London advices say that the Prince of Wales, when he comes to attend the Tenthenary of Quebec, next Summer, will not go anywhere else, although many invitations have been received from Montreal and other cities. It is also stated that an official invitation from Washington was in contemplation. This he would not be able to accept.

The second of the special Lenten sermons was preached in St. Dunstan's Cathedral on Sunday evening last by Rev. Dr. McLellan. His theme was the indissolubility of marriage, and his text was from the 6th verse of the six chapter of St. Matthew: "Therefore now they are not two, but one flesh. What therefore God hath joined together, let no man put asunder. They are no longer two, but one flesh. What therefore God hath joined together, let no man put asunder." The sermon was an eloquent and exhaustive discourse on the question under review.

Eight persons were killed, one severely injured, and property valued at many thousands of dollars was wrecked by an explosion of gas in a building occupied by the National Drug Company, Naicler, Miss, on Saturday. The explosion blew away the rear wall of the building which, in falling, crashed in an adjoining tenement building. The wreckage caught fire and a stiff wind blew huge sparks to the north and west, setting several fires. All business was suspended and the local militia companies were on duty. The work of recovering the bodies buried under the great piles of brick and debris, owing to the intense heat, was difficult.

The steamer Bruce, which arrived at Sydney, Friday, had over 100 passengers, the majority of whom had injuries received on the Newfoundland Railway, on Thursday, in one of the worst accidents in the history of the road. Many of the passengers were obliged to remain at Port Aux Basques with injuries so serious as not to permit continuing their journey. The accident occurred near Port Aux Basque, when the passengers were asleep. The train was moving rapidly, when the engine and forward cars rolled over and over-burled men, women and children from the benches in tangled wreckage. None were killed outright, although the cook on the train received injuries likely to prove fatal. A heavy bank of snow near where the wreck occurred rendered the work of rescuers difficult and for nearly six hours the injured passengers were obliged to make out the best they could until the wrecking train reached the scene during which time many pitiful scenes were enacted, distracted parents fearing that their children were buried under the wreckage.

The funeral took place in St. Joseph's Church, Merrill, on Tuesday, the 10th, and was largely attended. A High Mass of Requiem was celebrated, and after the Libera and Absolution, the body was laid to rest in the adjoining Cemetery. May her soul rest in peace.

Her brother, Very Rev. Mgr. A. A. Sinnott, Secretary to the Apostolic Delegation, Ottawa, went to Boston, and thence, along with his sister, Mrs. McInerney, accompanied the body to this Province. They crossed from Platon on Sunday, the 8th, and came to Mount Stewart. The remains were taken from there to the home of the deceased's parents at St. Peter's Harbor. The funeral took place in St. Joseph's Church, Merrill, on Tuesday, the 10th, and was largely attended. A High Mass of Requiem was celebrated, and after the Libera and Absolution, the body was laid to rest in the adjoining Cemetery. May her soul rest in peace.
