

was beginning to lose the hope of effecting a sale even at a slight profit. Then I prayed St Anne and, wonderful to relate, I at once sold my property. I immediately bought another which I sold forthwith. In a single day, I had realized a profit of four hundred and fifty one dollars. I owe that far unhopéd success to St Anne.

A young person was in great perplexity about her marriage with a young man whom she had met after a separation of two years and a half. She had recourse to St Anne and promised to publish in the Annals the fact of their being reunited as soon as God's will would be manifested. The young person had great fears and seriously hesitated to get married. But the difficulties were so easily and so soon smoothed over that the marriage took place. This is to accomplish her promise.

One day a congregationist of St Anne said to me : « A little child a year old fell from the second story. At the same moment, his mother, who saw him falling, tearfully commended herself to St Anne and made her a promise. By a marvel, that can be explained only by the instantaneous intervention of our great Thaumaturga, the poor little thing was not injured in the slightest degree. »

All these facts, Reverend Father, have been related to me either verbally or in writing and I have reproduced them as faithfully as possible. May they serve to make Her to whom we are indebted for so many favors, better known and still more glorified. Thank her for us, Reverend Father, beg her to continue to protect us and to enable us to repeat every year our pilgrimages that we love so much.

Accept, Reverend Father, the assurance of my deep gratitude and of my entire devotedness in Jesus, Mary and St Anne.

F. LEFEBVRE, Priest O. M. I.

Director of the yearly Pilgrimages of St Peter's church

In another letter from the same correspondent, respecting the Pilgrimages, we find the following remarks which are always applicable : « Not one of these journeys is undertaken without special favors being granted to the Pilgrims. What touches us more than the corporal cures, which are nevertheless numerous, is the fact of the remarkable conversions obtained at each pilgrimage. We therefore hope that well conducted pilgrimages, real pilgrimages will continue to receive from the Ecclesiastical Authority the encouragement that they deserve. »
