London, July 14.—The fourth series of the wool auction sales closed to-day. The closing tone was generally firm, but prices were below the best, on account of the slackened American competition. The attendance thruout was large, and competition was brisk, Americans purchased suitable Australasian and River Plate crossbreds, besides considerable home-grown wool, thus establishing a higher range of prices. Cross-breds formed about half the available supplies, Coarser grades were readily bought at ½d to 1d advance, but the finer grades scarcely advanced ½d. Modium grades were easier owing to the falling off in the American demand. Good combing merinos advanced 5 per cent., and other grades about 2½. During the series 125,000 bales were available, of which 68,000 were sold to home buyers, 39,000 to the continent, 7000 to Americans and 11,000 were held over for the fifth series.

Corn—In a weather market each day of clear skies convinces the bears more and more that they are right in pressing the bear side, because the growing crop is improving, regardless of the fact that what they are selling belongs to the old and new crop. There is a large concentrated long interest in old September corn, the owners of which believe that the cash position ware rants the expectation of 60c for corn in that market, and they do not change their position in the least.

Oats—Were again easier in sympathy with other grains, altho some private reports were received indicating very disastrous effects in Western Iowa and Nebraska from recent rains.

Provisions—A falling off in the receipts and some improvement in the cash trade gave a better tone and some advance to provisions, in spite of the fact that private estimates show a further increase in the stock of lard and ribs since July 1.

Ennis & Stoppani wired to J. L. Mitchell.

Receipts of live stock at the Junction Market since Monday were 17 cars—122 cattle, 15 sheep, 799 hogs and 9 calves. McKinnon Building:

Wheat—Increasing receipts, lower cables and continued favorable weather again proved too much for the buils, and dislodged several lines of long wheat, causing prices to sag to a still lower level. Around 84c there was considerable covering, which steadled the market for a time, but later the weight of new wheat arrivals became too great, and the further fractional decline occurred. We advise sales on all rallies.

Provisions—The market reflected the strong tone at the yards, but trade was limited. We think well of September ribs. Charles W. Gillett to J. Melady, Board of Trade Bullding:

Wheat—Another good weather map and a sharp drop in cable prices caused more weakness and selling long wheat at the opening. Movement of new wheat is increasing, and cash markets were generally from ½c to 2c lower. A feature much noted to-day was the buying by the Armour house around 84c for September, that house taking nearly 2,000,000 bushels openly and thru brokers, A good deal of to-day's buying was in the way of covering short contracts, and both long and short accounts now appear to be well evened up. The governed in the near future by the movement of new wheat and the cash demand, but a few days of bad weather northwest will put prices up sharply, as they are now about low enough from a legitimate stand. but a few days of bad weather northwest will put prices up sharply, as they are now about low enough from a legitimate stand-about low enough from a legitimate standpoint.

Corn—Local receipts only 289 cars, and sample lots were a half higher, with sample tables well cleaned up. Futures did not follow the cash market, and more talk of a collapse of the July deal, such as occurred in May wheat, was heard. Such talk may keep receipts down, but it will not relieve the position of shorts at the finish. It has been demonstrated by these high prices that corn is not back in the country, and when the frost scarce commence to come in later in the season September corn will, we think, look cheap at these prices. We recommend buying it on a scale down for a long pull.
