LIGHTNING FIRED BARN AT MT. ELGIN

H. P. Shuttleworth Sustained Heavy Loss in Early Morning Blaze.

INGERSOLL, June 27.—A large barn of brick and steel construction, which was supposed to be fireproof, was destroyed by lightning this morning on the farm of H. P. Shuttleworth, Mount Elgin. It is thought that the bolt penetrated through the roof, igniting hay in the loft. The building was unusually severe and throughout this district the rain fell in torrents for about an hour. During the storm lightning struck a chimney on the house of B. Beecroft, King street, east. The chimney was knocked off and a large hole torn in the roof. At the residence of E. Gregory, nearby, a number of switches were torn out of a fuse box, but there were no serious results. In the town and district the Ingersoll Telephone Company had a large number of telephones put out of commission.

JAP TREATY LIKELY TO BE DISCUSSED BY PREMIER TODAY

Lloyd George Is Expected To Go Into Biggest Question of the Conference With the Delegates.

LONDON, June 27.—By The Associated Press.—The British prime minister, Mr. Lloyd George, again today addressed the imperial conference lengthily on foreign affairs. The session was delayed until 3:30 o'clock in the afternoon owing to Mr. Lloyd George's other engagements.

The representatives of the overseas Dominions put many questions to the prime minister, and it is understood that the discussion was somewhat inconclusive. Consideration of the agenda evoked difference of opinion as to how the matters for discussion should be grouped. The secretariat finally drafted a list of subjects in accordance with their relative importance and these will be taken up later.

May Come Up Today.
It is the belief that if Mr. Lloyd George is prepared, the discussion of the Anglo-Japanese treaty will be opened tomorrow morning by the prime minister himself or Lord Curzon, secretary of state for foreign affairs.

Informal conversations in the conference disclosed varying opinions as to whether the Anglo-Japanese treaty should be taken up separately or in conjunction with naval defence, or whether there should be grouped together with the Japanese Alliance, disarmament and relations with the United States. At this is a matter still undecided there may possibly be a still further postponement of the discussion until the premiers have had time to consider the list drawn up by the secretariat and decide upon the procedure.

No Resolutions.
No resolutions were adopted today either on the subject of foreign relations or the agenda, and no official communiqué was issued. Presumably nothing will be divulged concerning the foreign policy and it is likely that the discussion on the Anglo-Japanese alliance will be very protracted, unless the conference should take up the idea, which has been mooted in some quarters, of finding a temporary solution by renewing the alliance for another year until it is seen whether it is possible to bring about a conference on the whole Pacific problem and naval armaments in which Great Britain, the United States, Japan and China would join.

The question of Ireland, it is understood, has not been brought formally before the conference and as it is still unknown whether a meeting in London of Sir James Craig and Eamon De Valera will be brought about, nothing can be decided regarding those who will take part. It is considered extremely unlikely that the premiers of the overseas Dominions will participate.

DOMINION RIGHTS.
LONDON, June 27.—By Grattan O'Leary, Staff Correspondent of the Canadian Press.—A declaration of Dominion rights by Right Hon. Arthur Meighen, premier of Canada, setting out what, in his judgment, should constitute an adequate voice for the Dominions in the foreign affairs of the empire was today debated at length by the conference of prime ministers. Premier Meighen, whose address was by way of being a review of Lord Curzon's outline of the world policy of the British foreign office, laid down four cardinal principles which, he declared, were essential to the heightened status of the Dominions. Although the speech and the discussion which ensued have not yet been made public, and may for the time being be regarded as confidential it is said his four points were as follows:

First.—That on all questions of foreign policy which more directly concern the British Empire, such as matters arising in connection with Palestine, Mesopotamia and the Middle East, the governments of the dominions should be kept thoroughly and constantly informed.

Second.—That upon all questions of foreign policy affecting the Empire as a whole the dominion governments must be consulted.

Third.—That the British Government should enter into no treaties or special alliances without consultation with and the advice of the dominions, and that all treaties even when entered into, be subject to the approval of the dominion parliaments.

Fourth.—That upon all questions arising as between the United States and Canada, the advice of the Dominion Government must be accepted as final.

The foregoing doctrine, which is by no means revolutionary, and in fact represents nothing more than what Hon. N. W. Bowden, former president of the privy council, laid down in parliament last session as the very minimum rights, created considerable stir in the conference. It had been expected that the prime ministers would speak with the Anglo-Japanese alliance immediately Premier Meighen completed his statement, but Premier Hughes of Australia who characterized it as a "vastly important declaration calling for thorough examination," insisted that it be discussed and in this he was supported by Premier Smuts of South Africa.

Premier Meighen, in his address, combated a statement by Premier Massey of New Zealand, that the imperial war cabinet had advised the king and that, therefore, the continuation of the war cabinet would give the dominions a greater voice in the Empire's foreign policy than amere conference such as that now being held.

The Canadian premier argued that the dominion ministers in the imperial war cabinet did not advise the king, but by consultation with the British cabinet merely helped influence the advice which the latter gave to the sovereign. In this respect, indeed, Mr. Meighen is probably not prepared to go as far as Premier Smuts, or even Sir Robert Borden or Hon. N. W. Rowell, who, it will be remembered, have practically advocated that the dominion cabinets advise the king direct. Premier Meighen apparently sees difficulty and danger in this, while willing to accept a condition with a guarantee that would be secured that the advice of the dominion, on all matters exclusively affecting them, be taken.

Asked by a member of the conference where, or how, it would be drawn a line between questions affecting the Empire as a whole and those with which Britain alone was concerned, Premier Meighen replied that the matter would have to be left to time and experience.

The discussion which ensued has not yet been made public, but it is not unlikely that a full statement will be issued tomorrow.

Cable messages which Premier Meighen is receiving from British Columbia asking that no action be taken with respect to the Anglo-Japanese alliance or the status of Indian subjects, which might result in more Orientals entering Canada, indicate that British Columbians are not clear as to the real facts. The Anglo-Japanese alliance is not concerned with immigration. That subject is exclusively dealt with in the treaty of commerce and navigation, dated April 8, 1913, between the United Kingdom and Japan, which was adhered to by Canada, and which remains in force until January, 1923, and thereafter until terminated by either side on one year's notice. This treaty regulates immigration from Japan, subject to the special agreement negotiated in 1907 by Hon. Rodolphe Lenioux, at that time postmaster general in the Laurier Government. This treaty is entirely separate from the Anglo-Japanese alliance.

As far as the Indians are concerned, both Indian delegates to the conference have made it perfectly clear that they have no intention of interfering with the right of Canada to bar Orientals.

WARNED TO SHIFT STOCK OF LIQUOR
Damaging Evidence Is Given At Toronto Police Investigation.

TORONTO, June 27.—James Jeffrey, a provincial officer, testifying this afternoon at the investigation being conducted by Judge Ward into charges made against certain police officers of having sold 886 bottles of liquor at H. Gold's place, 400 of which were located between joints after flooding had been removed and 400 in the hands of the police, said that Mrs. Rosie Gold was convicted after this find, he said.

A day or so after the raid, Jeffrey said, former Crown Attorney Corley remarked to him that it was a good raid, and said: "I knew all about the liquor there, and I told Gold's son that it should be shifted, or Hammond's men would get it." The witness explained that Hammond was the head of the police squad looking after breaches of the O. T. A. cases.

Evidence Admitted.
George Wilkie, counsel for Mr. Corley, had objected to this evidence going in, on the ground that Mr. Corley was not crown attorney at the time, and was not being investigated. The judge admitted it, however.

"Mr. Corley did not say he knew the liquor was there at the time he was crown attorney?" Mr. Wilkie asked the witness.

"No, he did not," was the reply.

Sam Smith, another provincial officer, swore that Mr. Corley said he had warned young Gold to shift the stuff but "the crazy fool" didn't take any notice of the warning. He had told Gold to shift it, or Hammond's gang would get it. Smith said he thought at the time that Corley was just joking.

Winked at Ward.
"Clarkson winked at Ward," said Louis Lock, a witness who told of a party of Hebrews in Gold's place one night, the summer when Detectives Ward and Clarkson raided the place and took away a keg of beer. They left four bottles, two of alcohol and two of whiskey, the witness said. Asked how it was the officers left the bottled stuff, the witness cryptically answered: "Clarkson winked at Ward."

LONDONERS ADMIT ROBBERING STORES

Harold Duffy and Peter Fresell Sent To Circuit Court.

SARNIA, June 27.—Harold Duffy, aged 16, and Peter Fresell, aged 17, London, Ont., youths who were arrested at the Port Huron and Sarnia ferry dock by Patrolman Lane after they had robbed the cash register of the Jacobson-Bowen Company, pleaded guilty in police court today, and were bound over to the circuit court. The youths were first sent to probate court, but were sent by Judge George Brown back to justice court. According to confessions made by the two youths they first robbed the Unger sporting goods store of two revolvers. Later they visited various mercantile establishments. When arrested today they had in their possession the two guns, $70 in cash taken from the Jacobson-Bowen store, and merchandise from other stores. The youths both confessed that they had robbed several stores in Canada. The story told the police was that they planned to load the guns and start out on a career of crime.

BECK OFFERS TO SELL POWER TO DETROIT CITY

25,000 To 60,000 Horse-Power Available This Fall.

(Special to The Advertiser).

DETROIT, June 27.—Detroit's municipal street railway lines in all probability will be operated by power generated at Niagara Falls and sold to the city by the Ontario hydro power commission. Mayor Cousins notified the city council today that he had conferred with Sir Adam Beck, chairman of the Canadian commission, and that he had been informed that Detroit could be provided with power.

Sir Adam Beck was in conference with the mayor at the latter's farm for three hours Sunday and said that Detroit could enter into a contract with the commission to obtain from 25,000 to 60,000 horse-power by fall. The contract would run for ten years, and by that time the Ontario commission expects to be able to provide approximately 900,000 horse-power to the city. All this power would not be needed for operation of municipal lines, the mayor told the council. He believed it could be retailed by the city to domestic or industrial customers.

The power can be obtained at a moderate rate, and could be retailed at great saving to the public. Householders could get this power for cooking purposes much cheaper than what they now pay for gas, the mayor said.

PARLIAMENT OPENS TODAY AT DUBLIN

Lower House Is Expected To Be Virtually Unrepresented.

DUBLIN, June 27.—The ceremony of opening the southern Parliament will be held tomorrow. A partial attendance on the part of senators is anticipated, but the Lower House is expected to be virtually unrepresented. The lord mayor of Dublin has received notification to attend the function. Workmen today were busily engaged in preparing the council room of the department of agriculture for the event, erecting the dais and fixing the seats. The military will be in charge, and reporters will be excluded.

SEES PLOT BREWING.
BELFAST, June 27.—William Coote, member of Parliament for South Tyrone and a prominent Ulster leader, in a statement today regarding Mr. Lloyd George's letter, says:

"I have believed all along that there was a plot to subjugate Ulster to the Dublin Parliament. I didn't expect the plot to ripen so soon or to be presented in so clumsy a fashion. Ulster has already contributed her quota to the pacification of Ireland. She has nothing further to barter, unless she hands over civil and religious freedom. Therefore, we say to the premier, and you and De Valera, do whatever you wish with the remainder of the island."

"We are willing to work with all Irishmen for our country's good, but only as free, self-respecting citizens of the British empire. We decline to associate with murderers, at least until they have repented their evil deeds."

BUFFALO POLICE RAID COCK FIGHT

Capture Twenty-Three Birds, But All Spectators Succeeded in Escaping.

BUFFALO, N. Y., June 27.—Twenty-three choice fighting cocks will be killed today and cooked to adorn the table of a city institution as the result of a raid on a cocking main yesterday.

Some months ago the Buffalo breeders went to Hamilton and lost heavily on their birds. A return match was arranged, and when the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals learned that the fight was going to take place just outside the city the sheriff was tipped off.

Sheriff Waldo and four deputies swooped down on the international fight, but a sentry stationed on the outskirts of the crowd of more than a hundred gave the alarm and the men escaped into the woods.
