The Wind That is Best

Whichever way the wind doth blow,
 Some heart is glad to have it so;
 Then blow it east or blow it west,
 The wind that blows, that wind is best.

My little craft sails out alone;
 A thousand fleets from every zone
 Are out upon a thousand seas;
 What blows for one a favouring breeze
 Might smash another with the shock
 Of doom upon some hidden rock.
 And so I do not dare to pray
 For winds to waft me on my way,
 But leave it to a higher will
 To stay or speed me, trusting still
 That all is well, and sure that He
 Who launched my barque will sail
 with me
 Through storm and calm, and will not fail,
 Whatever breezes may prevail,
 To land me, every peril past,
 Within His sheltering hav'n at last.
 Then whatsoever wind doth blow,
 My heart is glad to have it so;
 And blow it east or blow it west,
 The wind that blows, that wind is best.

—Mason.

Bad Breeding

OF all forms of bad breeding, the pert, small manner affected by boys and girls of a certain age is the most offensive and impertinent. One of these so-called smart boys was once employed in the office of the treasurer of a western railroad. He was usually alone in the office between the hours of 8 and 9 in the morning, and it was his duty to answer the questions of all callers as clearly and politely as possible.

One morning a plainly-dressed old gentleman walked quietly in and asked for the cashier.

"He's out," said the boy, without looking up from the paper he was reading.

"Do you know where he is?"

"No."

"When will he be in?"

"'Bout 9 o'clock."

"It's nearly that now, isn't it? I haven't Western time."

"There's the clock," said the boy, smartly, pointing to the clock on the wall.

"Oh, yes; thank you," said the gentleman. "Ten minutes to 9. Can I wait here for him?"

"I s'pose so, though this isn't a public hotel."

The boy thought this was smart, and he chuckled over it. He did not offer the gentleman a chair, or lay down the paper he held.

"I would like to write a note while I wait," said the caller. "Will you please get me a piece of paper and an envelope?"

The boy did so, and as he handed them to the old gentleman he coolly said:—

"Anything else?"

"Yes," was the reply, "I would like to know the name of such a smart boy as you are."

The boy felt flattered by the word smart, and, wishing to show the full extent of his smartness, replied:—

"I'm one of John Thompson's kids, William by name, and I answer to the call of 'Billy.' But here comes the boss."

The "Boss" came in, and, seeing the stranger, cried out:—

"Why, Mr. Smith, how do you do? I'm delighted to see you. We—"

But John Thompson's "kid" heard no more. He was looking for his hat. Mr. Smith was the president of the road, and Billy heard from him later, to his sorrow. Anyone needing a boy of Master Billy's peculiar "smartness" might secure him, as he is still out of employment.—Youth's Companion.
