

thanks and praise, and help me, all unworthy, to love and praise Thee as I ought. O teach me, by Thy Holy Spirit, to prize and long for this Thy Holy Feast of Love. And keep me, O Heavenly Father, from falling back, and lead me ever onward by Thy grace, and so bring me at last to the unveiled Presence of my dear Saviour in the world to come, through the same Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

¶ On leaving Church, try to bear in mind that your Lord has really come to you, and that you are now dwelling, continuing in Him and He in you. Turn to Him again and again in secret and say, "Abide with me," for thus you will be indeed living a life of Heaven upon Earth. And if you will but do honour to the Holy Ghost, by remembering that He is the Author and Giver of all good things, and by following the suggestions, which He gives you through your conscience, you will be happy here, you will make progress in your spiritual life, and presently you will be called, through Jesus Christ, to the sweet Paradise of God. And there with Christ as your Leader and Guide, you will still grow, until, at length, after a happy and glorious Resurrection, you will be admitted and welcomed to all the inestimable joys of Heaven, even to your great and everlasting Reward.