Mr. Robert Day seconded the resolution.

Mr. T. Poultney Griffin said he should like to ask one question before the resolution was put. He happened to be in British Columbia in July last, being very much interested in an adjoining property, and he visited the Hall Mines and the smelter on the very day that Lord and Lady Aberdeen went over the property, and the general impression conveyed to him at the time was that they had a very leave the management of Mr. E. In 1857 an association was formed in London, Eng., under the above title by members both of the clergy and laity of the Roman Catholic, Greek and Anglican Communions. It is hoped and believed that many however widely separated at present in their religious convictions, who deplore the grievous scandal to unbelievers, and the hindrance to the promotion of truth and holiness among Christians caused by the unhappy divisions existing amongst those who profess to have "One Lord, one Faith, one Baptism," will recognize the consequent duty of joining their intercessions to the Redeemer's dying prayer, "that they all may be one in Us, that the world may be lieve that Thou hast sent Me." This exploit robbed us of $19,000, and although designed to blacken the Conservative party, all that it proved was that a Manitoba J. P. appointed to office by Mr. Greenway had been guilty of illegal acts. Then followed a curious exhibition in Saskatchewan. Two Liberals had run for the vacant seat, and the defeated candidate entered a protest against the victor, Mr. Davis, charging him with corruption. This was settled by arrangement made at Ottawa, under which, in return for a sum of money and for a promise that the defeated candidate should run next time, and that the patronage should be distributed by a committee of four parks. ronage should be distributed by a committee of four party men, the case was

. A. Sandeman Explains His New System for Supplying the Neatest Creations of the Expert Tailor.

A. Sandeman, who as a traveller has had many a good word to speak for Viea member of the R. Greene Manufacturing Company of London, one of the largest clothing manufacturing firms in the wide dominion. They are now reaching out for far western trade, and it is in this connection that Mr. Sandeman is here. Prefatory, he notes that the clothing business of Canada has recently taken a decided change, the public of today being decidedly averse to accepting such garments as in the past were quite acceptable as "ready mades." The "ready made" suit of to-day, it is demanded, men.

Cobiously the scandal is the result of the importation of the Sifton principle into Federal affairs. Mr. Sifton is above all things a practical politician with an eye to the main chance. His appearance in the Manitoba arena was the signal for an exhibition of hitherto unheard-of the problem of the stands forth and declares that so far made" suit of to-day, it is demanded, shall be so perfect in fit and workman-ship as not to be distinguishable in any way from the custom-made garments. And to meet this critical demand of the public, Mr. Sandeman's firm has very recently been obliged to establish an entirely new system and practically reorganize their immense factory, placing at the head of the working staff Mr. A. tirely new system and practically reor-ganize their immense factory, placing at the head of the working staff Mr. A. Christic—late foreman cutter and design-er of one of the largest houses in New York city. Then a small army of skilled mechanics were ingaged, the majority from the largest and most famous cloththe West, while Tarte operated on the other lines in Quebec. Mr. Sifton solemnly declared at a public meeting that he never could, and never would, alter this second could, and never would, alter this second could be seen that the never could, and never would, alter this second could be seen that the never could, and never would, alter this second could be seen that the never could be seen this sacred enactment, and on this pledge, which turned out to be untrue, carried the province in 1895. In 1896 compose each "set," and make coats from start to finish, producing a class of 90, has on No. and on the was still shouting "No Popery," but when the party won in June of that year a change came over the spirit of his dream. Joe Martin was a candidate for the Federal cabinet. So was Mr. Sifton. Under these circumstances, Sir Wilfrid had to abandon Martin and to take Sifton. The knifing of Joe Martin, together with the abandonment of his principles. with the abandonment of his principles, were the influences which carried Mr. Sifton into the Federal cabinet. The coming to Ottawa was heralded ple who wish to dress well and have at by tremendous laudatory notices in the Western press. It turned out afterwards that Mr. Sifton had employed a more should be necessary.
