WILLIAMS REVEALS SECRET OF HITTING

The Eye, the Swing and the Kind of Ball are Cardinal Points, Says Slugger.

New York, July 4.—Kenneth Roy Williams—that is what the record calls the slugging left-fielder of the St. Louis Browns—says that there are three qualifications which a baseball player must have in order to be a home-run clouter—the eye, the swing and the right kind of pitched ball. This robust batter who temporarily at least threatens to usurp the crown of Babe Ruth as a home-run hitter, is fully capable of revealing the traits which make a batsman a great long-distance swatter.

In the first weeks of the present season this fellow leftfielder of Ruth's, who bats left-handed and throws right-handed, excelled the best previous record of Ruth in circuit-driving. Williams rapped out eleven homers before Ruth got started following the lifting on May 20 of the suspension which Commissioner Landis had imposed for violation of the barnstorming rule. And, besides, Kenneth has done something which the Babe never has—hit three home runs in one game, against the White Sox, which equaled the big league record of Jake Beckley of Cincinnati in 1907. Williams' minor league record was even better than this, for while with the Portland team in the Pacific Coast League in 1917 he hit a double in addition to a trio of homers. Occupying such a pinnacle in the realm of swatdom, it would seem that this redoubtable hitter who is expected by St. Louis fans to aid materially in the bringing of the American League pennant to that city, has every right to explain how to smash the ball with such effect as to attract wide attention.

"Hitting in itself is merely a matter of training the eye to watch the ball and commanding the arms to swing at the proper time," says Williams. "Knocking home runs, however, is something different. As proof of this let me cite the fact that the twenty-five batsmen in the American League last season who hit 300 or better. How many of these were considered fence-busters? Probably not more than half a dozen. This alone will serve to uphold my theory that there is a big difference between hitting and slugging. That George Hellmann and Ty Cobb beat Ruth's batting average of .378 last season does not prove that they were better hitters, because of Babe's 204 hits 119 were for extra bases. Hellmann made thirty-three more hits than Ruth, but of this total of 237 only seventy-six were for extra bases.

"The eye, the swing, the kind of ball hit at—these are the ingredients of successful home-run hitting. Every good batsman in the major leagues must have strong eyes. He must glue his vision upon the ball from the moment it leaves the pitcher's hand. When I say a keen eye is needed I mean it must be sharper than the average optic. It must be able to command the swing at precisely the right moment. A flash too soon and a long foul is the result. A flash too late either a long foul or a strike is the outcome.

"As to the ball best suited for the circuit smash, I would say that it should come within the specified strike zone seventeen inches in width and between the knee and waistline in height. I have seen Ruth, however, clout homers off the shoulders, his waist and almost off his knees. Hence, it may be supposed that he is a fence-buster.

posed that no particular kind of delivery is best suited to his swing. "Out in the Coast League when I hit twenty-five homers most of them were on balls served between the waist and shoulders. When I came into the American League I heard it noised around that the pitchers were going to serve me nothing but low balls. This I found, after being at bat a few times, was true. I realized that if I wanted to continue to hit home runs I'd have to change my style. So, at each batting practice session I asked the pitchers to shoot me nothing but balls below the waist line. I had to train my eye to work differently and it also was necessary for me to lower my swing. But perseverance in such practice has enabled me to master the new style of batting."

TRADE REVIVAL IN JUNE.
Face Slower Than in May, But Improvement Marked.
Although June, as pointed out in the Philadelphia Reserve Bank's monthly bulletin of July 1, as normally a month of declining industrial activity, "it has not proved to be such this year, and the betterment in general conditions first noted late in April has continued. It is true the gains made during the last month have been smaller than those of May, but the improvement has been marked.

"Several of the industries that heretofore had not been affected by the general upward movement have recently reported considerably heavier sales, and this, coming at a time when a decline was to be expected, is especially significant as indicative of the underlying trend of business."

THE LAST OF THE MOHICANS

WHEN WOLFE WAS FIGHTING MONTCALM for the possession of this New World Indian tribes played an important part in the fortunes of war. This tale deals with startling incidents in the career of the daughters of an English general who was trapped by a false Indian guide. A friendly young chieftain, however, protects the girls in a wild sort of love. The narrative abounds in tender scenes commingled with the din of strife and subtleties of the savages.

It is a stupendous picture and highly artistic, not of the usual modern Indian story type at all. It throws much light upon the inside phases of North American life when our nation was initiated.

Boston Globe Says They're Swift Aggregation—Will Play St. Peter's—Other Games of Week.

The balance of this week offers good baseball possibilities. On Wednesday evening the St. Peters will play the St. Johns; on Thursday the St. Johns will play the fast Milltown team, both games on St. Peter's Park. The St. Peters boys will be in St. Stephen Thursday to play that team. Saturday will see the fast Somerville, Mass., team on St. Peter's Park for two games with St. Peter's. The Boston Globe gave a lot of space to a write up of this team, with pictures of three of the principal players. The team has won thirty-five games, lost eight and tied three this season.

There are two Grahams on the team. For years they have done excellent work and have repeatedly turned down offers to play with other clubs. For the last 18 years Arthur Graham, pitcher, has been identified with semiprofessional baseball and his record has been one worthy of consideration. He has turned down offers galore to play with minor league clubs. F. F. Graham, his brother, is captain of the nine and is playing a crackjack game at third base. Both players are widely known in semiprofessional ball and they stand very high as players and sportsmen.

On the receiving end of the battery is Pierce, a Somerville High athletic, whose work, the Boston Globe says, has been nothing short of high-grade. He is a sure thrower and has an arm like iron. His hitting has been a strong factor in winning many games for Somerville B. C.

Located at first base is Rogers, who has played the best game of his career there this summer. Pickett, in second base is an exceptional infielder and a heavy hitter. Gaddis, another ex-Somerville High athletic, is holding down the shortstop position, and his work has been of class order.

Capt. F. F. Graham on third, ranks with the best semiprofessional infielders around Boston. In every game played he has accepted practically all his chances and seldom makes slipsups.

The outfield comprises a versatile trio of players, Carroll, Sweeney and Smith. Not only do they cover a vast amount of ground, but they are timely hitters. Simpson, formerly of Somerville High also is a member of the club, and whenever he has pitched he has done most effective work. Smith, right fielder, also is a pitcher, has been used in several games and has performed finely.

THREE HURT AT LEVEL CROSSING

Grand Trunk Train Crashes Into an Automobile at Guelph.

Guelph, Ont., July 4.—A Grand Trunk passenger train crashed into a motor car containing six local people on a level crossing here last evening. Three of the occupants of the machine were badly injured—George A. Wilson, had scalp wound, and believed to be hurt internally; his son, Robert, a spiral fracture of one arm, and badly bruised about the body, and his wife, severe scalp wound. Three children of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wilson escaped with a bad shaking up.
