COMPANY TO DISBAND

Announcement Made by Mr. Eittner

To That Effect Last Night—Excellent Play "Only a Country Girl."

Mr. W. W. Bittner of the Auditorium Co. made an announcement last evening which will be a source of regret to a large number of people of Dawson who have enjoyed the excellent plays which have been produced thus far this season and have looked forward to forthcoming productions with no small interest.

The reason given by Mr. Bittner for doing this was that the skating rink has proven such a counter attraction that it has almost entirely bereft the theatre of patronage. In putting the word "probability" into his announcement Mr. Bittner left himself a loophole by which he may continue his engagement providing there is enough interest manifested to warrant it.

It will be a long, long while before another company of such excellence as the present one could be induced to come to Dawson, and the people here should realize the fact and be as liberal in their support as possible.

The play this week, "Only a Country Girl," is one which can be appreciated by all.

It is a very pretty play, having as its principal character Rose Garland, a simple country miss with whom Jack Gordon, a city chap, falls in love and marries against his families wishes.

His wife's country ways and in-elegant speech causes Jack to become ashamed of her and in consequence she leaves him and attends school in order that she may become his equal in education.

For four years Jack hears nothing of his wife, but they meet at a reception given by his mother in honor of the graduation of his sister with whom Rose has been attending school. From a pretty, uneducated country girl, Rose has developed into a beautiful and accomplished woman and in her Jack recognizes his lost wife and at his earnest solicitation she forgives him for his ill treatment and they are reunited to live happily ever after.

The cast of characters is as follows: Jack Gordon... Mr. Montgomery; Alf Gordon... Mr. Moran; Harry Fairfield... Mr. Mullen; Percy Perry... Mr. Morris; Joseph Garland... Mr. Bittner; Jake Garland... Mr. Lewis; Rose... Mrs. Bittner; Alice Gordon... Miss Farre; Mrs. Gordon... Miss Walton; Emma Watson... Miss Chandon.

SENSATION OF THE HOUR

new livery barn by the creek on the Eldorado road. Next it will be apt to flow right into the store of the A. T. & T. Co. The building of Kinsey & Kinsey, photographers, is directly in its path, and across the street those bound to suffer are Major Parker's secondhand store, a shoe shop adjoining and the big drug store of Walter Woodburn in which the Bonanza postoffice is located.

On the creek side of Main street above the postoffice are the Grand Forks Mining Exchange, the German Bakery, the fire hall, a little clothing store, C. Tjollisen's news and stationery store and the office of Craden & Kearney, brokers. From this office the Bonanza Record was recently removed and is now safe in a cabin on the hillside thirty feet above the street. Further up Main are many other business places, but none are in immediate danger.

On the upper side of the street the stores in the greatest danger are those of Charles N. Bell, newsdealer, Frank R. Clark, druggist, Vaast & Weber, hardware dealers, Oak Hall Clothing Company and the N. A. T. & T. Company tenement building, Dr. Cabbage's hotel, the Waltham hotel and Garvie's hotel. Others most certainly in the path are the splendid new office of Mining Inspector Dr. Robinson, the partially finished Church of England and many cabins in that vicinity. Much of the government road in and near the Forks would be covered up if a huge glacier forms.

The flow of water is certain to stop all mining operations on No. 6 above, Bonanza. This is the first creek claim working below the deep shaft. The next one is 3 above, belonging to A. N. C. Treadgold, Joe Boyle and Joe Barrett. This claim was to have been worked this winter for the first time. Many claims below there will have to stop for the winter for a certainty.

The deep shaft was begun last winter by A. R. Thompson, W. C. Granger and Charles White. Thompson and Granger are deep channel miners from New Mexico. Being convinced that the first bedrock of Eldorado was merely a slide formation and that the bottom of a deep canyon lay beneath it they proceeded to sink in the old Eldorado bedrock at eighteen feet in depth and when down about twenty-eight feet they struck more muck which was thirty feet in thickness. Then they came into a heavy slide which continued for forty feet or more. Under that was a second gravel channel and it carried good pay. The bedrock beneath it was apparently a slide so they continued to sink. At 130 feet a tree was found imbedded and at 135 more gravel and small pay. From there down to the present level it has been nothing but a heavy broken up slide. The pitch of the slide has been getting steeper every day. Last week it seemed to be nearly vertical. This indicated to the owners that they were nearly to the bottom of the slide and they would soon be in the gravel. They believe this gravel is some fifty feet deep and that it rests on the last and only real bedrock. They are confident the pay there is the richest the world has ever seen. Their reason for this view is that it contains the gold from the missing portions of the White channel. For instance all the channel and the gold contained therein between French hill and Gold-hill and that between Gold-hill and Cheechaco hill are gone, and where? If there has been a canyon the gold is at the bottom of it according to the logic of the deep channel men, based on the simple law of gravitation. Both of the two lower channels passed through were white gravel and white sediment, the same as found on Gold hill and in the White channel.

In order to make their investigations the men in the first place bought No. 3a for $15,000. They have expended $6000 in sinking and ran out of funds. They have received and used the following donations from neighboring claim owners: Frank Phiscator, $200; James McNamee, $200; Charles Lamb, $200; Charles Worden, $100; N. A. T. & F. Co., nine cords of wood.

At the last session of the Yukon council the sum of $1000 was appropriated to aid in sinking the deep shaft. It was ordered that the sum be paid at the rate of $20 per foot and after the sinking of ten feet it could be payable in amounts of $200. It is estimated that exactly ten feet have been sunk since the work started up for the fall season three weeks ago.

A government engineer was at the scene all day yesterday investigating as to the best means to employ in stopping the flow for the winter. His report will be made to Governor Wood.

COURT OF REVISION

Applicants Are Turned Down by the Score

Council Holds Strictly to the Qualifications Required by the Statutes.

The session of the city council sitting last night as the court of revision on the voters' list was the most interesting that has taken place since the incorporation of the city. Interesting because of the many who were called, figuratively speaking, but few were chosen. They were turned down in bunches, those who desired a place on the voters' list without possessing the necessary qualifications.

Upon a number of questions the council was divided and the three hours session was brightly interspersed here and there with passages at arms between his worship and several of the aldermen who differed with him. One of the was passed between two of the honorable gentlemen, but cards were not exchanged and there is but little chance of there being a meeting in order to wipe out the stain.

At the very beginning his worship stated the position that he proposed to stand by and uphold and he it said to his credit he never once wavered from that decision, but stood pat to the end of the game. Wilson was as aggressive as a modern Shylock and when an applicant under oath qualified in the extent of $200 or $300 more than was necessary, he was always ready with a suggestion to make it double the amount. Murphy and Vachon led the opposition and they made things sulphurous on more than one occasion, having the support of Macdonald, Adair and Norquay voted with Wilson and his worship but had little to say.

In order to be qualified as a voter on municipal affairs one must be a British subject and a ratepayer or in receipt of an income in excess of $2000. Being on the assessment roll is a sufficient qualification and of those seeking a place on the list last night practically all sought to qualify under the income provision and that was the rock upon which the council was divided. It was agreed that $2100 was the minimum amount which would be accepted, the taxes payable upon such assessment being under this year's rate but $1.25, the sum of $2000 being exempt. That was considered the least worthy of consideration. If a citizen paid no more in rates than $1.25 he had but little interest in the city's welfare and was not entitled to a vote. All the applicants were examined under oath, made to tell the amount of their income, how derived, salary received and in the event of their being accepted they were informed that their taxes were payable at once and that Mr. Calvert would be pleased to hand them a receipt for the amount. If they did not pay at once their name was to be stricken from the list.

Mac Lecapellain and his brother Thomas were the first led to the slaughter. They could not qualify and their applications were dismissed. Thomas H. Watts was confirmed. Five of the firemen who were not present were confirmed, they being employees of the city and, the wages earned well known to the council. T. R. Anderson was not present when his name was called and he was turned down.

F. R. Alley was next. He took the oath and swore that his profits from the sale of Papsit Malt Extract during the past year had been in excess of $2100. His worship knew something of the Malt Extract deal and stated to the council that the applicant had told him at one time that he had not made a dollar on the article that has made Milwaukee famous. Mr. Alley was willing to qualify in the extent of $2100 but his worship was against it. He again reiterated his statement that in his rulings he proposed to be very strict and would play absolutely no favorites.

Vachon—"If the law permits a voter to qualify in the extent of $2100 I do not see why he should be compelled to swear to an income of $2500."

Wilson—"A man who does not pay over one dollar in taxes is not entitled to a vote."

His worship ventured the remark that something looked very rotten to him. Of the over 200 applications more than four-fifths were made out two weeks, of those who desire to go home to the States for the Christmas holidays. He says that with the recent fall of snow, and the consequent good condition of the roads, anyone can now rely on getting to Whitehorse in five days, and to Seattle in ten, allowing for loss of time in making connections.

MERCHANTS STAGE

Will Leave for Whitehorse at One Tomorrow.

The Merchants Mail Stage and Express Company, otherwise known as Calderheads, will send out another stage from here tomorrow, and already three passengers have booked for the through trip. Mr. Calderhead says he is not expecting many to go out just now, except those who have to, but that he does expect that there will be a great travel beginning the first of the month and for two weeks, of those who desire to go home to the States for the Christmas holidays. He says that with the recent fall of snow, and the consequent good condition of the roads, anyone can now rely on getting to Whitehorse in five days, and to Seattle in ten, allowing for loss of time in making connections.

Macdonald stated that in response to his request Sergeant Smith had counted the number of electric lights now being supplied by the electric light company. He had there were 96 instead of 104 as previously reported.

On motion of Alderman Adair P. G. Nash was named as an auditor to collaborate with a similar appointment to be named by the government to go over and check the books of the city from July 1, when the city came under charge of its own finances.

Upon the adjournment Macdonald moved that the council meet again this afternoon at 3 o'clock for the purpose of completing the work of revision on the voters' list, and was agreed to.

LAST WORD. "I suppose your wife always in the last word?" "Not so." "Why not now?" "I've bought a photograph, but she has no objection one thing—she will be generous of no use but Dunham. He says he carries the flag staff in Dawson."
