

were then raised for other NATO countries and is planned to step up training facilities for the forthcoming year to accommodate about 1,400 soldiers.

Canada's contributions to NATO have thus been substantial and are growing in importance.

October 1952 U.S. This article was prepared by the Department of External Affairs for the Bureau of Current Affairs of the Department of National Defence and was first published in one of the series of pamphlets "Current Affairs used by the Canadian armed forces in their Disposition Notes."