To Trial Subscribers to the Montreal "Daily"
or "Weekly Witness," as follows: :: :: ::

THE DOCTOR. By Sir Samuel Luke Fildes

The original of this most human picture hangs in the Tate Gallery, London, having been purchased by the British people. It tells its own great story of professional solicitude, childish helplessness, and parental grief.

The reproduction above is from coarse newspaper cut, and gives only a very rough idea of the subject matter of the picture, but no conception whatever of its beauty.

Also THE HORSE FAIR. By Rosa Bonheur.

Known all over the world as the greatest work of this renowned animal painter. Same size and quality as "THE DOCTOR." These exquisite photogravures are printed on heavy plate paper, 22 x 28 inches, and will adorn any home.
