DID DEATH STOP THEM?

This Mar's Clocks Stopped Moment His Brother Died.

Middleboro, Mass., Jan. 19.-Wenlock Down, of this place, yesterday told a story that might interest the Psychical Research Society. A little more than two weeks ago a brother of Mr. Down was killed in Providence by falling from a freight train upon which he was regularly employed. The accident happened in the evening at exactjust at that minute, in the house of the brother living here, three clocks and a watch stopped.

On the morning of the lay of the fatality Mr. Down went into a local clothing store to purchase a pair of handed out by the clerk. He declined at first to consider this shade, and remarked to the salesman that if he should buy black gloves there would week. He finally bought the gloves, but says that from that moment he had a foreboding of evil. The next morning Mr. Down received word that his brother had been killed the night before, and then there was serious consideration given to the stop. of the clocks and watch.
