THE EASTERN TRUST COMPANY.

The business of the The Eastern Trust Company is to administer Trusts. In this work it specializes, and it does no other. But no kind of trust is foreign to its scope or beyond its power to administer efficiently.

The Eastern Trust Company never speculates. It invests. It depends for its prosperity upon the efficiency of its management of its clients' business and upon the security of its investments.

The Eastern Trust Company executes the office of executor or administrator with unexampled efficiency, and its usefulness in this field is becoming rapidly more availed of.

For instance:—In St. John, New Brunswick, where it has quite lately established a branch, the estate of James Ready, of Fairville, which has been sworn to under $651,300.00, is being administered by The Eastern Trust Company as one of the joint executors of Mr. Ready's will.

In Halifax, Nova Scotia, again, The Eastern Trust Company has just been chosen to administer the estate of Captain William Fleming, which is valued at more than half a million dollars.

The Company now administers many estates which is value amount to several millions of dollars. Particulars will appear in later advertisements.

The Eastern Trust Company can execute this function of executor or administrator as efficiently in Newfoundland as it can in Nova Scotia, Quebec, or New Brunswick.

The Eastern Trust Company requires commodious offices on Water Street. Apply to The Rocky Mountains.

By GEORGE FITCH.

Author of "At Good Old Siwash."

The Rocky mountains form the most prominent feature of America. Even man, who in this thunderous country has built 800-foot skyscrapers, 1,000-foot factories and private residences so large that the butler answers the door-bell on roller skates, stands amazed and considerably impressed when he views these mountains, and does not even try to figure whether it would pay to remove them and plant the ground to turnips.

The Rocky mountains begin in Alaska and end at Cape Horn. The southern half, however, are under different management, and are incorporated under the name of the Andes. The Rocky mountains proper are confined mostly to the western part of the United States, and for many years were about the only proper things in that section. They are not as well advertised as the Alps, and tourists do not spend so much time in passionate endeavours to climb them. But they are much more extensively built. In fact the material used in constructing the Rocky mountains is of the very highest grade. Millions of tons of gold and silver have been worked into the designs of the various peaks regardless of expense. This has made the Rocky mountains very popular among miners of all nations and some of their majestic flanks in Colorado are so badly pitted with prospect holes as to make the casual tenderfoot wonder if mountains are subject to smallpox.

The Rocky mountains first begin to dawn upon the casual traveler at the western edge of Kansas and Nebraska, at which point they look like strips of baby ribbon on the horizon. As the traveler approaches they become more prominent until they finally confront the landscape and infringe considerably upon the zenith. Colorado is full of snow-covered peaks from two to almost three miles in height and the rank amateur can go out from his hotel in many a Colorado town and climb far enough in a few minutes to fall 800 feet in no time at all. The Rocky mountains occupy a great deal of what would otherwise be valuable farm land in this country and compel the transcontinental railroads to climb around their dizzy sides like cats upon a tin roof. But they keep the nation supplied with pocket money, wild west literature, grizzly bears, ozone and scenery and now that the government is harnessing up the mountain streams, we may expect to see the day when the Rockies will do most of the heavy work for the nation. Much use can be made of a mountain if it is carefully tamed and taught to do a few simple tricks as turning a turbine power wheel.

A Matter of Understanding.

"Hallo, George, you are looking pretty fit. The last time I saw you, you were limping quite painfully, said you had an inflamed corn."
"Right enough. I'd forgotten about that, but it was bad while it lasted."
"How did you cure it?"
"My druggist noticed I was limping, which I used according to directions. That fixed it up in quick time. Removed the inflammation and made it possible to deal with the corn. Oh! Zylax is a good thing right enough. It's good for many skin troubles, too. We always keep a box in the house. You can get it at your druggists' for 50 cents a box."

Suitability is the thing?

The great thing in investing money is suitability. "What are my needs?" That is the question which, before all else, is bound to be considered.

Determining his clients' individual needs is what the investment banker cannot do. Tell him what those needs are and he can pick out suitable securities. But not otherwise.

For instance, there are thirty-eight different securities listed in our December "Investment Offerings." All of these are good—yet only a few of them will suit YOUR particular needs.

But if you will frankly tell us what your needs are we can best help you pick out the RIGHT investment. And we will gladly furnish this advice without implying any obligation to purchase.

LONDON, Dec. 28.
The Cairo correspondent of the Times says he is authorized to contradict all rumours that Lord Kitchener, the British Agent in Egypt, will be appointed, in the near future, as Viceroy of India.

ST. PETERSBURG, Dec. 28.
Sikorsky, inventor of an aeroplane capable of carrying ten persons, made a flight yesterday, lasting several hours. The passengers and machine weighed altogether more than a ton.

LONDON, Dec. 28.
John William White, a confectioner, probably the smallest man in the world, has died at Southend, aged 53. He was only 25 inches in height but his two sisters were of normal size.

GIBRALTAR, Dec. 28.
The Moors, who were firing on the British steamer Ludgate, which is ashore on the Moroccan Coast opposite Tarifa Point, fled yesterday when the Spanish warship reached the scene. Salvaging of the cargo is proceeding.

ROME, Dec. 28.
Despite denials given out at the Vatican, the "Messaggero," a popular newspaper, says an examination of the body of Cardinal Rampolla has been ordered in consequence of the suspicion aroused by his sudden death and the disappearance of his will.

LONDON, Dec. 28.
The correspondent of the Daily Telegraph at Belgrade, telegraphs that it is reported from Sofia that the Bulgarian Cabinet has advised King Ferdinand to quit the capital, as his life is in danger, the police having discovered a plot to assassinate him. The Opposition press in Sofia ridicules the report.

LONDON, Dec. 28.
Representatives of the British and foreign press gathered to-day at the country home of Lord Burnham, "the grand old man of the British press," to present him with an address on the occasion of his eightieth anniversary of his birth. Lord Burnham is still active in his control of the Daily Telegraph, of which he is chief owner. His services to the newspaper world are suitably recorded in the address, signed by leading English newspaper men, as well as by representatives of the Canadian, Australian, New Zealand, South Africa, American and European press.

ATLANTA CITY, Dec. 28.
Bulkheads smashed, tons of lumber washed up on the beach, and other damage of a minor character have been caused by a storm which has been raging here. For five miles the meadows between this city and the mainland resembled a turbulent sea all day. The tide was three feet above normal. Hail, snow and rain fell; thunder pealed forth and lightning flashed. During the storm's progress the sea-foam piled like snow drifts along the water front. At Margate City several cottages were undermined, but saved from destruction by hard work on the part of the residents.

"What a small bottle of Stafford's Essence of Ginger Wine can do." From the 10th of this month up to the 24th we sold 1,000 bottles of Essence of Ginger Wine.

This is an average of 66 bottles a day. One 10 cent bottle of this Essence of Ginger Wine makes 3 qts. Now "Just a minute," please.

3 quarts makes 120 ounces.
A wineglassful holds 2 ounces.

Therefore you obtain 60 glasses of Ginger Wine from one little 10 cent bottle of the Essence, so that by our having sold 1,000 bottles we have provided 60,000 drinks for persons, supposing that only one drink had been taken by every person. This is utterly "impossible" we mean (one drink for each person) because once a person having taken one drink nothing in this world would prevent them from having 5 or 6 more.

The reason is simple. "They know a good drink when they taste it." "Stafford's Liniment." "Stafford's Prescription "A" and Stafford's "Phoradone Cough Cure" have done.—dec26.1f
