

The Song of the Knitters.

(Found in a pair of socks from Sudbury, Ontario).

We are knitting, knitting, knitting,
 From a skein of tangled hue,
 And our eyes are sometimes blinded,
 But our threads are knitted true.

We're spinning love, and hope, and faith,
 And we twist their subtle strands
 Into silver threads of comfort,
 Knotted in by willing hands.

We're knitting cheer, and help, and strength,
 While our hearts beat out the time
 That our fingers quickly shuttle
 Into low and mystic rhyme.

We are weaving out the courage,
 That our Homeland love shall spread,
 As a mantle for the living,
 And a promise for the dead.

We are spinning, and we're knitting,
 With our needles flying fast;
 And we're weaving, and we're praying
 That each garment be the last.

We are knitting, knitting, knitting,
 From a skein of tangled hue,
 And our eyes are sometimes blinded,
 But our threads are knitted true.
