

London Advertiser.

VOL. XXVII., NO. 103.

WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 19,

THE LONDON TRAGEDY. It is not often that in the well-ordered community of London such a tragic event as that recorded in our local columns toenry Smith does not require to be d on by us to convey a lesson of aport. It is the old story of the terrible perversity of human nature. Henry Smith stands charged with the murder of the woman whom he had sworn to love, defend and cherish, and who for 22 years had been his 22 years had been his anion. It is an awful charge, and though the evidence at present is over-whelmingly in favor of the assumption that it is well founded, it would not be fair to say anything in this connection that might in the least prejudice his case when an came to her death, Henry Smith seen none too coherent. But there seems reason to believe that the tragedy was the atcome of domestic brawling, the indulence in which by the occupants of the occurrence in recent years. In all probability it will be found that the victim of the tragedy lost her life letting loose of ill-con-ies and passionate natures riot. The worldly circum 'ed them, had they chosen, to live in pardoning power in the case of the pardoning power in the pardoning p ouple were such as to have harmony without which domestic life car never afford much happiness.

TOPICS OF TO-DAY.

The French Government proposes to celebrate the twentieth anniversary of the establishment of the republic on Sept. 4 in an extraordinary style at Paris, Bordeax, Lyons and Marseilles.

The Russian Government has ordered the planned great railway line across Siberia to be begun in May. When the line is completed it is estimated that the tour of the world in 50 days will be feasible.

European military critics assert that the

At the South Norfolk Conservative con vention yesterday at Walsingham Center Wm. Morgan, M.P.P., was nominated unanimously. Out of 78 delegates entitled to sit in the convention 76 were present.

Leo XIII. has directed that his monu mental tomb shall only consist of his figure recumbent in white marble upon a sepul-chiral urn of porphyry, on the sides of which are to be the statutes of religion and justice, many of the Popes prescribed their monuments, though Pins IX. did not leave any directions in regard to his.

The directors of the De Beers Company in the Kimberly (South Africa) mines gave a Christmas picnic to their three thousand a Christmas picnic to their three thousand comployes at which were eaten 1,200 fowls, 400 turkeys, 150 geese, 100 hams, 1,000 pounds of spiced, roast, and boiled beef, and 1,800 pigeon, veal and ham, and chicken and ham pies, washed down with 5,000 bottles of English and German beer, 100 cases of champagne, 200 cases of claret and 100 cases of Burgundy, besides brandy and whisky.

and 100 cases of Burgundy, besides brandy and whisky.

A fashion expert informs us that English women have but just relinquished draperies, and the pretty Parisiennes over the channel have already grown tired of straight skirts and are putting on paniere and short upper skirts. Astrakhan skirts, sleeve, and bodices are worn with long accentuated points of some woolen stuff opening over the fur. If you would be an fait with the latest funde, remember that the hair is to be worn skirts. Astrakhan skirts, sleeve, and boilees are worn with long accentuated points of some woole astiff opening over the fur. If you would be au fait with the latest mode, remember that the hair is to be worn low as the season advances, not exactly as a catogan, perhaps, but ellowed to fail lightly on the neck and caught together with invisible or visible slides. Slides or diamonds, gold filagree set with jewels, or shell with ornamentations of gold pierced tow as the season advances, not exactly as a catogan, perhaps, but ellowed to fail lightly on the neck and caught together with invisible or visible slides. Slides of diamonds, gold filagree set with jewels, or shell with ornamentations of gold pierced work are all worn, and wise here. work are all worn, and wire hairp be replaced by shell in every case.

Fatal Fire.
NEWARK, N. J., Feb. 19.—Henry Fritz's confectionery and three adjoining buildings were burned yesterday. Loss, $50,000.
Mrs. Mary A. Burns, aged 22, was sufformed to the standard of the standard

RACINE, Wis., Feb. 19.—Mrs. T. W. atritt, who commenced a 21 days' fast to cure dyspepsia, has finished her seventeenth She is in good health, has lost but very little flesh, and is confident that she will held out the St. down

The Women Mean "Business." Sr. Joseph, Mo., Feb. 19.—The women at Plattsburg are preparing to clean that place of its saloons because a boy was carried out of one of them drunk Sunday night. It is also said the Crusaders will visit Cameron on a similar errand.

St. Joseph, Mo., Feb. 19.—The women at Plattsburg are preparing to clean that place of its saloons because a boy was carried out of one of them drunk Sunday pight. It is also said the Crusaders will visit Cameron on a similar errand.

Strangled by a Tooth.

Dubuque, Ia., Feb. 19.—Mrs. L. W. radley, wife of a wealthy citizen, while calling, stumbled, and in the fall broke m. A surgeon, before proceeding to the arm, administered chloroform, while he was at work upon the arm Mrs. adley sank rapidly, and soon died with as asys an artificial tooth, of which he was unaware, fell down her throat and strangled her.

Gen. Ben Butler Saved from Partial Elindness.

Lowell, Mass., Feb. 19.—Gen. Benjamin F. Butler yesterday had a delicate operation performed upon his eyelid by Dr. Cilley, of Boston. The drooping eyelid with which he was born has, with his in creasing years, grown more troublesome, and recently hung so far over the eyeball as to practically destroy the sight, while it caused the General a great deal of pain. The operation was necessary to restore the sight of the eye. It was successful, and the patient will be able to go out again in three days.

Will. L. Joseph Mrs. In that nature had been made upon the treasury, stated that no demand of the treasury, tated that no demand of the nasury is the foundation of the Queen's successful. Then proved the easury, then address in reply to the Queen's summed up the case against the Government by declaring it wilfully resumed the address in reply to the Queen's summed upon he case against the Government by declaring it wilfully resumed the said, was one of perstical to ever the treasury, cannot up the case against the Government by declaring it wilfully resumed the said, was one of perstical to every the target whole Irish policy, he said, was one of persticant wrong-doing. There could be no pacification of Ireland as long as there served to ordinate the form the structural certain wrong the foundation of Ireland as long as there served to ordinate the foundation of Ire

Irish Misrule Defended by Ministerialists.

Mr. Morley's Caustic Criticism of the Government's Policy.

Death of the Noted Home

Ruler, Joseph Biggar. The British Troops in Egypt Affected by

The Grippe in Egypt. CAIRO, Feb. 19 .- The influenza has bee very severe among the British troops in Egypt.

Tenants to be Turned Out DUBLIN, Feb. 19.—One hundred wenty tenants on the Ponsonby estate will be summoned to-morrow to surrender possession of their holdings.

A Severe Electoral Struggle Predicted.
LONDON, Feb. 19.—A Berlin special predicts the electoral struggle in Germany will be very severe, and that the Cartel party will lose the majority of the seats they held in the last Reichstag.

The Arbiter of His Own Fate.
PAKIS, Feb. 19.—An inspired article in [Via Dalziel's News Agency.] LONDON, Feb. 19. — Lord Salisbury' health causes much uneasiness to his friends. He is ordered to the seaside, and has, in consequence, gone to Bournemouth, and is forbidden to attend to any but the most urgent business.

rgent business.

Damages for Libel.

London, Feb. 19.—Henry Campbell, private secretary to Mr. Parnell, has received £200 damages from the Belfast News Letter for publishing a statement that Campbell had provided the knives with which Lord Frederick Cavendish and Under Secretary Burke were murdered in Phœnix Park.

Parnell Congratulated.

London, Feb. 19.—The Council of the Liberal Federation has passed resolutions French army could be mobilized as soon as congratulating Mr. Parnell and his col the German, though the latter's equipment in arms and supplies would be much superior, aside from the question of fighting qualities and generalship. and demanding that the Government offer reparation to Mr. Parnell

Death of Joseph Biggar. London, Feb. 19.—Joseph Gillis Biggar, the well-known Home Ruler and member of the House of Commons for the west division of county Caven, died to-day at Clapham, a suburb of London. He was 62 years old.

Mr. Biggar's death was caused by heart disease. He was in the House of Commons last evening and was one of the tellers in the division on Parnell's amendment to the address in reply to the Queen's speech, asking for the repeal of the Coercion Act.

London's Labor Troubles.

IVIA Dalgiel's News Arguer! [Via Dalziel's News Agency.]
LONDON, Feb. 19.—The report of the London Gas Company upon the recent strike shows the cost to have been £250, investigate the matter be allowed the sa access to the prisoner as allowed the agent of the London Times.

of the London Times.

Mr. Henry Mathews, Secretary of State for Home Affairs, said he had no authority to grant the request for a sworn inquiry. He denied the allegations against the prison officials. Mr. Healy then asked: "Was Daly near-

Mr. Healy then asked: "Was Daly nearly poisoned?"
In reply, Mr. Mathews said the prison dispenser had put too much belladonna in a prescription for Daly. He had been suspended for his negligence.
Henry Labouchere asked whether the Government intended to demand a vote for the expenses of witnesses who testified before the Parnell Commission.
Wm. L. Jackson, Financial Secretary of the Treasury, stated that no demand of that nature had been made upon the treasury.

supposed to possess in civilized countries. The system of terrorism involved in the Plan of Campaign and boycotting was contrary not only to the general law, but to common morality, and absolutely destructive to the simplest element of freedom. It was admitted by the opponents of the Government that Ireland is now peaceful and prosperous the Government that Ireland is now peaceful and prosperous.

At the end of the debate the vote was taken on Mr. Parnell's amendment to the address, which was rejected—307 to 74.

Lonbon, Feb. 19.—In the House of Commons yesterday Sir Henry James declared that the inexorable facts were against the Parnell party in their endeavors to prove that the present tranquility of Ireland was due to a union of hearts, to that understanding between an English and Irish party which, it was pretended, promised the triumph of their ideas. The truth was that a similar improvement was observed the triumph of their ideas. The truth was that a similar improvement was observed under the influence of coercion as it was enforced during the Ministry of Mr. Gladstone. He thought Mr. Parnell, from what he eaid, must be ignorant of the condition of Ireland. Instead of böycotting being milder than formerly it was now absolutely fiendish. Ireland wished to be left alone, and members like Mr. Lefevre would really assist in the solution of the difficulties only by ceasing to interfere between landlord by ceasing to interfere between landlord and tenant.

Mr. Morley said surely a Government depending upon coercion and menace should approach the projected remedial measures with the deepest misgivings. Mr. Balfour had asserted at Edinburgh that the laws against combination were alike in England and Ireland, and this had drawn out a denial from several Tories. He invited those gentlemen to repeat their denial in the coming election for St. Pancras. the coming election for St. Pancras. He reminded the House that Lord Salis-He reminded the House that Lord Salisbury at the election of 1885 took the stand that the law could not touch boycotting. He challenged the Government to exhibit courage enough to denounce the Times, their ally, whose language was worse than that of United Ireland, or if they believed its charges, to expel their colleagues, whom it charged with murder. He described as a farce the proposed legislation that needed the co-operation of the Irish people and their leaders under a policy of coercion and exasperation.

[Via Dalziel News Agency.]
PARIS, Feb. 19.—The trouble heretofore reported in two coal mines at Ste. Tienne where the miners had struck on account of the discharge of one of their number, has spread to other mines, and it has been decided at a mass meeting to resort to a general strike.

The Times' Tool.
(Via Dalziel News Agency.)
LONDON, Feb. 19.—Houston, who procured the forged Parnell letters from Pigott and furnished them to the Times Union. Houston was prominent through-out the proceedings of the Paraell Com-mission for his zeal in the prosecution of members, and is denounced by them as the ringleader in a conspiracy to break them down.

Miss Vincent's Case.

Vincent, paramour of L. H. Isaacs, Mem ber of Parliament for Newington, Walber of Parliament for Newington, Wal-worth, under arrest for shooting him in the arm on her failure to compel him to sign certain promissory notes in her favor, came up for hearing to-day. The prisoner was committed for trial. In his testimony Mr. Isaacs admitted that the pistol might have been fired by accident and created a great sensation in court when he asserted that when Miss Vincent produced the pistol she first threatened to produced the pistol she first threatened to oot herself and thus make his cond

CURRENT CONDENSATIONS.

The Jung and Crescent breweries at Cincinnati, Ohio, have passed into the hands o an English syndicate. The cowners received nearly $1,000,000 cash for their property.

R. E. H. Smith, who represents the Corbin Banking Company, of New York, and who had opened a large plantation store at Elmey, La., has disappeared, leaving a deficit of $40 000. ng a deficit of $40,000.

ng a cenert of $40,000.
An aged blind woman named Anderson, iving three miles northwest of Aberdeen, outh Dakota, was found frozen to death unday morning, having wandered from her on's house during the night.

Patrick Cooney, known as "The Fox," ndicted for complicity in the Cronin murler, has been arrested at St. Louis, Mo., and identified as the man supposed to be smith, who took Cronin to the Carlons. mith, who took Cronin to the Carlson cot-

There was no riot in Hull Tuesday night. The evangelists for the third time attempted to hold a meeting there, and were successful. Hundreds of people thronged

A grant of $10,000 has been made by a gentleman, who does not want his name mentioned at present, towards the replenishing of the University. The first contibutions to the library was a set of ten volumes of Grote's History of Greece. This is the nucleus of the new library. The is the nucleus of the new library. The classes resumed without the loss of a

New York. London....

MURDER!

A Shocking Crime Perpetrated in the North End.

Henry Smith, of Regent Street Kills His Wife,

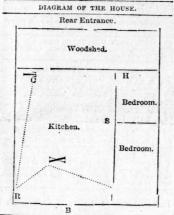

While More or Less Under Liquor's Influence. The Victim Terribly Battered and Disfigured-Handfuls of Her Hair Torn Out by the Roots-The Murderer's Deliberation-He Proceeds to Wash the Corpse.

London's record of immunity from rious crime which has been the pride of its citizens for a long time past was last night by the murder of Mrs. Henry Smith, of Regent street, by her husban The deed from what has been discovered. vas of a deliberate character, but that Smith was more or less muddled by liquor s also a fact. The scene of the murder one of the most dismal, uninhabited sections that could be found in the immediat neighborhood of any city. At the extreme east end of Regent street, near the banks of the river, was the habitation of Henry Smith, a three-roomed house. The nearest neighbor was a full block away and any disturbance at the Smith house could readily pass unnoticed by the residents of the neigh borhood. The family troubles were recently ventilated at the Police Court, and that the affairs of the household did not run smoothly was then brought before the pub-lic. Shortly after 8 o'clock last evening a telephone message was received at the police station stating that

THERE WAS A DISTURBANCE

at a house on Regent street, and the patrol wagon started for the scene with P. Cs.
Woolway and Gaul. After a long run over rough country they arrived at the hovel at the end of Regent street, on the bank of the river, owned and occupied by Henry Smith. The house consisted of but three rooms, two bedrooms and a kitchen, all miserably furnished and showing signs of want and wretchedness. In the middle of the kitchen a terrible sight met the gaze of Constable Gaul as he entered. The THERE WAS A DISTURBANCE

AMERICAN.

Malignant diphtheria is raging at Wellington, Ohio, and the public schools have been closed.

Charles J. Harrah, the millionaire Brazilian raifroad contractor, died at Philadelphia Tuesday night, aged 74.

Louis Somers, of Hastings, Minn., aged 21 years, shot and killed his sweetheart, Mary Fietezen, aged 18 years, because she refused to marry him.

The Jung and Crescent breweries at Cinthering and Cresc

The unfortunate victim was dressed in a shabby, dark garment, with white underclothes, which her blood had dyed a deep crimson. From the appearance of the room it was evident that a terrible struggle for life was made by the victim. The murderer had raised the body off the floor, placed it in the rocking-chair and TRIED TO WASH THE BLOOD OFF HER FACE. Near the chair, on a small wood stove, was a pail containing a quantity of blood and water and a sponge. The husband was a pail containing a quantity of blood and water and a sponge. The husband was found by the officers just inside the bedroom at the south end of the house, and betrayed very little excitement. He was placed under arrest and made no effort to escape. When asked by Constable Gaul who had committed the murder.

SMITH REPLIED, "I DO NOT KNOW."

Previous to the arrival of the officers he wanted to mount his horse and come into

Previous to the arrival of the officers he wanted to mount his horse and come into the city and give himself up, but the people in the house refused to allow him to leave. On the road to the police station he said to Constable Woolway, "There is only one that knows about it," and further, "I now that my wife is gone." On the way to the station, according to Constable Woolway, he made an attempt to get out of the wagon, but was restrained.

One of Bowmanville's most influential citizens, Mr. John McDougall, dropped dead on the street Monday evening. He had been curling, and was heard to complain of a pain in his chest.

Martin Folspick, farmer, 60 years of age, was found dead in his bed at his home, near Haystead, Ont., on Tuesday morning. He ived alone. A verdict of "death from natural causes" was returned by the coroner's jury.

A grant of $10,000 has been made by a gentleman, who does not want his name mentioned at present, towards the replensishing of the University. The first contibutions to the library was a set of ten in the part of the second visit the officer found a small grey coars of Grete's History of Greece. This

COAT SATURATED WITH ELOOD,
which was identified by the neighbors as belonging to Smith, the prisoner having worn it previous to committing the verrible crime. A large handful of the unfortunate woman's hair was gathered off the floor, having been torn out by the roots, and later on a

about two feet long and half an inch wide covered with blood and half an inch wide covered, with which it is supposed the deed was committed. In one of the adjoin-ing bedrooms was found a number of blood stains which evidently had been made by Smith in his endeavor to clean his hands. Smith in his endeavor to clean his hands.

THE SMITH FAMILY
consisted of Henry Smith, his wife and son, and it is freely stated that they have never enjoyed any domestic felicity owing to the evil temper of Smith. He is a man 5 feet 10 inches, strong but bony, and is 64 years old, with curly sandy bair and whiskers which are turning gray. He followed the vocation of a market gardener and was not known as a drunken character. Mrs.

Smith was

Smith was

A TRIN, WEARLY WOMAN

about 55 years old, and it is alleged that the treatment meted out to her by her pariner in life had much to do with her poor health. She had been afraid to go home on several occasions for fear of her husband, and had stopped st a neighbor's named White the night before. The fact that she had staved away was white the night before. The fact that she had stayed away was yesterday. The son William was convicted two weeks ago at the Police Court on a charge of assaulting his father and was sentenced to a month's imprisonment, which term has but half expired.

THE REASON FOR HIS ANGER

BEFORE THE MURDER.

About 3:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon mith was seen by the neighbors making is way home, some of whom aver that he his way home, some of whom aver that he was the worse of liquor, while others say that he was sober. At 4 o'clock Smith and his wife were at a neighbor's house (Mr. J. Middleton's), about a block from their own home. After they left there Mrs. Middleton accompanied them home and remained. ton accompanied them home and remained until 6 o'clock, when she went to her house, after receiving a promise from Smith he would not maltreat his wife.

would not malfreat his wife.

THE FIRST INTIMATION OF THE TRAGEDY that the Middletons had was about 8:30 o'clock, when Smith came to the house and said to Mr. James Middleton: "Where is the boss?" Come over to the house, the missus is dead." Mr. Middleton replied: "She is not." But Smith again replied: "She is dead," and added:
""HE PROPER HERSELF ADDING." "SHE KNOCKED HERSELF AROUND "

Young Middleton then went with Smith over to the house and found that the terrible tidings of the woman's death were but too true. On entering the room he saw A FORM COVERED UP with an overcoat and a shawl lying on the

with an overcoat and a shawl lying on the floor, and on inspection it proved to be the corpse of his neighbor's wife, who had but a few hours ago been in his own house. Mrs. Smith was now silent in death, and the body was horribly bruised and maltreated. Mr. Middleton lost no time in SENDING WORD TO THE FOLICE, who responded with commendable promptness. Coroner Smith placed the body on a soft and left a watch composed of Messrs. James Middleton, George Burt and William Tierney with it until morning, when it will be removed to Ferguson's.

The patrol wagon containing the police officers and the reporters came rumbling back into the city after 11 o'clock.

SMITH'S RECORD.

back into the city after II o'clock.

SMITH'S RECORD.

Chief Williams was interviewed by an ADVERTISER reporter. He said, "I know Smith well. He was in the habit of taking a glass occasionally, but I never knew him to be under the influence of liquor. About eight or ten years ago he was employed on the Higgins' estate, back of the Carling farm. He was up at the Police Court once for having a horse on the market which was farm. He was up at the Police Court once for having a horse on the market which was was arrested and tried before Judge Arfor having a horse on the market which was suffering from glanders. He agreed to bury the animal and take the necessary sanitary precautions, and the matter was dropped. Some time ago he removed to the city and went into partnership with a man named Reddick in raising cattle. The partnership ended disastrously from a financial standpoint, both men being thrown into a state of poverty, and the cattle were sold. He has since been at market gardening. He spoke to me to night regarding the care of his horses, and didn't seem particularly drunk, although he had been drinking. He said nothing about the crime, except 'It's a bad job.'"

Dr. Smith will hold the inquest this afternoon, the jury being summoned to meet first at the house.

At the Police Court.

AT THE POLICE COURT.

A large crowd of citizens drawn together by the news of the awful deed completely filled the auditorium of the Police Court this morning and waited with patience for the appearance of the accused man. On his entering the court a hum of whispering went around the anxious spectators and each crooked and strained his neck to get a better view of the man each crooked and strained his neck to get a better view of the man against whom was registered the blackest deed on the calendar of crime. It was expected by many present that the prisoner would be called on to make some statement as to what he had done, but they were disappointed. The charge of murder was made by Constable Woolway, one of the officers who arrested Smith at his house, and the Magistrate

REMANDED HIM FOR SEVEN DAYS.

REMANDED HIM FOR SEVEN DAYS. pending the action of the coroner's jury, which meets this afternoon. After the remand the prisoner was removed to the cells without any comment or remark upon his action.

THE MURDERED WOMAN.

THE MURDERED WOMAN.

The murdered woman's maiden name was Lucy Jackson, and she married Smith about 22 years ago. Smith had previously been married, and had five children by his first wife, all of whom are in England. Many years ago Smith kept the hotel known as the "Poor Men's Home," on Richmond street, near the toll-gate. He had only one son by this last marriage.

THE SON.

William H. Smith, the son of the mur-William H. Smith, the son of the murdered woman, has been in jail for the last two weeks on a charge of assaulting his father. This morning he was released by Police Magistrate Park on the Chief guaranteeing payment of the fine of $10 for which the young man had been imprisoned. Young Smith was spoken to by an Advertiser proper just after his release. TISER reporter just after his release and seemed very much cut up at the terrible occurrence. "I am ALONE IN THE WORLD, and have lost my right hand now my mother's gone," he said, with his eyes filling with tears. "You'll excuse me talking to you now, but I tell you it is a hard thing and I can't speak about myself just now."

The poor lad evidently felt his position most keenly, and broke down completely when he talked of going to see the body of his murdered mother. ORDERED CLOTHING

THE SCENE OF THE TRAGEDY.

On the table in the room where the body lay were a few articles which, taken collectively, are of interest in community the crime. Several books and at one side. There was a boun

Coughs, Colds. - Croup Consumption :

WHOLE NO., 8555

Can be successfully checked and cared by TOLU. TAR and TAMARACK

One bottle will relieve at once the most betinate case of chronic cough or cold. Price, 25 cents per bottle. SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS.

REMNANTS OF THE LAST MEAL.

On the same table were a few dishes and a loaf of bread, part of the latter having been cut off and toasted. The toasted slice lay on the plate with some butter, which scanty fare had no doubt been partaken of by the couple after Mrs. Middleton had left them together. Nothing else of an edible character was to be seen except a small quantity of salt. The entire premises were cramped, the bedrooms being so small that the beds took up nearly all the room therein.

A CHEERLESS SPECTACLE.

took up nearly all the room therein.

A CHEERLESS SPECTACLE.

To-day the premises of the Smith family presented a cheerless aspect. The whitewashed house, with the doors battened up, was deserted. The pleasant sunshine looked upon the old sleighs and lumber which were strewed about the yard. A brood of chickens walked around the place looking for their customary feed, but the hand for which they waited was cold in death. The dog belonging to the family wandered around and around the house in a dejected manner with its ears drooping and its eyes on the ground. Curious persons who visited the premises peered in through the windows and stood talking over the crime, but the canine did not even notice their presence.

canine did not even notice their presence.

The inside of the house showed that it he been kept in fairly clean condition.

THE CORONER'S JUFY.

The following jury was sworn in: Messrs.
John Callard, John Ross, David Sayer,
Edward Palmer, F. F. Hanson (foreman),
L. W. Burke, William Graham Alexander
Irwin, Joseph Percival, A. Ashplant, James Webster, Edward Burke, John Quait, William Davis, P. J. Watt and Chas. Elliott.
They viewed the body and adjourned, until They viewed the body and adjourned until to-morrow evening at 7:30 in the police

The last murder in London previous to his was one somewhat similar in 1885. Benjamin Simmons being the murderer. Simmons lived on Dundas street, next door to Schram's detective office, with a woman named Mary Ann Stokes, and in a fit of drunken frenzy Simmons committed the awful crime. The first intimation of the act was the appearance of Simmons in Schram's office flourishing a broken knife. Schramand Constable Allen went upon Schramand Constable Allen went upon found the woman lying stabbed. Simmons was arrested and tried before Judge Arwas Sent. 15, 1885. He was found to the was found to the stable and the stable are stable as a sent was a sent with the stable and the stable are stable as a sent was a sent with the stable as a sent we was found to the stable as a sent was a sent with the stable as a sent was a sent with the stable as a sent was a sent with the stable as a sent was a sent with the stable as a sent was a sent with the stable as a sent was a sent with the stable as a sent was a sent with the stable as a sent was a sent with the stable as a sent was a sent with the stable as a sent was a sent with the stable as a sent was a sent was a sent with the stable as a sent was a sent with the stable as a sent was a sent with the stable as a sent was a sent with the stable as a sent was a sent with the stable as a sent was a sent with the stable as a sent with the stable as a sent was a sent with the stable as a sent was a sent with the stable as a sent was a sent with the stable as a sent was a sent with the stable as a sent with the stable as a sent was a sent with the stable as a sent was a sent with the stable as a sent with the stable was a sent wit was arrested and tried before Judge Ar-mour on Sept. 15, 1885. He was found guilty and sentenced to death. The execu-tion took place in the jail yard on Nov. 27, 1885. This is the most recent execution that has taken place in London.

THE WEATHER.

TORONTO, Feb. 18—11 p.m.—The storm center which was over Lake Michigan last night has moved across the lower lakes to Vermont and New Hampshire, and the anticyclone is now spreading quickly eastward over the lake region from the Northwest Territories. Light snow and rain have fallen Territories. Light snow and rain have fallen in Ontario, and a northeast snow storm has prevailed in Quebec and the western part of the Maritime Provinces. Mitimum temperatures this morning: Edmonton, 46° below zero; Prince Albert, 50° below; Qu'Appelle, 30° below; Winnipeg, 22° below; Toronto, 19°; Montreal, 8°; Quebec, 4°; Halifax, 12°.

LOCAL TEMPERATURES YESTERDAY.
For 24 hours ending 8 p.m.—(Observations taken at 3 a.m. and 8 p.m: Highest, 38°; lowest, 29°; mean (daily), 33°.

PROBABILITIES.
For the next 24 hours for the lakes:
North and northwest winds; fair and decidedly colder weather.

Death of Bayard Taylor's Mother. KENNETT SQUARE, Pa., Feb. 19.—Mrs. Rebecca Way Taylor, mother of the late Bayard Taylor, died at her residence in this borough yesterday after a brief illness, aged 90 years.

Vitriol-Throwing. ERIE, Pa., Feb. 19.—Miss Emma Fischer, young lady of prominence and respectability, went to the door of her house Monbility, wentto the door of her house Mon-day evening in response to a call. A man-who stood close by with masked face, threw a quantity of oil of vitriol into her face and fled. Dennis McCarty, the young lady's lover, set out to find the wretch and discovered him in an old building. The wretch, on being cornered, shot McCarty and made his escape.

YOUR "GRIPPE"

On the chance we offer to buy the very best

Gents' Furnishings Very Cheap at the imnade the ices, and per than

t Once.

ed.

LAR.

ed.

Cotton,

for

with cial

for

for