one hand, and the war and navy departments, on the other, will be put up to President Wilson for settlement within a few days, it was learned on excellent authority tonight.

Unless the president decides to give the advisory commission considerably more power than it now enjoys, resignations of several of the more important members will be forthcoming. As to the other side, it is declared that the resignation of an officer of high rank in the quartermaster's corps is already in the president's hands. This officer feels that it is impossible to proceed with army purchases under the restrictions imposed on him by the council of defence.

As to what the future will bring out of the complexities of the existing out of the complexities of the existing administrative tangle, no one ventures a prediction. In the first place, no one, not even members of the cabinet, know the president's plane, if he has any. One thing, however, is certain, congress is in an ugly mood, and the temperal of the cabinets of the congress of the cabinets of the congress of the cabinets of the cabi and is strongly disposed to insist on executive changes in the near future. During the past few weeks it has been the practice of the executive departments to completely draft pro-posed legislation and then despatch to the capitol with a peremptory demand that it be passed without explanations or delay. Even taking into consideration the exigency imposed by emergency conditions, this pronounced usurpation of the legislative function has stirred bitter resentment until congress is virtually on the verge of revolt, and the senators of pro-German or pacificist leanings are taking
