And They Must Be Paid in American Money, Says

Consul. Appangements are being made for the filling out of income tax returns of all United States citizens resident in London and the district at the American consulate's office. Because of the congested business conditions in the local office. G. R. taggart, the consul has written Washington to send a spe-cial revenue agent to take charge of this work. Mr. Taggart does not defmitely know when the agent will arrive, but will give notice through the press Failure on the part of Afnericans to send in return before March 15, renders the offender liable to a fine of not more than the offender liable to a fine of not more than $1,000 and, in addition, 25 pe cent of the amount of the tax due.

Mr. Young took it over last year. Scores of people having business with the department come there only to be directed to the next floor, where the new office is located.

to the next floor, where the new office is located.

Last year's council set out bravely to renedy the situation, but on finding that a new screen would cost $15. dropped it like a monkey would a hot chestnut. They got one of the city hall artists to make a temporary sign on cardboard. This looked fine from the street, but the reverse side, which showed prominently in the office, read, "Dumping Allowed Here." The inspector decided the last state of his office was worse than the first, and discarded the sign.

He is looking with hopeful eyes toward the new council, which may take in responsibility of providing a sign of which any office might be proud.
