Contemptible Tactics

In a vain attempt to cover up A. E. Hickman's coal graft which was exposed in the Telegram, the Advocate has brought Collishaw or any other friends ment. It will thus be clearly a trumped up charge against Sir M. P. Cashin.

A. E. Hickman, who professes to lead a clean-up party, was seat on the Board of Works and worth passing notice is that Mr. permitted to make an excessive profit on the 6,000 tons of coal which he sold the Government last fall. Hickman's tender was 48 cents a ton higher than Morey & tage. I am quite sure, being a Board of Works helped him (Hickman) pocket nearly $3,000 lishaw, he will not mind using more of the public's money than he was entitled to. Hickman cannot deny this charge; the Advocate and Jour- William Coaker, who I have al-nal cannot cover it up by bringing false accusations against ways been strongly supporting political opponents. Sir Michael Cashin may have supplied the Government with coal some years ago, but no complaint was ever made about either the quality or the price. A counter charge is a poor defence. It is particularly a sign of weakness when it has no basis in fact. . The charge against Sir Michael being utterly false, there is no necessity to defend him. But what has the Advocate to say to our charges: That A. E. Hickman was guilty of graft when he obtained his big coal contract last fall, although his tender was the highest; that Hon. W. Halfyard, Mr. R. Hibbs and other members of the Hickman party aided and abetted him when he took $3,000 of the people's money that should never have gone to him. The people are anxiously awaiting the Advocate's explanation of this peculiar transaction. Will it be forthcoming?

The Mysterious Mr. Collishaw

During the recent Public Enquiry the frequent mention of the name of Collishaw never failed to draw a knowing titter from Collishaw was, but it appeared to him that this mysterious individual was controlling the Government. He repeatedly asked who was Collishaw, but could obtain no satisfactory explanation.

For a while Mr. Collishaw disappeared from the limelight, but he is in the public eye again. In a letter which we publish in another column his name will be found occurring at frequent intervals. This letter is one of the frankest and most artless documents it has ever been our lot to see, and was written by a gentleman named J. P. Burke, who is a candidate for the Coaker-Hickman party in the district of Ferryland. Mr. Burke appears to believe that to be a member of the Board of Works is to possess an attractive and lucrative position, and in view of what we have heard of the actions of that select body during the past five years, he may be right. At any rate, he wishes to become a member of the Board, and he writes a friend of his to get in touch with Mr. Collishaw, who seems to possess some strange and mystic power over Sir William Coaker, and requests this friend to have Collishaw place his desire before Sir William. Burke's letter does not show

It is also a very definite proof of the fact that Sir William Coaker still controls the Government, and that "this mysterious individual named Collishaw" controls Coaker. The people of Newfoundland want a change of Government. They have had enough of Coaker-Collishaw domination, and on polling day will roll up a huge majority for MONROE and CLEAN GOV-ERNMENT.

on Saturday evening the committee of the Bast End candidates of the Liberal Conservative Party met at the rooms when arrangements were made regarding polling day. Mr. Higgins addressed the gathering giving a gidwing account of the shore campaign, just completed. The enthusiasm displayed at all meetings was greater than ever any indications are that a splendid majority will be rolled up this year. Captain Carter, of Wesleyville also spoke and as one last arrived from the scene of the great fight, he reported that Mr. W. S. Monroe had aready done great St. John's East work and success was assured for his colleagues and himself. He also success was assured for his is and himself.
