Plays Dual Role in Stirring Play of Mother Love—An Artistic Screen Entertainment

with the deep-rooted love for home guests are registered at Balsam every toman; a man whose creed has been to get gold and whose highest ideal of marriage is the perpetus-Templeman, wife and child, Old Pertion of his name and race so that more gold may be gathered; a woman who has in the journey of life lost her more noble instlucts, and has become a sodden, wreck of humanity; a man clean, honorable and faithful who is plunged into a tragedy which threatens to leave an everlasting mark of shame.

These are the characters who carry the main thread of the story in "Salvage," Pauline Frederick's latest Ro pertson-Cole super-special production, shown at the Majestic Theatre to-day. A drama that is alive and throbbing in its humanness, these characters, each an individual of a distinct type, are thrown together by a strange destiny.

Plays a Dual Role. Pauline Frederick enacts the dual role of the two women, with a play of the two women, with a play of changing feeling that lends realism to every mood she portrays. The acreen has never seen acting of a more compelling or sincere nature that Miss Frederick invests in her broad powerful interpretation of the woman who is deprived of her great-
