Was Not So Certain.

Ex-Mayor Dr. Clendenan was not so certain that a centre at the corner of Keele and Dundas-streets would build up a busl-ness centre. Whilst the residents of Islingston, Lambton and Weston might change cars there, and buy a few minor things in the stores whilst making the transfer, still there was a greater possibility of their doing their greatest amount of business in the larger field to which they were going or from which they were returning. The believed that better terms could be made with the Toronto Rallway Company by which a line would be operated to High Park in summer and to Keele and Dundas-streets in whiter, returning by Humberside-avenue. This would to a certain extent compensate JUNCTION'S MASS MEETING for discontinuing the service on Evelyncrescent and the town would go to the Legislature a unit in asking for ratification of the agreement.

Take It at Once.

Ex-Mayor James Bond thought the present opportunity for getting cars to Keelestreet should be taken advantage of. To run cars via High Park would be making the Junction a fringe of the city and it would be better to preserve its individuality as a business centre, establish a market in a central locality and secure to the Junction the business which is now scattered along the concessions several miles out, which he instanced by city buyers going out to meet farmers on their way to the city. Toronto, he said, had no market and produce merchants in the city did their

Toronto Junction, Sept. 11.—(Special.)
The large number of property owners who assembled at the meeting of the Town Council to-night proves that the citizens are taking a deep interest in the proposed extension of the city electric railway to the corner of Keele and Dundas-streets. The Mayor and Councillor Anderson reviewed to deal with the matter, which was nore was not ear to the city cars, but thought a belt line around by High Park and Humberside-avenue went if it could be secured.

Mr. A. B. Rice encouraged the council in passing a by-law involving the proposed agreement with the railway company. He thought the council had made the best bargain it was possible to make and that city cars to Keele-street would build up a busitess centre, thereby benefiting the town at large.

Was Not So Certain. Quebec, Sept. 11.—Mr. A. E. Talbot, chief guardian of the emigrant buildings, passed suddenly away at his office this afternoon from heart failure. He was 67 years of age. Mr. Talbot was a prominent worker in the Liberal cause, and was formerly proprietor of the Commercial Hotel at Fraserville.

Was Not So Certain.

At Least One Rejoiced.

Mr. R. C. Jennings, manager of the Bank of Commerce, rejoiced in the progress made by the council, but thought the town should have a quid pro quo for the concessions granted. He feared that the Toronto line would absorb the Suburban at some future date and that the town would have to abide by the present agreement for at least 20 years. He advised the council to Jelay and urged upon them to ask for a loop I'ne via High Park.

Fall Opening...

of... Millinery, Mantles, and Dress Goods

September 11th, 12th, and 13th.

Every store gets some things new and some things that're really stylish, but there's every possible difference in the range of Novelties that find favour here. For years we've held first place in the matter of style, and now we're after the trade of super-fashionable folk. That means a tremendous showing of

-Novelties in Mantles I

-Novelties in Dress Goods I -Novelties in Millinery! -Novelties in Dress Trimmings !

The Dress Goods interest alone is sufficient to warrant big emphasis. Our trade has grown to such an extent we're able to make practically our own terms in buying, and control the very choicest of the new styles. Same way with Millinery! Same way with Mantles! We've the styles that appeal to the particular wants of fashionable women, and all extravagance has been taken out of the prices. The displays are even richer now than when first opened, and late Novelties will continue to come fast as introduced. That's what makes each stock so eminently stylish, and the entire business so eminently successful.
