going by taxi. Asked why he did not go by train he said that he thought that it would be safer not to take train from Guelph he went to Brantford.

During the cross examination Mr. Bray happened to use the words: "Well in the confession you made to Mr. Katzanoff—" and the witness came back with an interruption: "I did not make any confession."

"Well in the statement you made," Mr. Bray said and proceeded with the questions.

The witness denied that he was the one that had suggested going to Galt but said it was Petcoff who was working for him in his cheese making plant at Stratford, was dissatisfied with his work and wanted to go to Galt to look over the possibilities for establishing a shoe shine business in that city. He met Petcoff and the Russian at 1:30 p.m. Saturday, May 24th, at the Stratford Station, and only then learned that Petcoff was going to Galt. The Russian was going to Toronto. Petcoff asked Boyoff to go to Galt and he consented. They left Stratford on the 1:40 p.m. train and went as far as Kitchener and then the three used the electric line to go to Galt. In that city they slept Saturday night, two at the hotel and Petcoff at a private boarding house.

The two although they looked for Petcoff did not see him again until after one o'clock Sunday afternoon at Victoria Park, Galt. Then at Petcoff's suggestion they walked out to Sheldon's bush.

Mr. Bray in his cross examination questioned the witness very closely in regard to whether he or Petcoff was the leading member of the trio. Boyoff replied he was not.

"It seems that on all other occasions but these you made the suggestions and Ivan followed," counsel retorted.

Earlier in the cross examination the witness said that the relations between the two were of the best. He owed Petcoff $120 and was keeping it at his request. He paid Petcoff's board and room and $35 a month. Boyoff was not hard up for money in his business but was short of milk.

The two boarded and roomed at 195 Nile Street.

Boyoff's Story About the Deed As Given to the Crown Examiner

Boyoff, in his confession that he knows something about the matter, repeated the story that the man was killed by a stone, which hit him on the head, and how he helped Petcoff to bury the body under the stones. His evidence was given without prejudice to his own case and he took the stand after 15 witnesses given their testimony for the crown.

Boyoff, without any apparent nervousness, related his story with much detail. He said that on the afternoon of Sunday, May 25, he and the deceased Russian, Stepanos Sorokaty, accompanied Petcoff to Sheldon's bush for a walk. Petcoff also while on the way said there was gold to be found in the bush and gravel pit near by, which they reached about 2 o'clock p.m. At the gravel pit Petcoff again said there was gold to be found and started breaking the stones and said he was Bolshevik he did not like gold.

Petcoff himself was a Bolshevik and did not like gold. Brown then swore at Petcoff. The talk seemed to be a joke, but it became louder. The Russian jumped at Petcoff and grabbed him by the shoulders and the latter started to strike him. He hit him then interfered. They were walking from the gravel pit and Boyoff was just slightly ahead of Brown. About three feet behind was Petcoff. The next thing he saw was Brown falling to the ground and a stone drop, which had struck him on the head and had come from the rear. Blood was running from his nose and mouth.

Run Away

He ran away a short distance and remained there for 10 to 15 minutes. During the interval he did not know what Petcoff was doing. Later he turned around and looked and he saw Petcoff, who then stopped throwing stones on to the body. He went back and asked why he had struck him and he replied that he did not want to kill him, but it was too late now. He asked him to help him bury him. He did so and began putting stones on to the body. He suggested that it would be better to take the stones off and report the matter to the police chief at Galt. Petcoff then began to take out the man's watch, some papers and a small purse and he also took some papers out.

During the remainder of the crown's examination, it was declared Boyoff went to Kitchener the same night and the next day to Guelph. Petcoff hired a horse and rig to get out of Galt the same night.

Know He Was Dead

Asked by the crown whether it was the same story as told Rev. R. Katzanoff two days after the alleged murder, he replied it was the same except the statement that he did not know whether the man was dead when they covered up the body. The fact was that he knew he was dead.

Other evidence that has been given so far is that of Dr. Warren and Dr. Charlton of Galt, who performed the post mortem; Harry Harrison, Fly West of Stratford, Alexander Edmonds of Galt, who works at the Anderson livery barn, William White who had large of the register at the Western hotel, Galt, Mr. William Lockie and Mrs. Lockie, Mrs. Nellie Jackson of 102 first avenue, Galt, Mr. John Jackson, Mrs. Minnie Stewart, Mr. Stanley Gilbert, Galt, Mr. Luckow Walke, Algonquin William, Jeweller of Sarnia, Detective Bradley of Stratford.

POLITICAL NEWS OF CANADA

WHAT PARTIES ARE DOING

Liberal Unionists to Continue Support for Present at Least, Ottawa, Sept. 30.—Liberal Unionists, ministers and members, foregathered in a family caucus by themselves this morning and surveyed the political situation prior to the general election of the party to be held to-morrow or Thursday.

Subsequently to the meeting the following statement was given out: "A meeting of the Liberal-Unionist members of the House was held to-day. The meeting expressed unqualified approval of the war policy of the Union Government and the Government of the day."

The consensus of opinion was that, as the members were elected to support Union Government, it was their duty to continue to do so, and the hope was strongly expressed that the Government would be able at an early date to evolve a progressive policy satisfactory to the country, to meet the after-war conditions.

The meeting took place not in the Parliamentary building but in private quarters of the eastern block. Practically all of the Liberal-Unionists members now in the city attended and there was a lengthy exchange of views. Among those present were Hon. Messrs. Rowell, Mewburn and Calder.

While the statement issued speaks of the "consensus of opinion" as being favorable to a continued support of Union Government it was stated by members present that practically all were for this stand.

The Liberal-Unionists are prepared to construe the mandate of 1917 as possessing sufficient elasticity to carry on for the period of this emergency, rather than viewing it in the more restricted sense with the promulgation of peace. So far as the time between now and the next general election is concerned, therefore, no particular trouble looms up.

Whether after dissolution the Government and its supporters will go to the country as a Unionist party embracing the present elements of fusion does not appear to be a matter that can be settled at any caucus or series of caucuses.

The most that can be hoped for, seemingly, is approval of general principles and declaration of purpose to proceed for this season and probably for next.

The Liberal-Unionists are not exactly of one mind on the situation. The

LABOR MAN PLACED ON COMMERCE BOARD

James Murdoch, of Toronto, is appointed to the Dominion Board of Commerce. Official announcement was made to-night that Mr. James Murdoch of Toronto was to-day appointed a member of the board to take the place temporarily filled by Mr. F. A. Acland deputy minister of labor.

The official announcement says in part: "Mr. Murdoch has, for many years been an outstanding figure in Canadian labor circles. He took a prominent part in establishing the Canadian railway adjustment board in 1918, which did so much to insure and maintain harmony and co-operation as between railway companies and their employees. For a year past he has strongly held the view that the cost of living should be controlled and, if possible, reduced and that increasing wages alone would never solve labor problems."

For the last 14 years Mr. Murdoch has been an officer of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen and during most of that time the chief Canadian executive. He is a resident of Toronto. Two of his sons were in the war, and both are still under medical care as a result of service. A fearless champion and leader in demanding a full measure of justice for working men. He has with equal determination insisted on labor recognizing its responsibilities and obligations undertaken. Mr. Murdoch will enter upon his new duties in a few days."

WANT BRITISH HOUSE CONVENED

LABOR MEMBERS CALL ON PREMIER TO SUMMON PARLIAMENT

LONDON, Oct. 1.—Wm. Campbell, chairman of the labor party in parliament, has telegraphed to Prime Minister Lloyd George asking that parliament be summoned immediately. Repeated suggestions have been made that parliament should be summoned to advise the government regarding the present railway strike but the prime minister has up to the present refrained from calling the members together. Adamson, who is himself a miner, heads a delegation of about sixty laborers, the strongest anti-government delegation in parliament.

Rumors are current that the Princess Marie, the beautiful daughter of the King and Queen of Roumania, will become the bride of the Prince of Wales. Princess Marie is nearing her twentieth birthday. She is thorough English in her tastes, fond of English literature, games, and social life and during her recent visit to London with her mother became very popular with the English court and society.

WAGES NOT ISSUE

Says Point Strike is Whether Union of People as Existed in Parliament is to Prevail

LONDON, Sept. 30.—Ex-Premier Vanhanen, of South Australia, writes to the Times to-day stating that the British railway strike is not a question as to wages or hours, but an issue as to whether the will of the people as expressed in Parliament is to prevail.

He declares that the strikers should be asked to return to work immediately on an understanding that the Government will forthwith introduce a bill which has already been promised by Premier Lloyd George, establishing a minimum wage in all industries with an arbitration tribunal patterned after the Lemnau Act of Canada.

Conference With Trades and Labor Council is Desired

LONDON, Oct. 1.—Members of the Independent Labor party held a fairly well-attended meeting last night ostensibly for the purpose of discussing the present political situation in the city with a view to nominating a Labor candidate to contest the riding of London at the coming provincial election.

A persistent rumor that Dr. H. A. Stevenson would receive the support of the I. L. P. met with an unqualified denial from him last night. He stated very definitely that he was not selected, adding that it was in the power of the I. L. P. to select a candidate to represent Labor as the Labor force in the city.
