EXTERNAL AFFAIRS IN PARLIAMENT

will I hope help to dispose of these two matters in a way which recognizes both our responsibility to our own country, our responsibility to co-operate fully with others in our own as well as collective interests, in the effort to defeat and destroy the international Communist conspiracy, which is very real and menacing and, finally, our responsibility to do what we can, always, and sincerely, to maintain good relations with our friend and neighbour the United States, the leader and great buttress of the free world. These relations . . . involve between our two countries many problems of growing complexity. We accept that, but we take I think on both sides of the border deep and abiding satisfaction in the fact that we are able to solve them on the solid basis of mutual respect. And I know that, with a few inconsequential exceptions, all Canadians and all Americans, including all Hon. Members of this House, are anxious to keep it that way.
